VIMS Bulletins are prepared and distributed by the Information and Education Department, Virginia Institute of Marine Science at Gloucester Point, Virginia 23062. Work is done in cooperation with the School of Marine Science, College of William and Mary as a project of the Virginia State Technical Services Program under authority of the State Technical Services Act of 1965. Bulletins are mailed to persons licensed to catch, harvest, process, and buy seafood, as well as others using the sea for profit or service. Purpose is to inform on matters relating to use, development, and replenishment of marine resources, including scientific studies, technological advances, legislation and problems. Comments and suggestions for items in the bulletins are welcomed. References to trade names of commercial products do not imply endorsement.
