

Volume 0
Number 25 Old Series: Volume 11, Number 1
(2002)

January 2002

Contents

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.wm.edu/jtr>

Part of the Jewish Studies Commons

Recommended Citation

"Contents." Journal of Textual Reasoning Old Series: Volume 11, Number 1 (2002): 1-1.
<https://scholarworks.wm.edu/jtr/vol0/iss25/1>

This Front Matter is brought to you for free and open access by W&M ScholarWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Textual Reasoning by an authorized editor of W&M ScholarWorks. For more information, please contact scholarworks@wm.edu.

CONTENTS

From the Editors:

The conflict in the Middle East has reached new levels of insanity, affecting even our otherwise mostly text-and-reason-oriented discussion list. But this is no time to shun political responsibility. In order to provide some space for the important political discussion on what can and should be done do return the warring parties to rhyme and reason, we invite your contributions here.

In a first statement of the problem, Michael Zank offers his thoughts on our responsibility to speak, despite the deluge of words and images already offered:

“No Relief From the War of Words. And Yet, Speak We Must!”

Michael Zank