The writer expresses his appreciation particularly to Edward M. Riley, who directed, encouraged, and supported this study. The author is indebted to John E. Selby and Ludwell H. Johnson who read and criticized the manuscript; to John Frederick Dorman of Washington, D. C., who read the calendar and helped with notes for some of the biographical sketches; to Mrs. Patricia Johnson of Camp Springs, Maryland for help in identifying William Preston Anderson; to the staff of The Filson Club for many courtesies; to Mrs. Frank J. Callan, Jr., who typed the manuscript; and, to the late Preston Pope Joyes, Sr. for donating the manuscripts calendared here to The Filson Club for the use of historical researchers.
ABSTRACT

The intention of this calendar is to list completely the contents of the Preston Family Papers-Joyes Collection, which is owned by The Filson Club of Louisville, Kentucky. The five hundred eighty seven items constituting this manuscript collection are of suitable significance that an abstract of the contents of the letters and a descriptive listing of the other papers is useful for researchers.

The papers are listed in chronological order. All topics of consequence in each letter are described or quoted and all personal names contained in each letter are brought out. A physical description of the characteristics of each document is given.

To aid in understanding the collection, brief biographical sketches of the members of the Preston family and their principal correspondents are supplied following the calendar of the collection.
CALENDAR OF THE PRESTON FAMILY PAPERS-
JOYES COLLECTION
INTRODUCTION

The Preston Family Papers—Joyes Collection, 1780-1963, containing 587 items, grew naturally over the years, as do most such accumulations. The papers were created by practical necessity for purposes of communication and legal record. But unlike the majority of such manuscripts, they were safeguarded by succeeding generations rather than being discarded when their immediate purpose had been fulfilled. The largest number of documents preserved are letters which are, also, the most interesting. Some of the correspondence of Major William Preston is official in nature, regarding army matters in the early years of the republic, or legal matters, usually pertaining to the acquisition or sale of land, but others were written by members of the Preston family or by their friends. These last contain crucial details on the life's activities of the family, the gossip shared by sisters, and, almost incidentally, valuable details concerning local affairs in Kentucky and Virginia.

Aside from the correspondence, the collection contains land papers (deeds, agreements on the division of real property, plats, and lists) dated between 1786 and 1866; legal papers, including petitions, agreements concerning slaves, depositions, wills and other documents, from 1794 to 1847; military papers such as a deposition of Hugh Brady relating to Col. Hamtramck's activities at Fort Wayne in 1795, militia returns, and recruiting instructions, dated between 1796 and 1810.

The Prestons were an important family in both Virginia and Kentucky. Like so many of the eighteenth-century settlers of south-western Virginia, they were Scotch-Irish Presbyterians. The immigrant ancestor, John Preston, was married to a sister of Col. James Patton, a significant figure in the frontier settlements of the colony. John Preston's only son was Col. William Preston, who became a leader of the area and acquired large landholdings primarily in present Montgomery County, Virginia, and in Kentucky.

Among the children of Col. William Preston, was a son, generally known as Major William Preston (1770-1821), who inherited much of his father's land in Jefferson County, Kentucky (Louisville), and who removed his family to this property in 1815. The Preston Family Papers-Joyes Collection is composed of the papers of Major Preston, his family and descendants. Preston was well connected, for his immediate family included his older brothers, Gen. John Preston, who served as treasurer of Virginia, Gen. Francis Preston, who served in the United States House of Representatives and married the only child and heiress of Gen. William Campbell (1745-1781), a revolutionary hero and large landholder, and younger brothers, Col. James Patton Preston, who became governor of Virginia, and Thomas Lewis Preston, who married a daughter of Edmund Randolph.

Major Preston's sisters were married to men of standing, increasing the importance of his connection. To indicate the more important of these alliances, Sarah Preston married Col. James McDowell, Susanna Preston married Col. Nathaniel Hart of Woodford County, Kentucky, and Letitia Preston married John Floyd of Kentucky, who became governor of Virginia.

Beyond his brothers and sisters, Major Preston's first cousins on the Preston side included John Breckinridge, United States senator from Kentucky and attorney general of the United States; Gen. James Breckinridge of Virginia; John Brown, United States senator from Kentucky; James Brown, United States senator from Louisiana and minister to France; Benjamin Howard, governor of Missouri Territory; the wife of James Blair, Kentucky's attorney general; the wife of Governor George Madison of Kentucky; the wife of Dr. Louis Marshall of Buckpond; and the wife of Robert Wickliffe, one of the richest and most influential men in Kentucky.

His nephews and nieces included, Senator William Campbell Preston of South Carolina; the first Mrs. Robert J. Breckinridge; Gen. John S. Preston, C.S.A.; Mrs. Wade Hampton of South Carolina; Mrs. Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri; Governor James McDowell of Virginia; the second Mrs. Robert J. Breckinridge; William Ballard Preston, secretary of the navy and Confederate senator; Governor John B. Floyd of Virginia; the wife of Senator John W. Johnston of Virginia; Col. John Thomas Lewis Preston; Francis Preston Blair; Thomas Francis Marshall; Alexander Keith Marshall, congressman from Kentucky; Congressman Edward C. Marshall; and, Mrs. Caleb Logan.

Major William Preston chose the military as his career and served in the United States Army between 1791 and 1798. After leaving the army, Preston devoted himself to his property in Botetourt County, Virginia. He served in the War of 1812 and, as indicated, moved to Kentucky in 1815. He died while visiting in Virginia in 1821.

Six of Major Preston's children lived to adulthood and all are represented in the Preston papers. His daughters were: Henrietta Preston (the first wife of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston), Maria Preston (who married John Pope), Caroline Preston (wife of Col. Abram Woolley), Josephine Preston (wife of Capt. Jason Rogers), and Susan Preston (who married first, Howard F. Christy, and second, H. P. Hepburn). The Major's only son was Gen. William Preston, who served as a member of the United States Congress, United States minister to Spain, was an officer in the Mexican War, and became a major general in the Confederate States Army and Confederate minister to Mexico.

Other collections of papers of the Preston family are preserved at the Virginia Historical Society and in the Draper Manuscripts at the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. The papers here calendared were created or received by Major William Preston, his wife Caroline Hancock Preston, and his children, principally Maria Preston Pope and Susan Preston Christy Hepburn. The two last were both widowed and lived their final years together in a large house in Louisville. When their sister Josephine Preston Rogers died in 1842, Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Hepburn took over the raising of Mrs. Rogers's children. At the death of the sisters, the manuscripts apparently were acquired by Susan Preston Rogers, one of the children raised by the Preston sisters, who had married Judge John Watson Barr of Louisville. From Mrs. Barr possession of the papers passed to her daughter, Caroline Preston Barr (1864-1943), who married Morton Venable Joyes, Sr., of Louisville. The collection was next inherited by her son, Preston Pope Joyes, Sr. (1893-1970), who realized their value to historians and generously gave them to The Filson Club for preservation in 1968.

Although the family was actively involved with the Civil War, material from that period is conspicuously absent. Major Preston's son, who served as a major general in the Confederate army, was close to his sister Susan and had her watch over his Kentucky affairs. Perhaps for reasons of safety, she destroyed most of her correspondence for this period, since she was certainly being watched by Federal authorities. The lack of Civil War papers in the Joyes Collection is overcome by the amount of material written by or to Gen. William Preston preserved in the Preston Family Papers-Davie Collection, also owned by The Filson Club, and by the papers of Henrietta Preston's husband, Albert Sidney Johnston, and her son, William Preston Johnston, preserved at Tulane University, and in the recent gift of papers to The Filson Club by Johnston's descendant, Mrs. R. Wells Covington.

This calendar is divided into sections according to type of manuscript: correspondence, land papers, legal papers, and military papers. Each section is arranged by date—year, month, and day. After the date, the name of the letterwriter is given with the place from which he is writing, followed by the recipient's name and the place to which the letter is directed. Following this data is an abstract of the contents of the letter. This abstract is as complete as necessary to bring out all the significant topics discussed with sufficient detail to make the data useful. The names of any individuals mentioned in the letter, but not referred to in the abstract, are given at the end of the abstract. Following the condensed text of the letter, a brief physical description of the document is provided. The abbreviations used for description are: ALS, autograph letter signed, meaning the letter is fully in the handwriting of the author; LS, letter signed, indicating that the letter was written by someone other than the signer; AL, autograph letter, meaning the text is handwritten; ANS, autograph note signed; AN, autograph note; ADS, autograph document signed; DS, document signed. Following this abbreviated description, the number of pages for the item is given. Manuscripts without a date or to which no date can be assigned are abstracted immediately following dated manuscripts.

The land papers are described more briefly, although all names mentioned are given and the location and size of land is described and sums of money are provided. The number of pages is also supplied.

The legal papers also are described as briefly as possible. Again names of individuals and numbers of pages are given. The same is true for the military papers.

Following the calendar, biographical sketches of members of the Preston family represented in the collection, and of the most significant correspondents are provided. These sketches are limited in scope to provide basic biographical data on the subjects.

The collection contains information on many topics and is useful for research on national, state, and local levels. Due to the important positions held by members of the family, comments about the activities of well-placed collections in the letters are helpful. Information on various subjects, such as the army and congressional politics in the early national period, a description of the funeral of President William Henry Harrison, the elopement of John C. Fremont and Jessie Benton, and duels in Kentucky and Virginia, is contained in the collection.

In addition, letters from significant people are preserved in the manuscripts. Among the many individuals represented by one or more letters are the following:
Thomas Hart Benton, John Breckinridge, William Clark, James Freeman Clarke, John J. Crittenden, Edward Everett, Edmund
Pendleton Gaines, Felix Grundy, Benjamin Howard, Albert
Sidney Johnston, William Preston Johnston, Henry Knox,
Gov. Henry Lee, Meriwether Lewis, James McHenry, Lachlan
McIntosh, Rev. James Madison, Dr. Louis Marshall, James Monroe, Gov. James Patton Preston, William Campbell Preston, Edmund Randolph, Littleton Waller Tazewell, and

Altogether, the Preston Family Papers-Joyes Collection is a very useful group of papers for historical reference.

A P937j Gift of Mr. Preston Pope Joyes, Louisville, Kentucky, 1968.

Much obliged for transacting the business he directed. Is sorry his correspondent is uneasy about the bargain made in 1776 for land in Kentucky. Preston first advised recipient to purchase lands in Kentucky and that after 1500 acres were acquired, correspondent resolved to sell the land as late as fall 1776. He gave Preston first refusal at what it cost him. Preston then offered to give 500 acres to "your son my name sake" and has since bought a warrant for 500 acres dated 18 Oct. in name of correspondent's son, which is in the hands of Capt. Floyd. Correspondent wrote on 17 Aug. by James Norvell and wanted Preston to give him refusal if he decided to sell. "The called in money you took down was sent to me by Col. Crockett."

Smith arrived in Kentucky on 28 Dec. 1787 without any loss. Due to cold weather has done nothing about their business; examining the lines of Preston's military survey on Spring Creek. The land lies about 5 miles from John Craig's adjoining Moffitt's survey on Glens Creek and the headwaters of Spring Creek. Skaggs has not come to Kentucky yet. Smith has not yet been to Garrett's and knows nothing of their entries. Inform Frank [Preston] that Mr. Overton has taken Cross's bond and suit will be brought immediately. Tells Preston to direct letters for Smith to Capt. Craddock in Danville.

ALS, 2 pp.

Sends "certificate from the Surveyor of Jefferson County, [Ky.] of the unappropriation of 15,000 acres of Treasury Warrants, originally in George Slaughter's name, with the best evidence of an assignment to you, the circumstances of the case would admit of—a certificat of that import, from the surveyor of one County to another is taken of sufficient authority to admit locations in any other in this District. . . . " Will send warrants by Mr. Thruston or Field the Jefferson representatives. "About 290 active men under the Command of Lt Col Hardin crossed the Ohio about 10 days ago destined for the Indian Vermilion Towns situate on the Wabache above post St Vincennes. . . . The enthusiasm of the Kentucky seperatists has much abated," due to the terms proposed by the last assembly and the wording of those terms.

ALS, 1 p.

1790 June 8. Robert Breckinridge, Beargrass, [Ky.] to John Preston, Montgomery Co., [Va.].

Received Preston's letter of 6 Feb. by Col. Caldwell. The bond assigned by Brodhead, given by Preston to Gen. Scott, has not been settled. Has had trouble with Brodhead on another debt due Brodhead from Alexander. "It is uniformly the case, that when a debtor of Brodheads has procured a demand against him with a view of having it admitted in their Settle-ments], he is told his obligation is transfered to [Doctor] Waters, who he is greatly in debt to."

ALS, 1 p.

Asks Preston to collect the curiosities of that Country, particularly the Salt found on the land of Christopher Graham on Sig Creek. Asks for news of the campaign. Asks if Cousin Susan will come down as his going to Smithfield depends on that circumstance.

ALS, 1 p.

1792 Jan. 1. John Bowyer, Rendezvous Charlotte to Capt. William Preston, Richmond, [Va.].

Received Preston's letter of 27 December saying Preston had received orders to march, but the letter does not say whether Bowyer is to march with him. Gives information on the troop's condition.

ALS, 1 p.

Letter of the 10th received concerning army appointments. Capts. Lewis and Caperton declined appointments. Capts. Alexander Gibson and Howell Lewis accepted in their place.

LS, 1 p.

Asks William Preston to come up after Lieut. Crockett returns this evening or tomorrow with the letters from the government. Expects W. S. Trigg will accompany William Preston and Emanuel Lucas, if his family is not with him. Will muster his party tomorrow. His feet are sore from having been sent on a scout.

ALS, 1 p.

The President has appointed Preston a Captain of the Army contingent upon Senate approval. Preston's subalterns are Lt. Benjamin Lockwood and Ensign Stephen Trigg. Money and recruiting instructions will be sent to Richmond.

LS, 1 p.

LS, 1 p.

"The public service requires that the recruits at the different rendezvous should be assembled on the frontiers without delay." Preston is to march to the mouth of the great Kenhawa where his troops will be clothed and equipped.

LS, 1 p.

Has received a letter for Preston from W. A. Cocke confirming Preston's appointment as Captain in the Infantry, in the ranks of Col. Carington. The letter will be sent by Dennis Cockran. Cockran is to pursue James McIntire, a deserter from Lewis' company after delivering the letter.

ALS, 2 pp.

Encloses duplicate of his letter of 28 June [see above] and triplicate of letter of 14 July 1792 [see above]. Forwards money necessary for equipment and one month's pay for Preston's men and final orders. Equipment will be transported from Pittsburg by Maj. Gen. Wayne to Point Pleasant at the mouth of the great Kenhawa for Preston. Capt. Gibson's company will escort Preston's company from Green Briar Court House to Point Pleasant. Recruits afterward enlisted should take their own arms. Preston's subalterns, Lt. Benjamin Lockwood and Ensign Stephen Trigg have been ordered to Ohio County to recruit.

LS, 2 pp.

Preston is to march directly from Green Briar Court House to Point Pleasant under escort of Capt. Gibson's company from Staunton. Further orders will be received at Point Pleasant from Maj. Gen. Wayne, now at Pittsburg. [The remaining instructions are standard to the printed form.]

LS, 1 p. Orders filled in on a partially printed form.

Letter of the 14th received and will be answered by the next post.

LS, 1 p.

Reply to Preston's letter of the 14th. Pleased to hear of recruiting success. Try to increase present size of 31 to 60. Clothing supplies for 60 will be sent to Richmond for Preston's men. The ration bills for the company will be settled. Preston may continue recruiting until January 1 and then march his recruits to Headquarters. Two hundred dollars has been sent to Col. Edward Carrington, Supervisor of the Revenue for the district of Virginia at Richmond to be used for supplies by Preston.

LS, 2 pp.

Nothing has arrived from the secretary for William. Recommends William come to Richmond around the 20th when his provisions should be there and leave the money in Col. Carrington's hands until then. "In the meantime pray exert yourself to enlist all the men you can; a large company will add much to your credit." If anything arrives in tomorrow's post it will be forwarded by Col. George Carrington. "I only beg you would be most particular and circumspect in your conduct and careful of the public money. Depend on it a reformation is about to take place in the army." Urges him to do this for the credit of himself, his family, his country and "of Major Moore who has placed you in the present eminent situation you are in."

ALS, 3 pp.

Has delivered to Francis Preston two letters for Preston from Ensign Trigg. Mr. Miller was unable to obtain epaulets for Preston. Left Lt. Lockwood at Gallioppolis [Galipolis, Ohio] sick with smallpox. Preston's ensign sailed down river to Ft. Washington with troops from Greenbriar and a detachment from Pittsburg under the command of Maj. Rudolph. Has recommended that Lt. Craig and Ensign Shanklin take their men to Montgomery to join Preston. A note from John Bowyer to Ensign Gray was delivered to the writer, who concludes Bowyer is with Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

Concerned whether orders have come to him to move quarters when Preston does. Mustered 25 soldiers this morning. No recruiting has been done since Preston left this country and believes recruiting is at an end in the county.

ALS, 2 pp.

Has directed the Accountant of the war department to forward by Andrew Moore, pay for Preston, Lts. John Bowyer and Robert Craig and Ensigns Gray and Shanklin up to Jan. 1. Also sends pay for recruits. As soon as the money is received, Preston is to march to Point Pleasant. Further orders will be provided at Point Pleasant by Maj. Gen. Wayne. Preston's arms should have arrived from Col. Carrington at Richmond. Preston is to prepare triplicate muster and pay rolls, one each for himself and the other two to be sent to the War office.

LS, 2 pp.

1793 April 11. Francis Preston to Capt. William Preston, Montgomery Rendezvous.

Has written to William at Botetourt and Smithfield. Wishes to discuss the terms of his father's will, which gave the Briar Patch to him provided that Francis see to William's, Jemmy's [James P. Preston] and Thommy's education and settle on the Horse Shoe. Asks William to relinquish his claim on certain property in favor of Francis. John has already relinquished his claim.

Understands Trigg means to contest the election on the riot at Montgomery. Asks that affidavits be taken from "3 or 4 of the most respectable" men involved, "whether the riot was premeditated to their knowledge or that you excited it. Whether you influenced their votes." Also wants William's affidavit containing anything William and John may think necessary.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received William's letter and enclosed ad for deserters and lock of hair. Has attended to William's letter concerning his relinquishment of any claims to the Briar Patch and thanks him for so doing. Refers to the election dispute. Mentions Lt. Craig's poor behavior and how to treat it. Left Abingdon on May 12 and is now at Greenbriar until June 1 with his friend Col. Stuart. Discusses his wife and how he misses her. Came by Smithfield where the family is well, but lonesome. Asks William to give his compliments to his friends and especially to Stephen Trigg.

ALS, 4 pp.

Informs William a letter was sent to the President by Joseph Cloyd, James McCorkle, Dan Howard and James Craig. The President has directed an enquiry into the matter to decide how and where to try William Preston.
"for interfering in the civil privileges by Military force." Depositions will be taken on the 25 and 26 at Christiansburg on the 27 and 28 at New Dublin and the 1 and 2 of July at Christiansburg. Urges William to take depositions of his most respected non commissioned officers on the subject in the presence of Gen. Wayne. Asks William to treat Bob Craig with respect especially since "his brother is now endeavouring to injure you." At the May Court, "the Court took up the business of a Surveyor and were of Opinion the Office was vacant by your acceptance of your Captains Commission and did therefore recommend Gordon Cloyd." John [Preston] will send the proceedings. Has taken steps to prevent this, "got Mr. Thos Madison and Jas Breckinridge to write to the president and professors of the Colledge, as also the Executive. . . . I heard the Executive in the case of Capt Bowyer which is Similar to your own are of Opinion, the posts may be held by the same person." Pledges to do all possible for William in this matter. Francis' wife, Sucky and Thommy are well and with Francis Preston.

ALS, 4 pp.

Discusses the fabricated charges made against Preston to damage his brother [Francis]. If "the truth is sent forward to the President, even an investigation will not be required." Urges Preston to do all in his ability to defend himself and assures him no damage can be done to him by the action of his enemies.

ALS, 3 pp.

Entreats William to be diligent in confounding his enemies for Francis Preston's sake as well as his own. Discusses private business and a power of attorney given by William to John to execute this matter. Plans to dispose of William's land and to buy 3 or 4 negroes and a tract of land in Kentucky this winter or spring. "John Breckinridge will attend to your claim at the Salt Springs on licking." Capt. Ben Howard will sell William's horse and bring the money to him when Howard goes to Ft. Washington in October. Mentions other personal business.

ALS, 3 pp.

Has just arrived in Lexington. Discusses land business. Hopes to make a final settlement with John Buchanan as soon as possible. "The Land business on Green river I have much at heart. . . . I find a number of persons Engaged in the Speculation."

[1793 Dec.]. [Francis Preston] to John [Preston].

Received John's letter directed by Mr. Parker. Glad to hear of John's safe arrival in Kentucky and of William [Preston's] welfare. Pleased at the unexpected reformation of Uncle Ballard and hopes he will now be a service to his country and a credit to his friends.

"Opinions here respecting a treaty with the Northward indians are somewhat Similar to the Kentuckians, as to its taking Effect, yet I think a majority wish a Completion of it, to avoid the further Effusion of blood, and the amazing Expence these wars have occasioned. Govr. Blount passed through this Town a few days ago on his way to Philadelphia . . . he informs me there is no prospect of a permanent peace with the Southern indians. [T]hat such a thing is impracticable, and his business to the president is to acquire Authority to act Offensively. [T]his business the result of the treaty at Sandusky and the french Affairs, I think is public concerns of so great importance that Congress will in all probability be convened at an Earlier period that to which it was adjourned. . . ." Sorry to hear the President's name taken freedom with. Wrote from Greenbriar by Ensign Gray of Francis Preston's determination to sell his land at the Falls, but must have 40 s[hillings] per acre. Does not want to part with the lands at the mouth of Kentucky. Returned a week ago yesterday from Smithfield and must go back tomorrow. Must attend to the election dispute involving William Preston. A letter was sent to the governor by Joseph Cloyd, James McCorkle, Daniel Howard and James Craig protesting Preston's actions during the election and the Governor of Virginia forwarded it to the President who has directed an enquiry of the matter. The deposition of several men will be taken at Christmas both for the prosecution and for William Preston. Col. Abram Trigg has taken up prosecution of this affair.

[Letter incomplete.]

AL, 4 pp.

Arrived safely in Philadelphia 1 December. "Congress met on the Day appointed." The President communicated to Congress papers on our relations with France and England consisting of letters between the ministers of those countries and Secretary of State Jefferson. The French minister to the United States has made himself obnoxious to many leading Americans. Congress is concerned to keep France's friendship despite this. British relations are strained over retention of the western posts. "It is thought here that those posts will shortly be given up and all disputes on this score be settled, but yet great Britten is much blamed for being insidiously inimical to us which is shewn by her enciting the Indians to War on us." The Algerian pirates are of great concern to the Congress.

The army is being studied by a select committee in hopes of filling vacancies. "The expence of the Army is tremendous at being at the rate of a £1000 per Day." Assumes William received letters from Francis concerning an enquiry into William's conduct at the Congressional elections. The Attorney General has not given his opinion in this matter yet and will not until the dispute between Francis and Trigg is decided. The charges cast a bad light on William Preston even though they are false. Advises William on the activities of the enquiry into the disputed election and on actions to be taken.

Asks why William does not take to letter writing and assumes it is due to indolence. Asks what William has done with "the claim I gave you Genl. Wilkinson, if you have or have not received it let me know." Mrs. Francis Preston is ill with smallpox, but it is a light case.

ALS, 7 pp.

Received Smith's letter by Mr. Bodely asking an appointment in the army. The President has accordingly nominated Smith for an ensigncy and the Senate will confirm the appointment tomorrow. Urges Smith to send his acceptance to the Secretary of War "as your Commission will take date from the time at which such notice may be given."

ALS, 1 p.

1794 May 16. George Hancock to George Strother, Fincastle, [Va.].

Capt. William Preston left here yesterday; he carries a letter to Strother enclosing Gen. Knox's letter granting an ensign's appointment to Strother. Urges speedy "preparation to join the army for Genl. Wayne Orders this may set you forward towards a Lieutenantcy as there were on the same day appointed I think 37 Ensigns." Mentioned to Mr. Lockhart that Hancock had written George Strother's brother John to meet him in Botetourt next June to discuss locating lands between Kenawha and Kentucky.

ALS, 1 p.
1794 Nov. 4. Purcy Pope, Fort Defiance to Capt. William Preston, Fort Wayne.

Informs Preston of Strother's illness since his return from Ft. Wayne and relays Strother's request for stores. Suggests Col. Hamtramack or Dr. Elliott might be able to furnish the dried fruit requested by Strother. Asks also that Claret or port be sent.

ALS, 2 pp.

Family news. Mother has recovered. Sister Lewis has recovered and has a daughter. Assumes brother John has told William of the success of his mandamus. The "Judge considered the appointment of another Surveyor unnecessary . . . therefore an order was granted directing the Court of Montgomery to reinstate you to your office." John is now at the Assembly. A week or two ago a duel was fought in Richmond between Tom Madison and Gen. Wood with no great harm to either. Asks to be remembered to Capt. T. Lewis and Lt. Trigg. William's nieces want to be remembered to him.

ALS, 2 pp.

Letter of the 15th received. Is glad the Pittsburg insurgents have been "completly quelled." There has been gambling at the post; the losers are Maj. Hunt and Brill, the winners Strother and Lee. Sends turnips, beans and corn and asks that Preston give some to Dr. Davis. Asks Preston to apply to Lt. Wright for the $30 he owes Pope and send it down by Lt. Lee. If Elliott has not bought blue broad cloth for Pope, Preston is to send it.

ALS, 4 pp.

Acknowledges receipt of Preston's letter by Pounds. Cannot consent to an exchange. Is much in need of non commissioned officers and shall promote Pounds at Preston's request.

ALS, 1 p.

Orders Preston to escort some Indians who are going to see the commander in chief. Upon arrival at Greenville Preston will receive the orders of the general.

ALS, 2 pp.

Pope arrived this morning and reported that Preston continues to study the language of the Indians who visit him. Few Indians have visited Ft. Defiance which is good since provisions are low there. "The intended wife of our friend has not yet made her appearance." Sends a small packet to Preston by Capt. Britt addressed to Ensign Swain and asks that it be sent to Greene Ville. Has a prospect of going to headquarters shortly.

ALS, 2 pp.

"We live up to Our Knees in Mud plagued to death with the Indians whose constant cry is Whisky." The gardens do well. Asks if Preston has anyone who can make a shirt as Pope is short on them.

ALS, 1 p.

Informs William the District Court has admitted him again to office [as Surveyor] by a conditional mandamus. The action was brought up in May at Greenbriar and continued until the next session in Botetourt. John is uncertain of the outcome. Mr. A. Lewis sold the sorrel horse for £47.10 to Col. Sprigg. John sold the brown horse to Francis Preston for £25. The money was applied to payment of a replevy bond executed to Joseph Wilson on William's account. The other horses are unsold. Their mother is against sending a slave to William for fear of the danger to which he will be exposed and "also that he may be set at liberty by the laws of the NW territory." The business with Leyburn and Taylor will be finished this summer. Will send the Court proceedings of Humphreys vs Bowyer. John is trying to get an appointment for Henry Brown. Capts. Slough and Buel and D. Trigg have spoken for Brown and John has written the Hon. John Brown to support him in the Senate. John is sorry William is "so disgusted with the army and desirous of leaving it." John is now "thinking on what can be done over the Ohio." Plans to speculate in lands there. Asks William to obtain information on that country "now at the Treaty and otherwise when are passing through... Several Gentlemen of the army have very accurate Maps of the Country, particularly Genl. Wilkinson and I believe Lt. Clarke has also complied [sic.] a good one."

Discusses local politics. A. Smith and Robert Crockett have published an attack on John Preston for "speculating &c on the men." John Preston seconded by William Lewis of Augusta and Smith seconded by Col. A. Trigg fought a duel with pistols over this affair. No one was hurt. Francis Preston is elected to Congress.

ALS, 6 pp.

"You are Ordered in Arrest the Specifications will be given you at an other time."

ALS, 1 p.

Has just been informed of the cause of Preston's arrest and hopes for a compromise on terms suitable to Preston will be made. Asks Preston to inform him fully. Their gardens and fields at Ft. Defiance will equal any in the West. Sends musk melons.

ALS, 3 pp.

1795 June 25. Anthony Wayne, Head Quarters, Greeneville, to Captain William Preston, Fort Wayne.

Acknowledges receipt of Preston's letter of the 9th informing Wayne of his arrest by order of Col. Hamtramck. Also received a letter from the Col. giving the circumstances of the arrest. Has directed Capt. Thomas Lewis to acquaint Preston of the causes. Begs "leave to suggest the propriety of making a proper concession to the Colonel, which probably may accomodate the affair; if the order was really improper--yet you ought to have complied with it in the first instance and to remonstrate afterwards . . . nor is it any disgrace to acknowledge an error. . . ." Tells Preston he will write to Hamtramck immediately.

ALS, 2 pp.

Wrote William from Lexington by Mr. Giles, but fears the letter failed to reach him. Leaves for Holston tomorrow or next day. Received William's letter of September 9 in which he mentions "the news of your place was that the Spaniards had made encroachments on the So Western territory. I have not heard of it before but have understood they are endeavouring to make a Settlement at the Mouth of the Ohio and this I have heard since I came to Kentucky." Assumes the matter will be negotiated.

"Your information respecting a British Vessell laden with Indian goods arriving at Detroit is new and alarming." Fears the English will cause the Indians to stay at war. Hopes the matter may turn Americans against Jay's Treaty. Says the people are against the Treaty and "have no confidence in the Government." Discusses the United States' relations with Britain and speaks disparagingly of the government.

Thinks William should remain in the army at least until the suit for the surveyor's office is settled.
Mentions that William is acquitted of his arrest and intends to obtain the arrest of his prosecutor. Francis urges him against the latter. Mentions his family.

ALS, 4 pp.

1795 Nov. 28. George Hancock, Charlestown, Berkley [Co., Va.] to James Lockhart, Botetourt.

Met the family here last night. They had been left at Mr. Kennerley's by Hancock who had gone to Orange to see Mr. Walker on business. Discusses farming matters to be attended to at the new house. Mentions friends and neighbors—Capt. Bowyers, Col. Lockhart, step mother, Alex McRoberts, Aaron Newman, James Hutchison and Thomas McGeorge.

ALS, 3 pp.

1795 Dec. 27. Francis Preston, Philadelphia to [William Preston].

William's letters of October 10 and November 13 were received from Col. Greenup who arrived day before yesterday. Agrees to send William stores, but will wait to hear from him since he may be sent on recruiting service in Virginia this winter. The Secretary of War seems to wish it due to the success of Capt. Gibson and Lt. Trigg. Mentions the suit for the surveyor's office. Saw Findley on the way to Winchester and asked him to call, but he has not done so. Is pleased to hear of the current peace between the Indians and Americans. Glad to hear the British have been unable to influence the Indians. "Respecting the Spaniards who you write about I am unable to say much as no communications have been made officially relatively to the settlement it is said they are establishing in our territory." Waits for the results of Lt. Clark's embassy. Has heard the Spanish consul is in Kentucky to quiet the people there. Understands negotiations for the free navigation of the Mississippi are progressing favorably. There is much displeasure over Jay's Treaty, particularly in Virginia. No attention, however, has been paid to the suggestion that Virginia should leave the Union on account of it. Feels that two thirds of the people are opposed to the Treaty. Congress has yet to act on the Treaty. Understands it has been ratified by the King of England, who suspended the 12th Article due to the offence it gave to the United States. Fears the Treaty will damage relations with the French. Has high hopes for the negotiations with the Dey of Algiers to settle the problems existing between the United States and Morocco. Mentions business presently before Congress—revision of the militia system, relations with the Indians, protection of the frontiers and the land office bill. "Should anything present itself proposing gain you shall be made acquainted therewith. . . . " Cautions William against party feeling. Expects John from Richmond and they will discuss the Blue Licks. Discusses land affairs and is sorry that Brodhead's bond is not yet settled. Mentions members of the family.

ALS, 12 pp.

Mr. Pickering, at the request of William's brother, has requested that William open a recruiting rendezvous in Virginia. This makes an answer to William's letters by Lt. Taylor and Morrison unnecessary. Due to lack of recruiting funds and Lt. Smith's lack of money, Preston is to pay the five hundred dollars advanced by Mr. Hunt on the Bills of the Paymaster and to have three receipts made of the transaction.

ALS, 2 pp.

1796 March 19. George Hancock to James Lockhart, Fin-castle, [Va.].

Letter concerns the management of a farm and personal business. Mentions Sam McRoberts, Mr. Kennerly of Augusta, Beckner, Grimes, Robinson and L. Boll.

ALS, 1 p.

Denounces the attack on Wayne as unfounded. Demands to know if Cushing is the author of the attack and if so challenges him to a duel with Major McIntosh as Lewis' second.

ALS, 1 p.

Maj. McIntosh brought Lewis' letter yesterday. Maj. Gen. Wayne and his A.D.C. Capt. DeButts were in town but have gone to the army. They said nothing of the publication Lewis alluded to nor did he try to vindicate himself of the reproach he has received. Criticizes Lewis for his unauthorized assumption of titles for himself and Gen. Wayne "without determining how far the confidential officers of that General may be implicated with him. . . . I am decidedly of oppinion that nothing short of a full fair and impartial investigation of all the complaints which have been made against Major General Wayne will ever restore to that Officer or those who may be implicated with him the approbation confidence or respect of his country."

ALS, 2 pp.

Maj. McIntosh has brought Cushing's letter. Defends his right to question Cushing on the incident alluded to in the earlier letter. "Your charge of unauthorized assumption of titles is Contradicted by every Orderly Book of the Army. . . ." Again demands satisfaction from Cushing.

ALS, 2 pp.

[Lewis' letters of 9 July and 12 July are written on the same sheet of paper.]

[1796 July --]. T[homas] L[ewis] to [ -- ].

Requests that Maj. Cushing be informed of the following message. Since he has not seen Maj. McIntosh for a few hours, he does not know whether Cushing has answered his note. Wants Maj. Cushing to know that he is going out of town and "if he can possibly prevail on himself to act as a gentleman ought and which I believe he can not and that I shall be at Grays Garden at 4 o'clock this evening where I will be glad to see him and treat him with a dish anything he may be Able to relish."

AN, 1 p.

Announces the death of Gen. Wayne at Presque Ile. Gen. Wilkinson has ordered officers to go into mourning 30 days. Will try to have William assigned to the Southwest territory. Discusses personal business and asks William to arrange to buy 4 or 5 strong slaves at a Cumberland sale of ninety slaves.

ALS, 1 p.

Urges William to settle his account with the Accountant of the War Department. The Secretary of War is satisfied with William and wishes him to go on with the recruiting. Francis is trying to get William in the Tennessee and will let him know the result. Proposes to visit William in Lynchburg March 5 and hopes William will then accompany him to Smithfield. Has no doubt he can acquit himself of Smyth's serious charge. Billy Anderson sent him Smyth's pamphlet "... his insinuations respecting my father is unworthy of resentment. . . ."

The Senate is working on the military system. The cavalry is reduced and the rations are made smaller and subalterns pay is increased.

ALS, 3 pp.
1797 June 20. Benjamin Howard, Williamsburg, [Va.] to [William Preston].

Received Preston's letter of June 2 accompanied by a letter from Mr. Bott and a Bill for one hundred dollars. Assumes the rumor that Francis Preston was killed by Alexander Smith in a duel is false. Is very grateful to Col. Breckinridge. Asks Preston to send a horse from Botetourt to Richmond for him. Will leave Williamsburg around the 25th and will remain at Major Prosser's until he hears from Preston. Send the horse to the Eagle Tavern. Wrote to John Preston, Reserves comments on love and politics for a personal interview.

ALS, 3 pp.

Transmits government rules for recruiting and a blank enlistment form to be used.

ALS, 1 p.

1797 Sept. 10. [William Preston?] to Gen. [Robert] Breckinridge, [Ky.].

Introduces Capt. Thomas Goodson, who has business in Kentucky. Mentions his friend James Bratton who is purchasing Kentucky land. Asks Breckinridge to help solve the land trouble in Jefferson [County, Ky.]
Bratton is having. Mentions Capt. Miller as being involved in this land problem.

AL, 2 pp.

1797 Sept. 19. Capt. A. Gibson, Staunton to Capt. William Preston, Fincastle, Botetourt County, [Va.].

Has been informed by the Secretary of War that Preston is ordered with his recruits to Staunton to receive Gibson's recruits and then to proceed to Tennessee. Wants to know when Preston will arrive. Gibson says he has 29 men and has lost 5 by desertion.

ALS, 2 pp.

1797 Nov. 18. Lachlan McIntosh, Smithfield to Capt. William Preston, Fincastle, [Va.].

Left an umbrella at Mr. Glens, a little above McGeorge's, wants Preston to retrieve it. Mentions Preston's going to Tennessee.

ALS, 1 p.

1797 Nov. 22. John Smith, Frankfort, [Ky.] to Capt. William Preston, Knoxville, [Tennessee].

Received Preston's letter of November 2. Thanks Preston for congratulating him on his marriage. Discusses some disputed land.

ALS, 2 pp.

The Secretary of War in his letter of September 4 said Preston was ordered to march from Staunton and Botetourt. Asks to be informed of Preston's plans and to come directly to Tennessee and place himself under Butler's orders.

ALS, 1 p.

There is no stationary short of Knoxville. Brief letter on personal affairs.

ALS, 1 p.

Has received Preston's letter by Dr. Carmichael. Orders Preston, by Act of Congress 19 May 1795 and by order of the President of the United States directed to Col. Butler, to take Robert Trimble and other trespassers on Cherokee lands into custody and send them to this place.

LS, 2 pp.

Asks to have the crosscut saw as he has about two hours use for it.

ALS, 1 p.

Col. Butler requests the return of his pamphlet from Preston. Relates that Capt. Bird announced that J. Taylor was no gentleman and that Taylor thereupon had Bird arrested. Smith asked Taylor why he preferred having Bird arrested to fighting him. Ball was present. Johnston, Ball and Smith will see Preston in the evening.

ALS, 2 pp.

Regrets not hearing from Preston. Mentions Mr. Breckinridge "whom you much esteem and who as justly merits it...." Small pox has raged in Fincastle all winter "poor Mr. Madison surrendered this winter; these circumstances added to the usual dullness of the place made it more so than you can possibly imagine." Is pleased to announce old Billy Watt's death leaving 100 negroes to be divided among his daughters. Is surprised Preston does not resign he is "so uncomfortably situated." Discusses events. Preston's brother Thomas was inoculated. It is said John Preston is to be married to Miss Ratford of Richmond. Applied to Mr. Breckinridge for Miller's deed to Preston to have it recorded, but it could not be admitted since one witness was dead and the other absent. As soon as Miller returns he will apply to him for a renewal of it. The Breckinridge's have recovered from the small pox. Asks what Preston intends doing when he goes to Kentucky.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received Preston's letter of January but has had the small pox. Has been elected to the General Assembly. Preston's sister and Miss A. Madison have had the smallpox. The militia law is unchanged. Has sold all the Illinois land except 500 acres to Samuel G. Adams of Richmond. Has preserved Preston's right in the land and asks Preston if he will sell his share for $500. Compliments to William P. Smith.

ALS, 1 p.

Has received Preston's letter of April 11. Glad Preston has defeated his prosecutors at trial in Quarter Sessions. There is great concern over affairs with France on the part of those truly devoted to the country. Is sure that Preston has seen the President's last message to Congress concerning the treatment of the American commissioners to France. [XYZ Affair] Believes Americans will be unanimous in their response. Is extremely anxious to see what effect the President's message will have on the minority of the lower house of Congress. Conjectures further on the course events will take. Is resolved to double his exertions to get his regiment in order this summer. Asks Preston's aid in this. S. Madison, Letitia Preston, Peggy Preston and A. Madison recovered from small pox by inoculation.

ALS, 3 pp.

Sent money to Capt. Gibson in October by Capt. Simral. If Campbell's store keeper has not sent the money, the enclosed order will be good at his store in Knoxville.

ALS, 1 p.

Orders Preston to proceed with the dragoons under Lt. Simmons up the Tennessee to the settlements where Archibald Lackey lives and remove all persons on the Indian lands without passports and those with passports who are cultivating Cherokee lands; then to proceed to Wellses Station and do likewise, then to Gallaghers Creek and examine extend to the Holston from Wellses Station to the boundary line. Those apprehended are to be taken to Maj. Peter's camp. From Peter's camp Preston is to return to his present quarters.

ALS, 1 p.

Has received Preston's papers by Lt. Vandike. Preston must send triplicate certificates respecting his pay. Has paid Mr. Hunt as Preston directed.

ALS, 1 p.

Orders will be received from Maj. Peters relating to people growing small grain on the Indian lands. Lt. Simmons is to collect the cavalry to the point; he will be joined by those at Maj. Peters' camp and the infantry will join at Belle Canton and Ensign Bower relieved. Denies Preston's request for the use of Butler's house as a dining room since he does not want "waiters to have any intercourse where I have so much property."

ALS, 1 p.

Asks Preston to send a lint stock and small quantity of slow match to him as he must order an evening gun to be fired as a signal for the Indians to cross the river. Is sorry the situation will not allow more officers to gather for the 4th of July. Urges Preston to guard against any excess merriment.

ALS, 1 p.

Acknowledges receipt of Preston's letter of July 7 informing him of Preston's wish to resign due to "the deranged state of your private concerns." The resignation is to take effect "on the 38th Inst" and notice has been sent to the Secretary of War.

ALS, 1 p.

In 1791 Peden bought 100 acres of land warrants from Preston for 20 shillings and 1 shilling for entering it, but Preston omitted entering the number, date or quantity, so it cannot be found without his help. While Preston was still Surveyor, Peden had the warrant withdrawn and re-entered and surveyed not knowing of the omission made in the first entry until he applied for the patent. Asks Preston's help so that he will not lose his land. If Preston remembers on what warrant it was entered, please write Mr. Cloyd. Mr. Gordon Cloyd told Peden that Preston has land warrants yet in the office not made use of and that if Preston will give Peden an order for 100 acres of that he can save Peden's land.

ALS, 1p.

1798 Sept. 6. John Smith, [Ky.] to Col. John Preston, Montgomery [Co., Va.].

When in Frankfort, Gen. Breckinridge said that Thomas Boyd had bought from Dan Montgomery the land he bought of Barnes and that Boyd plans to institute a suit against us for title. Asks Preston to send him their bond to Barnes indemnifying him against the claim of Montgomery, to be used should the suit be started. "When I purchased of Barnes no mention was made by him respecting the Claim of Montgomery." Discusses this transaction in further detail. John Breckinridge can give you satisfactory information on this subject.

1798 Nov. 17. Oliver Wolcott, Treasury Department to William Preston, Esq., Commissioner for the Third Division, Virginia.

Informs Preston of his appointment to the above post by the President to execute the Act of Congress entitled "An Act to provide for the valuation of Lands and Dwelling Houses and the enumeration of Slaves within the United States" in the place of William Hunter Cavendish, who declined the appointment.

Encloses commission [see list of certificates, grants, etc. following under 17 November 1798] and two circular letters dated 7 August and 8 September 1798 [not found] relative to the duties of the office. Requests Preston to take the oath prescribed.

LS, 1 p.

1798 Nov. 25. Benjamin Howard, Williamsburg to Capt. William Preston, Fincastle, Botetourt County, [Virginia].

Arrived in Williamsburg a week before from Richmond. Heard of the fire in Richmond and understands Gamble's house was burned. Williamsburg is dull at present but regular assemblies for the winter season are to be established. Asks how Preston's nallery is progressing. Asks if there is any increase in his "reputed family" and if his "once friend Mrs. Breckinridge" is appeased. Enquires if Preston has heard from Kentucky. Left his horse at Joseph Seldon's to be sold before John Preston came down. Asks to be remembered to the Smithfield family, Mrs. Madison, Miss Allen, Betsy Breckinridge, Harvey Tugg and Robert Harvey. That "there may not have been a white child born for 6 weeks past or for 6 to come is the ardent prayer of your friend Benjn. Howard."

ALS, 2 pp.

Declines the business appointment offered him by William Preston, "as it may be involved in some difficulties from the novelty of the business, and may not perhaps be altogether approved of by the People of my County considering the circumstances in which I stand. . . . ."

ALS, 1 p.

1798 Dec. 10. N. Neikeirk, Montgomery Co. to the Commissioner under the Act of Congress of the 9th of July 1798 of the third Division in the State of Va.
Encloses list of property situated in the 3rd Division taken by one of the assessors of this division. Nukeirk is a Commissioner of the United States for the 7th Division in the State of New York.

ALS, 1 p.

[ca. 1798]. Lachlan McIntosh to Captain [William] Preston.
Asks Preston for a loan of fifty dollars to be repaid in ten or twelve days. "The scarcity of Coin in this Country is inconcievable. . . ."

ALS, 1 p.

Received Preston's letter and believes his business is in better shape than he thought. Glad Preston has been appointed a Commissioner and hopes he will not regret leaving the army. Howard reads a great deal. Tucker holds his lectures every day but Friday [at the College of William and Mary]. Is considering practicing awhile in Fincastle at Col. Breckinridge's advice. Discusses personal business and mentions Letitia Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge, Miss Allen, and the Misses Hancock.

ALS, 3 pp.
1799 Feb. 4. Oliver Wolcott, Treasury Department to William Preston, Commissioner for the Third Division, Virginia.

Sends Preston a new commission [not found] for his office since the appointment has now been confirmed by the Senate.

LS, 1 p.

Capt. Montgomery delivered Smyth's letter this day. Smyth says he possesses a certificate the publication of which would detract from Preston's father's reputation as being "disaffected to the Government."

ALS, 1 p. [Retained copy.]

Answers Preston's demand of an explanation of passages he believed injurious to him in a letter from Smyth to Francis Preston written in 1796. Cites passages that refer to John Preston and feels that the statement that "F. Preston might have owed his election to the influence of yourself and Company" is not damaging to William Preston's reputation. Discusses other references and relates the following conversation: "Mr Francis Preston had said to me, in very intelligible terms, 'Sir, your father was a person attached to the British government.' Answer 'Sir your father was also suspected and accused, perhaps unjustly.' In fine, Sir, in writing that letter I meant merely to make it an answer to every part of Francis Preston's preceding letter to me." Smyth states that he tried to avoid detracting from the reputation of any member of the family except Francis Preston.

1799 April 2. Bird Smith, Christiansburgh to [William Preston].

Encloses lists of land within Smith's assessment district for Preston. [Enclosure not included.]

ANS, 1 p.

1799 April 10. Thomas Tinsley, Richmond to William Preston, Commissioner, Direct-Tax, Montgomery [Co., Va.].

Several of the Commissioners feel the assessments will not be ready for the meeting scheduled for the 2nd Monday in May and, therefore, propose postponement until the 2nd Monday in June. Many men were put off from acting by the disqualifying state law passed last session. Feels the Assembly wants to make it illegal for a citizen to accept an appointment under the General Government "as if it was not our Government." Urges the election of federal members to the next legislature. Hopes Preston accepted the offer to run for Congress. If Preston is in favor of postponing the meeting he is to notify Mr. Dandridge and it will be advertised in the papers. "Col. Carrington, informs me, that Mr. Hines, the Gentleman that succeeded Mr. Salter has just set out in his Division: the idea for postponement first came from Mr. Armstrong."

ALS, 3 pp.

1799 April 17. John Fulkersen, assessor, Abing[don], [Va.] to Major William Preston, Commissioner 3rd Division, Montgomery [Co., Va.].

Sends list of land owned by James Gerrald in Grayson County. Mentions Preston's request for Fulkerson to have his books in order and sent to Richmond by the second Monday in May. This, he feels, is impossible.

ALS, 1 p.

1799 April 22. Daniel Trigg, Mahanaim to Maj. William Preston, Montgomery [County, Virginia].

Observes in the lists returned by the assistants a number of tracts which "this man has a Title Bond." In other lists the title is given to the Loyal Company. Mr. King has valued and returned land on Cole River and other places out of the county. Some have valued different tracts belonging to one man in a lump. Would like instruction on these and other matters.

ALS, 1 p.

1799 April 25. Robert M'Kee, jr., Charleston to Col. William Preston, Montgomery [Co., Va.].

Arrived in Charleston yesterday and was attentive to Preston's interest. Not a man in his district voted against Preston "and had it not been that I was Obliged to Keep the poles I could have made more Interest for you but I hope you will not need our small assistance." Trigg's letters were read in public and helped lose Preston votes. Col. Lewis and David Ruffner were elected to the Assembly for this year. Denounces "Anteys" [Antifederalists].

ALS, 2 pp.

1799 May 12. Benjamin Howard, Williamsburg, [Va.] to Capt. William Preston, Commissioner, Fincastle, Botetourt County, [Va.].

Laments the lack of letters from Preston. Has written to Col. Breckinridge to send his "old Tacky" to Richmond. Asks how his affair in Fincastle stands and how Preston's nailing business is. Hopes it has not made Preston lose sight of matrimony; Howard has found a rich widow for him, "... she knows some thing of you, as I believe every body does."

ALS, 2 pp.

Has received John Preston's letter covering a power of attorney. Encloses copy of the principles on which Preston's land was sold to Lynch. Has seen Col. Lynch and suggested that he deliver valuable horses in lieu of the payments mentioned in the contract. Lynch seemed agreeable to this. Wants Preston to instruct him whether to go ahead in this manner.

ALS, 1 p.

1799 Nov. 20. Edward Graham, Kenhawa to William Preston, Commissioner 3rd Division [of Virginia].

Received letter dated the 16 October and accompanied by the resolution of the Board of Commissioners and the books therein mentioned and a blank summary abstract of dwelling houses. These have been filled out and are sent back by David Ruffner. Asks that Ruffner be given a blank summary abstract of lands which he is directed to fill out from the land book and certify in Graham's name. Says he has not received any money on the credit of Preston's letter which allows $196.25 for Graham's district, but may from
Col. Thomas Lewis. If so he will give Lewis an order on Preston for the amount received. Wishes to know the cost of assessing the land in Virginia.

ALS, 2 pp.

Starts for Kentucky tomorrow. Has accomplished the little business at court for Preston and has the papers at Maj. Triggs. Skillern is to be married in two days. Will attend to Preston's deed as soon as he arrives in Kentucky, where he will be ready to do whatever business Preston may desire.

ALS, 1 p.

Informs Preston that the Governor declines to ratify the report of the arbitrators on the valuation of arms furnished by James Swan to the Commonwealth. [Preston was one of the arbitrators.]

ALS, 1 p.

Sends Preston a letter Pryor has written to the Governor. Asks that it be forwarded to the door keeper of the Council Chamber after Preston has read it. Would like to see Preston's letter to the Governor as well.

ALS, 3 pp.

Acknowledges receipt of Monroe's letter of January 30 announcing his decision on the report of the arbitrators on the value of arms received from James Swann. Maj. Pryor, another of the arbitrators, felt there was an implication of improper conduct. Preston states he is very disturbed by this implication and demands to know both the charges and the name of the person making them.

ALS, 2 pp. [Sender's copy.]

Received Preston's letter stating Preston has heard charges against his conduct in valuing arms furnished to Virginia by James Swann of Boston and requesting information on the charge and the name of the person making the charge. Assures Preston no such charge has been made.

LS, 1 p.

Informs Preston that under the law of December 1788 it is not incompatible for Preston to hold both the militia office of brigade inspector and the federal office of commissioner. The new law of 1 July 1799, however, makes the offices incompatible. If the office of commissioner ceased before the 1799 law took effect Preston is freed from any disqualification; if not Preston is incapable of holding the brigade-inspectorship without reappointment. Discusses the legal niceties of this dilemma further, particularly in regard to payment for services rendered.

ALS, 2 pp.

On his return to Kentucky, has found his friends and relations well. Is preparing himself for business and will begin at the court in March. Until then he will try to learn the State laws. Has been trying to get Preston's deed recorded, but had great difficulty in learning the proper procedure until he "luckily fell in with Dick Terril from the falls who informed me that conveyances for lands in that grant are recorded at St. Vincents." Terrill promised to give the deed to Mr. Clark. Believes the matter is now settled. Understands the original deed from the commissioner to Lewis is in his hands and Howard can get it for Preston. Has been told "you had made a judicious Choice out of Lewises Claims."

ALS, 2 pp.

Feels the governor is attempting to impugn his conduct in the valuation of the arms of James Swann. Feels the "enclosed advice of Council after their deliberations on the depositions taken at the Eagle Tavern" shows this. "Arm'd as they think themselves with a host of apostate Americans, cut throat United Irish men and stinking Scotch Emigrants they can go on with impunity."

ALS, 2 pp.

[enclosure, copy of council proceedings; dated 11 Feb. 1800, signed A(rchibald) Blair, C(lerk) C(ouncil).]

Governor laid before the Council the depositions of Jacob Cook on behalf of the Commonwealth James Wood, Alexander Quarrin and William Preston on behalf of the agent of James Swann in the valuation of arms furnished to Virginia. Mr. [Edmund] Randolph attended in the absence of the Attorney General. Letter of Robert Pollard, agent for Swann, requesting payment also laid before the Council. The Council advised the Governor not to make payment. The weapons were found to lack uniformity upon inspection by the Council. It was felt that the valuation committee was superficial in its inspection. Council believes the weapons were overvalued and makes a particular example of William Preston's statements in his deposition to this effect.

DS, 2 pp.

Has received Preston's letter of the 12th for Stephan. Encloses an order on Matthew Dickey, Collector of Grayson County for $200. Has not presented Preston's order on McDowell for $200. Declines to make Preston a loan on the credit of his future pay as Brigade Inspector. Should Preston agree to return the money by September 1, he may make use of the inclosed order on Robert Rowland. McDowell is currently short of cash due to investments. Is unacquainted with the ladies Preston had inquired about. Should Preston decide to go to Kentucky and can be ready by October 1, McDowell will travel with him. "You can then determine whether you will be successful with Miss Shelby. ..."
Is sorry Preston and Miss Susanna did not visit him on their way from Lynchburg. Suckey came down with Preston's brother James and Letitia, who is now in Fincastle probably. Urges Preston to influence Letitia to take the journey.

ALS, 2 pp.

Received Preston's letter asking the direction of the governor for the payment of Preston's claim for services rendered as Brigade Inspector. Preston will be informed on this matter on Saturday.

ALS, 1 p.

Decided not to return with Mr. Breckinridge, because his horse has a fistula. Plans to ride to Staunton, Albemarle and Bedford. Wishes Preston were with him. Compliments the Hancock girls and especially Miss Caroline. John Lewis asked Howard to tell Preston he had used Preston's nails and if Preston wanted money to draw on him.

ALS, 1 p.
1800 Aug. 25. E. Carrington, Richmond, Supr. Office to Major William Preston, late Commissioner of the Direct Tax.

Has corresponded with Mr. McDowell over a deficiency of papers in the hands of the principal assessor. Asked McDowell to write Preston on the subject and has sent Preston's letter. Has had Mr. Dandridge look into the papers deposited in Richmond to see if there were double sets for the deficient counties. Encloses letter of Dandridge about the matter. If the situation is not cleared up, "much of the tax in your division must remain uncollected for want of documents on which to found the lists of Taxes, this will lead eventually to investigations which must be disagreeable to you. . . ." Urges Preston to help clear up the matter.

ALS, 3 pp.

1800 Aug. 25. J. B. Dandridge, Richmond Supervisor's Office to Major William Preston, Montgomery County, [Virginia].

In March Dandridge sent the returns of the Board of Commissioners to the Treasury Department and then began to file and put up the papers relating thereto so they could be deposited in the Supervisor's Office. Was concerned over the deficiencies found in the returns from Preston's division and wrote Preston about this. Has not heard from Preston since. Therefore, he sends a copy of the note of deficiencies made at the time of the examination for Preston's action.

ALS, 1 p.

"Accompanying you will find two Letters from Colo. E. Carrington and Mr. Dandridge. They relate to the deficient papers that ought to have been in the hands of the Surveyors of Revenue and turned over to them by the principal Assessors, Colo Carrington supposes the Genl. Lists of the principal Assessors will enable the Surveyors of the Revenue to progress in the[r] business. I am not certain that these papers are in the hands of the Surveyors of Revenue. You informed me the papers wanted in Montgomery and Grayson were obtained and that you supposed Mr. N. Ellington of Russell was in possession of the papers of his County from the Circumstance of Mr. Ewing collecting the Tax. Any of the Surveyors who have written to me the Situation of their papers complain of them not being added and the Assessments and Valuations not extended this has produced considerable mistakes the Surveyors not knowing the prct [percent] that was added to the first Valuations. I intend in a few days if I can get leave from the Supervisor to employ an express to go to each of the Counties for the papers they have recd. from the principal Assessors. I think it would be well for you to write to the principal Assessors of Washington, Russell, Lee and Kanawa and know the kinds of papers the[y] have given over to the surveyors this can best be done by obtaining duplicates of their receipts? I hear no word of Drilling and the Regimental muster for god sake don't let me be fined again."

ALS, 3 pp.

Reminds Preston that on the 1st he sent by John Drake 10,000 acres of land warrants; encloses 8,180 acres in smaller warrants. If Preston can contract for a quantity, Hart feels he can furnish them as there are many lying in the office either unentered or entered withdrawn. Many of them belong to Virginia gentlemen. Has written to William Clark and Gen. Breckinridge about Preston's land requesting them to draw on him for any sum necessary for taxes, etc. Has written to Preston's mother by Judge Fleming informing her of the death of Hart's daughter Susan. Preston's sister is still very distressed at the loss.

ALS, 2 pp.

Plans to leave for Flat Creek to trap. Preston is arriving Tuesday. Thomas Preston has just come from New London. Rumor has it that Howard is courting Miss P. and that Preston is courting her or Miss B. Howard will go to Lewis for a week and then return so he can be at Botetourt Court. Wishes Preston could come over so they could carry the Salt Spring plan into effect.

ALS, 2 pp.

John Madison and Smith made a contract for a tract of land on New River. Madison gave Smith a bond on T. Craig in payment. Subsequent litigation over the bond showed Madison had no claim on Craig. Smith wants to know if conveyance of the land was made to Madison or to Craig, to whom Madison sold. Also wants to know if Madison will pay for the land. Wants Preston’s help in securing such judgement as the law entitles him. The news in Kentucky is "Jefferson & Burr, Liberty & equality & Long Live the republic."

ALS, 2 pp.
1801 Jan. 25. Benjamin Howard, Robert Preston's, Abingdon, [Va.] to Maj. William Preston, Montgomery County, [Va.].

Has remained at the Salt Works. Talked with the Col. about Preston's Natchez trading voyage and told him Preston was not interested unless assured of clearing $1000. Urges Preston to come to Kentucky. Misses Posten, Russell and Thompson have been alternately at the salt works. Discusses prospects for wives. Mentions Sally Gist.

ALS, 2 pp. [Letter torn, part missing.]

Has received horses from Col. Lynch, a list of which is enclosed. Two horses received from James Preston, also. William Taylor has given his opinion on the value of the horses. Col. Lynch's brother will deliver this letter and the horses. Will Taylor asks the enclosed memo to Preston to determine what papers will be necessary to enable the representatives of Hancock Taylor to recover compensation for the services rendered in locating and surveying certain military warrants in Kentucky. Asks Preston's help in this. Taylor will send Preston a good saddle horse in gratitude for Preston's efforts in searching the records for those containing proofs of Hancock Taylor's services.

ALS, 2 pp.

[Written in pencil on the address of the letter—"Since the date of this ( -- ) Alexander/Breckinridge died, ( -- ) about one month ago."]

Humorously describes his progress in wooing Preston a rich wife named Sally [Gist]. Plans to return, "were I not to return it would be ungentlemanly and foreign to that manly line of conduct towards a female the observance of which ought to be a primary consideration with every young man. I have placed myself in an awkward situation and I must get through it with Honor if I cant with success. I love the girl & respect the family."

ALS, 3 pp.

Mr. Howard delivered Preston's letter and Hart notices what Preston says of more warrants. Hart can supply as many as are wanted. Hart looks forward to escorting Preston to Kentucky in a few weeks. Expects to be with Preston toward the end of May and if he does not go to Baltimore will return to Kentucky immediately. Preston's claim to the blue Licks is suffering for want of attention. "William Clark assures me that no advantage shall be taken of your Land on the N. west of the Ohio. he says he has land in the same neighbourhood, and that he has evaded the taxes by not entering it." Mentions other land and personal business.

ALS, 2 pp.

Wishes information on the ejectment against Finley. Mr. Allen and the Marshalls know nothing of it. Hart failed getting his ejectment for the Glenn Creek tried at the last court. Further discussion of this tract of land. Mr. Breckinridge did not attend to the matter as carefully as was needed. Conflicts with Skillern's claim. Asks whether William or his brother James owns the balance of the claim. Skillern's only proof is a letter from Preston's father "without his signature or any directions or covering to the letter and that the bottom of it was torn off which in my opinion carries every mark of fraud with it, that letter proves that William Skillern has no claim to any part of the Land." Susan wishes to be remembered to Preston and the family.

1802 March 24. Francis Preston to Maj. William Preston, Fincastle, [Va.].

Will be unable to attend William's wedding. Francis will be going to New Dublin; expects to see William at Smithfield. This letter will be brought by Mr. Findley who is coming for nail rods. Asks William to get a ton of them for him before Finley exhausts Adams' warehouse. Francis' wagons are kept busy at the ironworks.

ALS, 2 pp.

Obtained a judgement on the ejectment for 1200 acres on Glenn Creek, but fears the defects in the title will give them trouble. The certificate was never recorded in the Fincastle office. Has written John Preston on this matter. Mentions other details relating to this land matter. Preston's ejectment has been served on Finley. Trigg will make advances on court costs. Has received no account of Preston's money in Cincinnati. Hopes to see Preston in Kentucky.

ALS, 2 pp.

Expects the letter sent earlier by James Breckinridge has been received. The marshall has served the declaration of ejectment Preston sent. Expects Allen has had the order of survey made by the court. Hopes to see Preston in Kentucky this summer. This letter will be delivered by William Bowyer.

ALS, 1 p.

1802 May 27. John [Preston], Sweet Springs to Maj. William Preston, Fincastle, [Va.].

Has waited for 5 days at Sweet Springs for the issue of his suit with Baker. Col. Breckinridge is also delayed there and John will be unable to accompany him to Fincastle. Hopes William and Caroline will visit Montgomery. James brought Henrietta Johnson with him. They intend to go to Rockbridge in a few weeks provided William and his wife visit. On William's return they plan to spend time in Fincastle where Col. McDowell will meet them. John Lewis and family are well. Polly will go home with John.

ALS, 2 pp.

Encloses 1200 acres of land warrants. Informs Preston he is thinking of offering for Congress in this district. Has written Breckinridge twice asking him to run, but has received no reply. Asks Preston's opinion as to his plan to run for Congress.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received Preston's letter of the 18th. Has sent the $20 owed Preston for warrants. The warrant for 400 acres Preston located, Preston directed Richard Shanklin to dispose of and Byrnside has executed this as directed.

1802 June 25. John H. Madison, Fincastle, [Va.] to Mr. Sink.

Has sold Dave to William Preston. Patton Anderson says he left Dave with Sink; asks Sink to deliver him to Preston.

ANS, 1 p.

Received William's letter of the 3rd. Mentions William's claim made to the Briar Patch. The claim will be submitted to the judgment of selected men. Francis has spent much money improving the tract and had he known it would be disputed he would have located in the Horse Shoe. Trusts that composure will be observed by both brothers throughout the transaction.

ALS, 2 pp.

Arrived at Smithfield on the 2nd. Left Kentucky on the 23rd of Oct. Our sisters Mrs. Hart and McDowell were well as were the other relations. Our business respecting the Blue Licks progresses slowly, but accumulates costs fast. "I now begin to think less of the claim than I formerly did after having come into contact with the land jobbing gentry of that Speculating State." Has bought Hart's land in Virginia and wishes to sell it as profitably as possible; asks William to recommend a buyer—perhaps some of the Botetourt people or Nicholas Cooper.

ALS, 1 p.

Kentucky's "assembly is now in session and performing their usual round of legislative absurdities." Wishes Preston would settle in Kentucky; believes McDowell will do so. Preston Brown has returned. The French are about to take possession of New Orleans. Samuel Fulton has arrived there. Feels the change in New Orleans will not be good for Kentucky.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received Preston's letter of December 29 with the draft for $100 on the Auditor which has been paid by the Treasurer. Encloses an Alexandria bank note for that amount. Wishes Preston success in his trip and wishes to hear from him after he has made a settlement.

ANS, 1 p.

Wants "to take the deposition of Gordon Cloyd to prove the situation of the Record of George Skellerns Military Survey of 1000 Acres on Glens Creek." Asks Preston to attend to the taking of depositions at Cloyd's house in Montgomery. Gives further instruction on this land matter. Believes Benjamin Howard will oppose Fowler at the next election. Shelby has resigned as a candidate due to the circulation of a rumor that he planned some secret speculation. "I think we shall probably have a disgraceful representation from Kentucky at this election the probable members will be David Walker, Genl. Walton, John Boyle on the South side Genl. Wm. Henry, Bedinger & Fowler on the north side amongst which there is not a man of tolerable understanding." Append John Floyd's survey for George Skillern made 29 June 1775.

ALS, 3 pp.

Informs Preston of the birth of a son on July 1, who will be named Benjamin Howard Peyton, after their mutual friend. Agatha has recovered from the delivery and Mrs. Madison left about 8 days ago for Dumfries. Understands the purchase of Louisiana is "not such a monstrous bargain as their prints have represented." Understands the United States is to pay $15 million in addition to the $2 million already secretly appropriated. Produce is picking up due to the war between Britain and France.

ALS, 2 pp.

Received Preston's letter of June 6. Has rescheduled the taking of depositions for September and asks that Preston or his brothers attend to it. Discusses what he wants the depositions to cover. Asks when Preston's father bought Skillern's grant and when Floyd's 1775 survey was returned to the office. Kentucky is rejoicing at the cession of Louisiana to America. Elections are taking place beginning this day. Fowler and Boyle are unopposed.

ALS, 3 pp.

Thomas Preston brought Gen. Preston's letter of Aug. 23. Has received nothing from Col. Lynch on account of the debt he owes Preston. Discusses this debt further. Francis Preston and Breckinridge tried to examine the "accounts between Col. P[reston's] and Col. F[loyd's] estates but found that Mrs. Breckinridge had given Col. A[rthur] Campbell the papers on the part of Floyds." Further information on this legal problem.

ALS, 2 pp.

Received Preston's letter about the same time Francis Preston reached Beargrass. Col. Richard Taylor asked Breckinridge about Strother and Gill's land on Floyd's Fork. Talked with Francis about the Briarpatch; he wants to keep the part of that tract bordering on the Ohio River at Louisville. Has been unable to find the answer to Preston's questions on the Illinois land. "Capt. Wm. Clark, to whom I wished to apply for this information had set out for the Westward previous to the rect. of your letter..." Thomas Preston is in Kentucky, Francis, his wife and Letitia are at Mr. Hart's near Frankfort.

ALS, 2 pp.

1803 Dec. 2. George Hancock to [Major William Preston].

Has obtained the cotton requested and the wheel. Letter concerns business matters. Desires to be remembered to "yourself & Caroline."

ALS, 1 p.
1804 Jan. 4. Francis Preston to William Preston, Wythe County, [Va.].

Planned to visit the ironworks and then to see William at Wythe Court, but Mr. Smith and Miss Russell are to be married next Tuesday and Francis wants William's claim to the Briar patch settled as soon as possible; goes into some details of this land business and various financial transactions.

ALS, 3 pp. [Part of letter missing.]

Introduces Peter Choteau as the bearer of the letter and explains that Choteau is leading a delegation of Osage Indians to Washington to form a Treaty of Alliance with the United States.

LS, 2 pp.

Col. F[rancis] P[reston], sent Col. Campbell's deposition, but it arrived after the General Court had met. The case is continued until December. Asks to have Edmonson's deposition taken. Discusses this suit further. Carneal is not in Kentucky, so Preston must have a friend in Richmond inform Ross. Smith thinks he has found a man who knew the rank and service of Barnes. Crops are good, except for the wheat. The Louisiana fever has newly abated. A few families descended the River including Mr. Brown's.

ALS, 2 pp.

Discusses the collection of debts owed by William McCoy, James P. Preston, Trolenger, and Reed. Details personal business at some length. Sends J. Smith's patent for 150 acres.

ALS, 2 pp.

Sister Madison is accompanying John "to talk with Col. Crockett, Mr. Draper and Mr. McGavock about the claim set up to her lands..." Discusses personal business.

ALS, 2 pp.

Discusses the value of the animal bones Preston has sent to the College of William and Mary. Gives detailed instructions as to further shipments of such bones. Asks that they be sent to Lynchburg by wagon and from there to Richmond where they could be lodged with George Greenhow or Edmund Randolph. Mentions Jefferson's theory on the existence of a prehistoric animal and says that he forwarded Preston's account of the bones to Dr. Barton of Philadelphia.

ALS, 3 pp.

Col. Lynch's absence from Kentucky has prevented Breckinridge from any further arrangement of Preston's and Lynch's affairs. Lynch hopes to remove to Louisiana in a year. Maj. Ballard Smith and John Brown executed a bond to George Wilson in Preston's name for 100 acres of land on Harrod's Creek. The bond is assigned to Breckinridge. Mentions Preston's tract of 5500 acres.

ALS, 2 pp.

Has Preston's letter of 20 August 1803 and has marked the name of people in Kentucky who still owe fees. Discusses debts owed by Capt. Edmund Taylor, which he presented to Taylor's legatees, who seemed to know nothing of his account. Will also close the accounts of Hancock Taylor. Gives details of other financial and legal affairs. Mentions Taliaferro Craig, Griffin Piatt, John Smith, Col. James McDowell, Haptonstall, Willis Lee, Col. [William] Preston, Mr. Radford, Mr. Jones and Thomas L. Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

Mr. Hart told Smith that William Taylor offered Preston $200 for information on the claim of Jones and wife vs. Piatt. Discusses this case at some length. Mentions Willis Lee and Hancock Taylor. Mentions a contract with Morgan for part of our sandy land. Smith will visit north Georgia and south Tennessee soon and will let Preston have a description of those areas.

ALS, 3 pp.

Discusses the settling of the estate. Some of the negroes may be sold. Asks [William] to be present if possible to avoid future complaint.

ANS, 1 p.

1806 Oct. 9. Francis Preston to Col. George Hancock, Botetourt [Co., Va.].

Due to the adjustment of his father's estate, it is necessary to appoint two agents for Botetourt County to act in disposing of lands there. Hancock and Col. McDowell have been appointed. Hopes Hancock will be able to locate purchasers for the property. Has sent papers to Hancock including 2 patents for lands near Mr. William Lewis. Preston sold one of these tracts to James Nelly. William Preston will give further explanation.

ALS, 2 pp.

Discusses 100 acres of land, sold by Granville Smith to Preston and Bal[lard] Smith. If the title can be proved, John Breckinridge will buy it. Mentions the business with Col. Lynch and Lynch's slowness in paying. Anticipates Preston will have to take back 1807 Nov. 30. Thomas Preston, Lexington, Virginia to Major William Preston, Wythe County, [Va.].

"Richard Guthery who I am told lives in the neighborhood of Colo Cloyds, is in possession of an Article of Agreement between one John Miller and Christopher Vineyard and son. It respects the sale of a valuable mill seat at the mouth of Cedar creek in this County." Wishes to know about the agreement. Vineyard is dead and his heirs deny knowledge of the agreement. It is to Thomas Preston's advantage to know more of this matter.

ALS, 2 pp.

Answers Preston's letter of December 26. Is pleased to hear Preston is well, married and the father of three daughters. Tells Preston that he and his wife Sarah have a six months old daughter. Is uncertain as to Preston's suggestion that Brady move to St. Louis. Leaves the propriety of this to Preston and Lewis and Clark.

ALS, 3 pp.

Writes second letter in case first one miscarries. Is inclined to accept any appointment offered to him in St. Louis, but is concerned about the cost of living there. Will leave this up to Preston, Lewis and Clark.

ALS, 3 pp.

Preston's suit against Craig will be tried at the May term and Mr. Clay feels that the case is doubtful without Crockett's testimony. Notices for the taking of depositions on 1, 2 and 3 March at Col. Hugh Crockett's house in the cases of Breckinridge Heirs vs. Carneal & Ross, and Preston vs. Craig. Encloses Preston's commission for both cases. Crockett will prove that Thomas Barns received the regiment's provisions from the contractor and superintended their issuance. Visited Col. William Trigg in Tennessee, but his recollection has failed; John South remembered most of the circumstances. Asks that James Barnett's deposition be taken for Loves Heirs vs. Bowman and others. Instructs Preston as to the taking of Barnett's deposition. Concerns details of legal cases and land transactions.
ALS, 3 pp.

Received Preston's letter from Nashville. Comments on a Mr. Gamble. Discusses Brady and his situation. Lewis is forming regulations on the subjects of mines. Expects several trading posts to be formed on the Missouri next spring. Would like to serve Brady if he will remove to St. Louis. Praises Louisiana Territory at length. Cash articles are salt, lead, iron, salt-petre, hemp and cordage, tobacco, furs and peltry "beside such articles as are common to Kentucky and Tennessee which are usually shipped to New Orleans (viz) Flour, whiskey, beef, pork, apple cider, potatoes, &c. . . . were I to dwell on the advantages of this country I might fill a volume." Discusses land prices. The Indians have been exceedingly troublesome.

ALS, 7 pp.
1808 July 31. Francis Preston, Saltworks to Major William Preston, now at Louisville, Kentucky.

There is no decision on the Briar Patch. Mr. Wickham so informed Francis in Richmond. Was detained in Norfolk and Richmond and did not get home until 12 July. "I then deemed it unnecessary to write you as I supposed you had descended the River and I despair of this meeting you at Louisville." Passed through Williamsburg. James [Patton Preston] spent the time with William Cocke of Surry and Francis met him at Powhatan. Spent July 4th at a barbecue in Fincastle. The General has an attack of rheumatism and Robert Gamble says it continues. Gamble and his wife, Letitia Breckinridge, are with Francis Preston. Gives further family news. Mr. Mitchell married Miss Nanny Bra[y?]. "Can it be a fact that Burr passed down the Ohio lately it is stated in the papers that he has gone to England under the feigned name of Edwards. If you find it to be a fact I wish you would inform me."

ALS, 3 pp.

Received William's letter from Nashville. Sent a letter to William at the Falls of the Ohio informing him of the return of James and his family from Norfolk. and the Briar Patch business remaining as before. Has written to Risque to know if Gen. Jackson has made the arrangement William mentioned and if so if he is prepared for payment. "The affair of the French and Spaniards is so fully detailed in the papers which you meet with in passing through the Country that I need only mention that it is thought the Conduct of the French will produce another coalition against them. Should it be [so it] will engage Europe so completely, that we shall perhaps escape being involved further than a disregard of our rights in what many instances may have a tendency to injure us, which we must either defend by taking a part or avoid by withdrawing from the Sea both of which alternatives have their evil effects, in the first it is hazardous the latter humiliating and surely will require all the wisdom of our very able administration to determine on having a full view of the Circumstances." Family news.

ALS, 3 pp.

1809 Feb. 15. J[ohn] Preston, Richmond to Major William Preston, Robinson's Tract, Wythe County, [Va.].

Answers William's letter of 14 Jan. Due to illness he has been unable to procure information as to the dates of certain militia commissions requested by William. Has resigned his commission of Major General and is now Treasurer of the State of Virginia. Will be 45 next May and therefore unfit for militia duty. "I find that money is as powerful a weapon [even?] directed as the Sword, & does not require half the strength to use it, but double the skill." Is working to reorganize the Bank of Virginia as it was intended—to give it a "perfect Republican Impulse." As William is not a Republican, John defines the word as meaning "equal, just, fair, upright, candid;" The Superintendent of the Armory will be dismissed from office for misconduct. If William were a Republican, rather than a Federalist, this job might be his. Expounds on the foolishness of William's politics. Congratulates William on the birth of his daughter.

ALS, 7 pp.

Is glad that the General will be the Federalist representative for the Botetourt District. Francis lost by a majority of 7 votes in his election. Will go to Tazewell on Tuesday to know his prospects if he ever again decides to run. Discusses the election results.

ALS, 2 pp.

Reminds Preston that he arranged with Col. Lynch to pay the arrearages of taxes due upon the land Preston sold Lynch, and that Preston would credit that amount on account of the purchase. Despite Lynch's promise, the taxes were unpaid and the land sold for taxes and "by that means [Lynch] acquired a fraudulent title independant of the one to be made under his contract." Lynch has since left Kentucky in debt and will probably not return. Breckinridge has made arrangements with Lynch's agent, William Taylor, to secure about $1800 to be applied to Lynch's account. Asks Preston to let him know his opinion.

ALS, 2 pp.

Left the Saltworks yesterday. Has examined all conveyances made by Buchanan; Campbell's and R. Preston's tracts seem to be the only ones conveyed by description. Thinks Gen. Preston can obtain better information relating to Buchanan's lands than anyone else. Hopes Preston's Illinois fever has not abated. Discusses land business.

ALS, 3 pp.

Sorry Preston could not accompany Capt. Murdaugh and Heth's brother on a visit. Discusses the medicinal properties of Madeira wine in a humorous tone.

ALS, 2 pp.

Discusses the election. Messrs. Kent, Haller and Evans are making great exertions. Has mentioned Preston's name, but has received no great encouragement. "In speaking to several of the Dutch I have been universally answered 'They say he is one of those People they called Federalists' which they consider as a sufficient Objection to any man." It is believed that Preston would confine the election to a freehold election which would have a very injurious effect among the Germans. Haller's interest is particularly good and there is divided interest in Kent and Evans. Feels very little can be done to effect Preston's election. Capt. Henry L. Sheffey is supporting Evans and Dr. Stanger favors Kent and Evans.

ALS, 2 pp.
1810 March 28. John Preston, Richmond, [Va.] to Major William Preston, Robinsons Tract, Wythe County, [Va.].

Informs William of the death of Mrs. John Preston at 9:00 Monday morning. Contains a printed invitation to her funeral.

ALS, 3 pp.

Has "just received a letter from our good friend Clark dated at Fincastle" saying he leaves for St. Louis about the 15th and that Preston plans to go about June 1. Asks Preston's opinion as to whether he should go along as the successor of Gov. Lewis. The President wants him to do so. Howard will inform the President of Preston's views. "Nothing important in regard to our foreign relations seems to be doing here." Asks Preston not to say anything about Howard's St. Louis business. Gen. Breckinridge is well and his family is in Loudon at Dr. Seldon's. Congress will rise on the 23rd of April.

ALS, 3 pp.

Has accepted appointment as Governor of Louisiana. Will pass through Preston's neighborhood the last of May or early June and hopes Preston will delay his journey to Louisiana until then. Gen. Clark wrote Howard that Preston would leave around June 1. Gen. Breckinridge and family left Washington for Fincastle by way of Richmond. No news from Europe, but the delay of our dispatches indicates doubt for our prospect of adjustment with the belligerants.

ALS, 2 pp.

Received William's letter requiring John, by order of Maj. Gen. Moore, to attend at Christiansburg on 2 January as a member of a court martial held for the trial of Maj. Willis. Will attend if his wife's health improves.

ALS, 1 p.

Visited upper Louisiana last fall and believes the part west of the Mississippi is the finest country he ever saw. "Its very far superior to the rich lands of Kentucky or this Country. . . ." Praises the area further. "I enjoyed more pleasure in the company of Genl. Clark & our friend Benj. Howard the two days I stayed in St. Louis than I have experienced for many days before." Will expect Preston in Tennessee in the spring and hopes Dr. Floyd will accompany him. Discusses fowl and mentions the interest of Gen. Overton, Gen. Jackson, Capt. Hoggatt, Dr. May and Mr. Bells in those fowl sent by Preston. Asks about E. Drakes suit against Crockett.

ALS, 3 pp.

Requests that Preston's account as Brigade Inspector for services rendered in the trial of Capt. William Davis and certified by the judge advocate be reduced to more precise form. Gives further detailed requests in this matter.

LS, 1 p.

Col. William Preston has informed Grundy "that he wishes to receive the appointment of receiver of public monies in upper Louisiana." Grundy believes Preston "would discharge the duties of that office with credit to himself and safety to the Country."

ALS, 1 p.

Discusses arrangements to meet Preston at the Falls of Ohio and speaks of selling various horses. Speaks of Preston's planned trip to the West.

ALS, 2 pp.

Dr. Moseley and Madison Beale have died. Discusses the operation of Preston's plantation. Hancock has paid off his debt to Gen. Breckinridge. Wysart, Preston's overseer, left the day his time was out; Hancock has hired a replacement. Inquires of Maj. Quick's Kentucky lands and discusses personal land business; "... if it can be ascertained that Quick's moiety of Campbells Island is worth my debt I expect Capt. Bufurd and his wife will either pay the debt to me or give up the Island." Mentions Strother, J. Lockhart, Sam G. Adams, Christian Irmy, Jo Kent and Capt. Peyton.

ALS, 2 pp.

Plans to go to the mouth of the Kentucky to divide and settle with Mr. Smith. Plans to sell lots on November 4 and will advertise to that effect in the paper in Louisville and Frankfort and perhaps in Lexington. William must, when he arrives, have some lots laid off adjoining the Town. Wants to save the land between the river and the creek. Hopes William will be able to settle the boundary dispute over the Preston's land and the Town.

ALS, 3 pp.

1812 Jan. 11. George Hancock to George Hancock, junr., Brownsburg, Rockbridge County, [Va.].

Hancock's house burned last Thursday, most of the furniture was saved, due to the help of the people of Fincastle. The family is now living in the old house. As soon as possible they will move to Fotheringay.

Plans to write Gen. Dearborn in support of William's nomination to a military appointment. Francis' personal war zeal is over; has no notion to enter the army, but will be ready in the Militia. John Strange and two head ned are both in prison due to a local alarm over a possible negro insurrection. Discusses the circumstances behind the alarm and its aftermath. Plans to have William visit before he goes to Kentucky. If William can be there at the March Court, they could acknowledge their Kentucky deeds. Mr. Wickliff has sent him information regarding necessary actions to further settle the legal questions over the Briar Patch. Asks William to attend to various business, including obtaining a copy of a survey in Cloyds office made under the Loyall Company for Conrad Carlock.

ALS, 3 pp.
1812 March 15. John Floyd, Christiansburgh, [Va.] to Majr. William Preston, Wythe County, [Va.].

John Taylor's last papers say the dispatches to Mr. Russell have arrived in England and that the British Ministers have received the debates in Congress and that the Prince Regent made a speech favorable to American affairs. It is reported that Barlow is well-received by Bonaparte. James Charlton, Jr. received a letter from Sheffey saying war is still expected. Letitia wants a muscovy duck and a drake sent her.

ALS, 2 pp.

1812 Aug. 10. James P. Preston, Smithfield to Major William Preston, Robinsons Tract, Wythe County, [Va.].

A letter has been received from Col. McDowell informing William and James of their brother's hopeless condition. He caught yellow fever in Norfolk on his return from Baltimore. Brother John has left for Col. McDowell's. Their mother is distraught.

Eustis has resigned and will leave Washington in a few days; understands Monroe is managing the business of the War Department until a successor to Eustis is named. According to rumor, Monroe will command the armies. "Certainly great changes are meditated in both Cabinet and field but what they are or may be is yet merely conjectural." "The Copper Smith" has sent a party of New York men into Canada without success. This man is now held in disregard by various government officials. Believes the war must be prosecuted vigorously. Tells of the obstinacy of the Russians in the face of Napoleon's invasion. Has not yet procured a copy of Smyth's work, but will send a copy to Col. F[Francis] Preston when he does. Asks Preston to settle various accounts.

ALS, 3 pp.

Arrived at this place from St. Louis on October 18 and is now preparing to return to St. Louis by boat. Since her arrival, Judith has dried peaches, apples and chives, made 30 gallons of excellent Bounce, a year's preserves, barrelled apples and preserved flour for our store of provisions at home. All are well except James Kinnerly. George is out with Gen. Howard. I am just informed that George and 20 men forced their way through 100 Indians who attacked Fort Clark on the Illinois a few days before Gen. Howard's army reached that place. Gen. Howard could not induce the Indians to fight and was strengthening the Fort he built at Peoria about 80 leagues up the Illinois. The Indian war in this quarter will be at an end since they have no point by which to receive supplies. "Harrison has possession of the British army of upper Canada . . ., Perry the upper lakes, and Majr. Croghan wrote his father a letter received last night, that he was ordered to an expedition against Mackinack." Has not heard from Maj. [William] Preston; he is in demand at Louisville and will lose money if he does not come soon.

Writes her brother about personal financial business. John Preston has gone to Baltimore. Certain money is to be left with Gen. Breckinridge.

ALS, 2 pp.

1814 May 30. E. M. Preston, Avon-hill, to Maj. William Preston, to the care of John Preston, Richmond, [Va.].

Writes her brother to thank him for seeing to her affairs. Is pleased at the prospect of income from her Kentucky lands. Discusses her personal business.
Mentions Mr. Breckinridge, Col. Floyd and her sister Mrs. Daniel.

1814 Aug. 16. Edmonia M. Preston, [Berryville, Frederick County, Va.?] to John Preston, Treasurer of Virginia, Richmond.

Writes her brother about a power of attorney she mailed him for the division of Mt. Comfort. Mr. Daniel has written her that he has received a first payment of $5000 for the Brick House and has deposited her half of this money in the Bank of Virginia to the credit of her uncle P. N. Nicholas. Asks John to invest this money for her in Bank Stock. Discusses the settlement of a debt to her father's estate, arising from the loan of a horse by him to her. This matter she believes to be unsettled and believes an enquiry of P[eyton] Randolph or John's own knowledge of his brother's (her husband) affairs may lead to a settlement of this issue. Mentions family matters.

ALS, 3 pp.

Capt. Thomas Burwell told John he had papers from William to William Dandridge which he delivered.
Dandridge says he will write the War Department to find the reason William's draft for $471 was returned protested. Mentions other business transactions, runaway slaves, bank business, etc. "Thomas Bird has certainly sold his father's land near Louisville to a Mr. Thurston. I got this information from a neighbour of his I think Robert Page who knew the circumstances. Mr. Bird in Frederick near Winchester."

ALS, 3 pp.

Discusses the removal of William's slave Jem from the jail at Petersburg to the penitentiary at Richmond and the troubles and expenses involved; talks of the sale or trade of Jem. Richmond is very unhealthy and many people are dead. "Mr. Samuel Pleasants the Printer & Col. W. R. Fleming both died this week. Norfolk is said to be uncommonly sickly..." Mentions Walter Heron, John Hambleton, Col. Campbell, Charles K. Mallory and Mr. Young.

ALS, 2 pp.

Has received her brother William's two letters. Thanks William for attending to her Kentucky business, which she leaves entirely in his hands. William's letter is unclear as to whether Mr. Gwathmey "the creditor of the Estate, lives in Virginia or Kentucky..." Hopes this debt can be paid. Asks William to have Mr. Breckinridge write her about the Popler Level suit. Francis is recovering from the fever which attacked him "before you left this state." Wishes William and Caroline "health and happiness in your new place of abode."

ALS, 3 pp.

Returned to Norfolk two days ago after a trip to Gloucester, Mathews and York to purchase negroes, but found they had been sent to Richmond. The Norfolk sale has been postponed due to an alarm over the British fleet which "is laying about 21 miles from this place." Bought two negroes today. Gen. Taylor has been ordered to take command of the troops destined for this place--about 2000 which are coming in hourly...
Capt. R. Gambles Troop is amongst the number. . . ." Taylor has asked Preston to help organize the troops. "In returning from Gloucester I saw the British Squadron Eight sail in all a few miles to the East of us."

ALS, 3 pp.

Informs Preston that the annual election of President and Directors of the Louisville Branch Bank was held at the Bank of Kentucky yesterday. Brown bought a share of bank stock in Preston's name so that as a stockholder he would be eligible to serve on the Board, and Preston was thereupon unanimously elected a Director of the Louisville Branch Bank. Asks Preston to remit the $100 for the share of stock.

ALS, 1 p.

Gen. Breckinridge obtained a majority of votes over Dr. Floyd in the Botetourt election. It is believed Gen. Porterfield will be elected over McCoy in the Augusta District. Discusses the situation in regard to the Locust Cove property, which he understands is owned by the Buchanan family of Tennessee. who inherited it from the Mr. Buchanan to whom the land was granted by the Loyal Company. Due to the new taxations feels he is unable to go to Washington for Preston. Discusses the management of some of Preston's property, to whom rented, etc. Discusses other land business. Gen. Preston has secured both of William's runaway negroes. Mentions: Hudson, Peter Rife of New River, Francis Jackson of Shelby Co., Ky., I. H. Peyton, Mr. Briscoe, Paddy Buchanan, James Brown of Wythe Court House, James Buchanan and Mr. Lamnia (?)

ALS, 3 pp.

Unless the surveyor's report relating to Preston's ejectment against Luckett &c. is prepared, the suit will be dismissed. Asks if Preston pays the taxes on the Briar Patch as it stands in the name of Francis. William's brother Thomas is advertised as owing taxes. Has employed a music master for his children. Informs Preston that Floyd has obtained a considerable majority over Gen. Breckinridge and that Randolph has left out Epps.

ALS, 2 pp.

Introduces Dr. Quarles, son of Major Quarles, Quartermaster General of Virginia, who plans to seek his fortune in the West.

ALS, 1 p.

Received William's letter of the 3rd, but as he was leaving Richmond on business, he did not have time to get his wife's power of attorney relinquishing her right of dower in the lands of Barne's survey. Hopes to put this affair in such a form "that even a Kentuckian cannot cavil at or find error in it." Met with Maj. Richard Byrd of Westover and discussed his lands and those belonging to his father's estate in Kentucky. Asks William to handle Byrd's Kentucky land business and John will pay the costs of taxes, etc. on these lands. Discusses William's affairs with the Bank. Has recovered both of William's negroes and describes their treatment after being recovered. Sympathizes with William's homesickness. Gives family news. Mentions: Nathaniel Hart, Mr. Griffin, Mr. Freeland, Gen. Breckinridge, Col. McComas, Col. Hancock and Judge Fleming.

ALS, 6 pp.

Discusses a proposed duel between Floyd and Capt. Gray, late of the Army.

ALS, 2 pp.

ALS, 4 pp.

Renews his request for William to sell some of Francis' larger and smaller Louisville lots to raise money to pay his debt to Mr. Funk and to enable him to begin saltmaking. Capt. Isaac T. Preston left for New Orleans, but plans to stop in Louisville where Francis hopes William will take care of some financial business for him. Mentions family news and the appearance of typhus in the households of Col. John Preston and old Mrs. Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

Thanks William for his help in business matters. Leaves the Poplar Levels property in William's hands. Discusses her financial plight and the causes of it.

ALS, 3 pp.

Discusses personal business and family news. Asks to be included if Preston makes "any trade for Boons Station. . . ."

ALS, 1 p.

Francis' son, William Preston, is taking a tour of the United States and will go to Europe next year. While in Kentucky, he is to try to sell some of Francis' lots at the Falls, except the Sand Hill square. The proceeds would pay Mr. Funk. Francis is willing to sell the out lot no. 2 of five acres adjoining Louisville and Beargrass Creek. "Fulton the Steam Boat man was very anxious to get it and I believe would have given me a considerable promise. . . . I fear to sell the Lots in the Enlargement as my belief is they will increase. . . ." Wants William to collect on the notes sent out by Mr. Clark. Mentions financial business, including a note of James C. Johnson left with Capt. Edmund Clark. Asks about acquiring a horse. Asks about the deed to be made to Robert M. Holmes and mentions Mr. Tarascon.

ALS, 3 pp.

Heard last fall that the suit for part of the Poplar Levels had been decided in favour of her children, but had been appealed. Enquires about the debt owed to Mr. Gwathmey. Asks for full information on her Kentucky lands. Sends news of her children.

ALS, 4 pp.

Gives news of his family. Plans to go to Virginia in September. A meeting of the heirs of Col. William Preston is planned for the fall around October 1; supposes Preston's mother wishes to surrender the balance of the property due to her age.

ALS, 2 pp.

Still has not heard from Preston and is very anxious about her Kentucky affairs. Is in severe financial situation. Asks that Preston hire someone to supervise her affairs if he is too busy to attend to them. Eliza Preston of the Salt-works visited on her way from the Springs in Pennsylvania. Susan Peyton is ill, but the rest of the family is well.

ALS, 3 pp.

Two respectable men are about to move to Kentucky and are interested in leasing some of her land; she asks William to write her describing the part of her land most advisable to lease. Has not heard from Preston and is uneasy about it.

ALS, 2 pp.

Received Preston's letter of March 19th and is very grateful for his help with her affairs. Received the money Preston sent by Mr. Griffin who gave it to Dr. Burwell to deliver. Francis and Eliza Preston visited on their way from Richmond to Washington. Passes on news of the family.

ALS, 3 pp.

Writes his uncle at the request of Maj. Armistead to introduce Mr. Dunbar, who plans to settle in the West.

ALS, 1 p.

1817 May 10. Isaac T. Preston, New Orleans to Major William Preston, Louisville, Kentucky.

Writes his uncle about personal business matters including a copy of a receipt of G[eorge] R[ogers] C[larke] Floyd for a purchase of land in Louisville by William Adams from Frank and William Preston. Hopes Preston will remain in Kentucky rather than return to the Virginia mountains "for in all my travels I have seen no place unless perhaps this city which was making such rapid strides to greatness as the town of Louisville." Hopes other members of the family will come to live on the western waters. Mentions his law practice in New Orleans. Mentions: Whitley Preston, Mr. Castleman and Capt. Nimrod H. Moore.

ALS, 4 pp.

Has "just learned that the lands of non-residents in Kentucky are advertised for sale and among the rest two tracts belonging to my children." Asks Preston to handle this situation. Discusses personal finances and land business. Is eager to settle permanently in a cheap place where her children can be educated. Asks what income she may expect from her Kentucky lands as her Virginia property is tied up in a law suit.

ALS, 3 pp.

ALS, 1 p.
1817 June 22. Francis Preston to Major William Preston, Louisville, Ky.

Received William's letter by Major Nash. Did not join in Nash's speculation project because of a feeling of abhorrence at "speculating on anything relating to the Soldier." David Castleman wrote from New Orleans that Francis' son William placed some notes on Louisvillians in his hand which were collected and remitted to the house of Castleman & Co., Lexington; the remaining notes were deposited with Gen. Breckinridge. Asks William to help with these notes and to bring the money to Francis. Will need this money to meet his son William's European draft. Hopes to raise 8 or 10 thousand dollars through land sales if he is hard pressed. Discusses his intention of visiting Kentucky and William's proposed visit to Virginia. Francis is selling corn and rye at 3/ per bushel and bought 50 bushels of oats from Col. John Preston at 2/3. The family is "not so bad off as you have heard. . . . I Can't say so much for Montgomery but they are better off than their neighbours (I mean the Governor.) . . . ." The salt well has been very successful.

ALS, 3 pp.
1817 July 28. Nathaniel Hart, Frankfort, [Ky.] to Major William Preston, Middle Town, Jefferson County, [Ky.].

Can send four brick layers who charge $2 per thousand bricks; asks Preston to let him know if he wants them and whether they can find employment for all the season. Saw Jacob Sodusky [Sandusky] who says that Lampton's corner was made in 1773 for the Tow claim, which was laid off at that time. Gives family news and says he will probably visit Abingdon with other members of the family.

ALS, 2 pp.

The Court will be held next Tuesday and deeds will then be executed for the Tarrascon lot and for Mr. Maupin's land. Francis will send them to William by sister Hart to be delivered. Wants William to send the money for these lands quickly as Francis needs money. Dr. Floyd reports that William thinks legal expenses in Kentucky are becoming oppressive. Asks William to try to sell all Francis' lands except the sand square for as much as possible in cash as he needs money. Gives directions as to the handling of the money at Castleman & Co. and the notes held by Gen. Breckinridge. Fears he will be unable to attend his legislative duties this winter due to an injury received in a riding accident.

ALS, 3 pp.

Having just written to their sister, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Madison writes to her brother. Reports that their mother is well despite her 79 years and that only Edmonia Preston and her two children now live with old Mrs. Preston. Col. and Mrs. Hancock are well and may visit Gen. Clark and their children in the West. Gives a brief account of Col. Hancock's character and interests. Mentions the current news of Dr. and Mrs. Floyd, Edmonia Preston's family, James McDowell, George Hancock and other relatives. Tells Preston about his runaway slave, Billy. The General [John Preston] has bought an elegant estate in Goochland. Capt. Peyton and Agatha are living in the Den.

ALS, 4 pp.

Understands her letter to William sent to Gen. Clark never reached Clark. Discusses her financial affairs. Kentucky notes are not very current in Virginia; asks William to send Virginia notes in the future. Relays family news.

ALS, 2 pp.

Marshall's wife has recently given birth to a daughter. Heard from Mrs. Hart recently that Preston had arrived safely at home. Hopes Preston, his wife and family will repeat their visit to the springs. Mrs. Marshall will wait until the end of August for a time to be arranged for the visit. Should Preston's health not permit the visit, Marshall hopes to visit Preston in Middletown.

ALS, 3 pp.

1818 July 30. Francis Preston, Frankfort, [Ky.] to Major William Preston, Middletown, [Ky.]

Arrived in Frankfort yesterday and is waiting to participate in a dinner given to Mr. Clay to which he has been invited and "to which I believe I would not have accepted but for the Consideration that there is arising a jealousy between the two states by Mr. Clays supposed pretension to the presidential chair and it might be tho't If I had gone after so much politeness that it was from a feeling of that sort of which I am sure I do not as yet participate at all...."
Wants to see Mr. Bibb but he is "deeply engaged for some criminals." Will, therefore, send him the papers and ask that Bibb talk with William before the trial. Talked with Mr. Holmes of Wythe Co. about letting him have a Lot on Market Street and binding him to build thereon. If after three or four years this is not paid for the buildings would be forfeit. Asks William to draw up a contract giving Holmes pretty good credit, but not to let him have a corner lot. Wishes he had sold more of his lots earlier, since he understands there is a reaction to the high prices which is driving the price down. Discusses land business for his Louisville lots and lands at the mouth of the Kentucky River. Wants to reserve his land on the north side of Main Street "for a change of times... Saw Dr. [Louis] Marshall yesterday who says you must quit there at all events. And by no means expose yourself to the sun and fatigue."

ALS, 3 pp.

Arrived in Lexington last night, delayed by sister Hart's illness. Expected a letter from John Clark enclosing a draft for $691, but it has not arrived. Plans to press for this money and is very aggravated not to have it. Is surprised William has not gone to the Blue Licks as his health requires. Enquires about land sales in Louisville and asks how Campbell's lots sold. Discusses his suit against Campbell and asks William to have Gen. Breckinridge's report filed and depositions taken. Bibb is Campbell's lawyer and Francis plans to employ Wickliffe. Discusses his itinerary.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received a letter from Gen. Clark dated 6 September informing him that Julia and the children will come to Louisville for the winter and perhaps to Virginia. Wrote to Maj. Preston after receiving a letter from Lewis Clark intimating Julia was about to "make such arrangements." Asked Maj. Preston to let him know when Julia arrived and would then send George for Julia and her sister and their families as the change of air and climate "would be of service to the Majr. and his sick family." Hancock's wife wrote James Lockhart to go from Nashville to help Julia in. "The Governor writes me he will be obliged to return from Louisville to attend the legislature at St. Louis. I think it right he should do so."

ALS, 2 pp.

Is glad to hear William is recovering and received a letter from an acquaintance who dined with William in Lexington on his return from the Licks who says William is convalescent but much reduced. Praises the miracle wrought by [Dr. Louis] Marshall and the Blue Licks. Francis' daughter Susan is now married. Is surprised not to hear from Mr. Lewis, their new agent. Details some legal business, particularly that Mr. Cowan's deposition be taken as he made a survey of 2000 acres back of Connally's and "that Sandusky's should be taken to prove that the Blockt beech was not markt by Douglass's tool which he says is the fact and which decidedly proves that it is not Connallys, but Campbells corner and which [---] I presume will answer our purposes.

ALS, 3 pp.

Plans to remain in Lexington [Va.] for this year at least. Is pleased to hear that Preston's health is mended enough that he can visit Virginia this spring. Discovered that a Hagerstown note of fifty dollars is counterfeit. Believes it was given her by William through Gen. Clark in December 1817. The note is numbered 1106 and dated 4 April 1813. Is anxious about the Poplar Levels suit. Reports on Preston's mother, who is well and active despite great age.

ALS, 2 pp.

Encloses the counterfeit bank note referred to in her earlier letter for Preston's inspection to determine whether she received it from him. Everyone is anxious to hear about William's health. Asks that if her Kentucky affairs are proving a burden to him, Preston should hire a businessman to handle her affairs.

ALS, 2 pp.

Has just returned from Dr. Marshall's where she learned that William is in better health and that nothing but his own care is required to re-establish his health. Had hoped William would come up with Dr. Marshall who said yesterday he was afraid William was at the big bone lick. Urges William not to go there but to come to the Harts to stay awhile. It will soon be warm enough to go to the Blue Licks and
Dr. Marshall says William must use that water to save his life. Asks to be remembered to sister Preston, the girls and Mrs. Clark. Nathaniel Hart asks Preston to find out from Mr. McKnight whether the notes have been paid and if not what the prospects are to collect the money. Hart's notes have been paid at Knoxville.

ALS, 3 pp.

Copy of power of attorney received by Strother Bowyer of Lewisburg, Greenbriar Co. from Reuben and Randolph Ross to sign their names to and deliver. Bond to be executed to Mays and Newman for the benefit of Price and Callison assignee of Mays and Newman. To indemnify Reuben and Randolph Ross, Bowyer transfers all interest, claim and demand against C[uthbert] and Thomas Bullet of Louisville, Kentucky for his part of the purchase of a tract of land inherited from his father at the Falls of Ohio to them. Dated 30 September 1818. Witnessed by William S. Brandon and John H. Jordan. Attested by Alexander Shields. Ross asks Preston to inform the Bullitts of this transfer. Has written Gen. Brown of Augusta Co. who was the Bullitts' agent in this business and was informed $500 is still due to Bowyer. If the Bullitts' require, he will send the original transfer and a receipt on it for the money. A check on the United States Bank in Richmond, Baltimore or Philadelphia sent to Ross will be appreciated.

ALS, 3 pp.

1819 May 21. Francis Preston, Frankfort, [Ky.] to Major William Preston, Middletown, [Ky.].

Refers to a law suit concerning land. The case was just heard in Frankfort. Gives details of the hearing and those involved.

ALS, 3 pp.

Left Shelbyville the day before at 11:00 and arrived in Frankfort very tired. Was sick last night but somewhat better today. Will leave for Mr. Hart's soon where he expects to see F[rancis] Preston and his children. Sends two patents for Mr. Urton to take to Beale. Mr. Urton's patent is the oldest and will hold the nine acres he was afraid he would lose. Give the patents to Urton, who will go to Beall's and the office and close the business.

ALS, 1 p.

Mark Lampton, under the impression that Breckinridge was Preston's agent, asked what terms he could obtain the privileges of removing the brick he made on the land Preston recovered from Lampton. Breckinridge told him he had no authority for this from Preston, but would write to him about it. Lampton offers a quantity of ground, equal to the surface which he dug on Preston's, along the boundary line as established in the decision of the Federal Court, which Lampton believes will make the land Preston recovered equal to what it was before the brick yard was established. Lampton wants very much to remove the brick. [Notation on verso:] "One kiln of the Brick mouldered away the burnt one was exposed and produced but little to the Estate. Summon--J[ames] D[ouglas] Breckinridge, Janus Johnston."

ALS, 1 p.

Asks the name of the man at the Sandy Salt works Preston mentioned to William C. Preston's father. Hopes the Springs will be very beneficial to the Major's health. The mountains' barren sides are preferable to the luxuriance of the Briar patch for health purposes. W. C. Preston's brother John fractured his thigh three weeks ago, but is recovering.

ALS, 2 pp.

1819 Aug. 13. Francis Preston, [Abingdon, Va.] to Major William Preston, Sweet Springs, [Va.].

Discusses his son John's broken thigh and arm and says he is recovering. Tells how upset he was to hear of John's accident, which occurred 25 miles from home. Francis' health is not good and if he does not improve soon, he will try to go to the Sweet Springs where he hopes to see William. Encloses a letter from Mr. Bullitt telling of the Preston's affairs. Mentions law suit involving them and a Mr. Booth and Mr. Johnston. Asks William's advice as he wishes to give instructions to Mr. Wickliffe.

ALS, 3 pp.

John's son William is on his way to the Springs to see Maj. Preston and John hopes to be there in 8 or 10 days. Would have come over from Greenfield, but he heard that William was improving. While still in Goochland, John heard that William was recovering very fast from Mr. Poindexter and heard the same in Lexington from Isaac Caruthers. Thomas Newell was more positive in informing John of William's improvement. Urges William to do his best to improve his health. Gives news of his own health and says his son William will give more news on the family both here and at Smithfield.

ALS, 2 pp.

Hears that William is recovering and that he will be in Abingdon on his way to Kentucky in a week. Asks William to search the clerk's office before he leaves Montgomery for a deed executed to Francis by John Preston for his part of the Briar patch. That deed is indispensable in Francis' suit against A[rtur] Campbell. The suit was begun at the last term and continued for want of this deed. Says if his son Charles decides to come with him, he may or he may stay until his master is coming out. Francis is spending much time at the salt works. Discusses his health. Asks to be remembered to the Hancocks and to the relatives.

ALS, 2 pp.

Thanks his cousin for her letter. Remembers the evenings spent at Maj. Preston's and Uncle Fitzhugh's.
Discusses the fire of last Wednesday and says the woman who set it is now in jail until her trial. It is supposed she set the fire for revenge on the jailer who sent her sons to the penitentiary. Has not yet joined any of the regular classes of the College, but expects to join the junior class when he enters. His brother William wrote that their father was ill and that Aunt Julia is still unwell. Has heard many lectures the past two weeks most of them on surgery, natural history, botany, etc. The best was delivered by Dr. Caldwell on medicine, "the most diverting and some think the most larned was delivered by a Mr. Rafinesque a Frenchman on Natural History and Botany." Asks Maria to tell Cousins Henrietta and Thruston he will write them soon. "Brothers desire to be remembered to you." Asks to be remembered to his friends and relations.

ALS, 3 pp.

Regrets she was unable to meet William when he was in Virginia. Is pleased with her living situation in Rockbridge County. Both Col. McDowell and Francis Preston brought her news of her Kentucky affairs. Understands the property in Kentucky should soon yield between $400-$600; this will be very welcome as her family's expenses are $480 for board, with clothing being a very light expense; her son John's college tuition will be $60. Asks William to collect her rents and bring them to her if he comes to Virginia in the spring. Suggests that Mr. McDowell Reid would be a safe conveyance. Asks Preston to write her concerning her affairs, particularly the progress of her suit. Tells Preston she is willing for him to hire someone to manage her affairs under his direction if it would free him of the time and trouble involved. Would like a detailed account of the settlements on the Poplar Levels, amount of rents, etc. Susan Peyton had one of her violent attacks.

ALS, 4 pp.

Fears her letter of some months ago never reached Preston. "Since that time we have all been much and painfully engrossed by the recent distress of our family. . . ." The family has been unsuccessful so far in its plans for "the relief of our Brother, in his present wretched situation." Asks for information on her Kentucky property and says "I have lately gained a suit, by which the land I held near Richmond has been secured to me." Is concerned about money. "The promptness with which you always send me money, makes me fear that you sometimes advance it whether you can obtain it conveniently or not."

ALS, 3 pp.

The family is in good health. The check on W. S. Waller was not paid because A. Gale's signature was unknown to any person in the Bank; the check will now be honored if Preston will put his endorsement below A. Gale's. "You can have the money by enclosing the check and sending it to a friend in Frankfort; Mr. Wickliffe will send you the Papers you want in time. People around Lexington have been very sickly during the present month; J. J. Crittenden has lost his Son;—Doctor Marshall's Son Edward died last week; young James Breckinridge died at the same place this week; William Breckinridge life despaired of—and several other Boys very sick."

ALS, 3 pp.

Arrived at Smithfield yesterday. Received a letter from Mr. Pendleton, the register, one of John Preston's securities, saying the General's accounts are settled "and that there is a further deficit of $14000 which has so alarmed me that I have decided to go on to Greenfield to urge decisively the sale of all the property that can be sold to prepare for this sad affair." Pendleton understands Settle Creek will be sold for 30,000, there is 20,000 on hand, the Richmond house will sell for 10,000 and the balance of the Negroes will bring 10,000 for a total of 70,000. Francis will urge the General to sell, but fears he will get obstinate, in which case the securities are ruined. "Indeed I do most earnestly fear that I shall suffer, perhaps every species of my personal property will be stript from me and I do not know but Lands are liable to the Commonwealth execution--I see much distress before me indeed and do not know where it may End." Asks that if Gen. Carrington has not left, this letter be shown to Francis' daughters. Will be at Fincastle until Sunday morning hoping to see Col. McDowell as he goes to Monroe. Asks William to settle William McCormack's account since "it is his desire and greatly our wish." Did not see Mr. Hancock who "has given security for his Curatership with some difficulty as I am told--I heard nothing respecting the course he intended to pursue." Expects this letter to be sent by Cyrus Robinson. Asks William to write by Robinson and Eliza to write to Francis at Fincastle.

ALS, 3 pp.

Hopes there will be no unpleasant feelings among his father's heirs in dividing the property. It was his father's intention that as the only son, he should have much more than his other children. Fotheringay plantation was intended for George, Jr. at his marriage. Has instituted suit in chancery for establishing his father's will "and until the termination of said suit, I have been appointed Curator of the Estate." George, Jr's "intentions are these, if all the heirs of my Father will agree to keep what they have received from My Father, and divide his other property among them, giving Me however this Plantation, I am contented." He hopes thereby to secure harmony among the heirs, if they do not agree to this proposition, he will seek to have his father's will established, "if it can be done to the satisfaction of a court of Equity." Asks Preston to call on him if he can be of any service to him. "Letters from Louisville and St. Louis this morning say that Govr Clark will be left out in his Election by a Majority of 1/3 of the votes of Missouri. Col. Benton also it is thought will be left out in his."

ALS, 2 pp.

Tells her brother she is sorry to hear through Mr. Hancock that he finds no benefit from the waters. Hopes he will come to Montgomery where his relations can care for him. If he cannot come she urges him or Sister Lewis to write. Mother is well and Major Payton is mending slowly; he has been unable to leave Dr. Floyd's but when he can he will come to Roanoke where she hopes he will meet William. Mrs. Hancock is well. Dr. Floyd was to set out from Louisville on the 10th of September for Virginia. Hopes he will arrive soon for William's sake. Asks to be remembered to Sister Lewis and hopes she will send some of her family for a visit this fall.

ALS, 2 pp.

"I do not know how far your desires may be promoted by the dispositions of the President, you will be fully informed, what can be done by Colo Jno Williams," who has with the kindest interested \[sic\.] taken the management of affairs." Should Preston think of sailing in a national ship "which the President has promised," Floyd will help financially as much as he can. Letitia will handle that with "greatest cheerfulness." Had expected Mr. Beall would have made a payment by now, but he has not so the Floyds cannot help Preston "farther than the available funds now at hand." Has not heard anything from Kentucky that would interest Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

1821 Jan. 7. Francis Preston, Abingdon, [Va.] to Mrs. Caroline Preston, near Louisville, Kentucky.

Returned from Richmond after a two month absence. John Preston's unfortunate business will terminate without any injury to his securities, but "with ruin to himself." Stopped by Dr. Floyd's where William has been over two months; greatly despairs of his recovery and fears "that he can possibly hold out longer than the Spring." Describes William's condition in detail and reports that William asked him to write Caroline, since he is unable to write himself. Urges her and her family to prepare themselves for William's death. Promises as often as he hears from Mrs. Floyd, to write to Caroline reporting on William's condition. Would stay with William himself, but the nearly deranged condition of his son William's wife demands his presence.

[Postscript, written 15 Jan. 1821.]

Has delayed sending the letter until further word was received from Mrs. Floyd. Yesterday she wrote that William is no better. Sister Madison is also with him. Reports his daughter-in-law is better and improving.

ALS, 3 pp.

Seems "doomed to inevitable ruin which perhaps will not stop at myself & such property as I had reserved to myself but may reach my securities & my children much to their injury. . . ." Some friends have alienated themselves from him. Hopes William will profit from John's folly. Prior to his misfortune, John told William he had some debts due him in Kentucky and that William Ross owed him money which might be some help to William. He asked Ross to send William some papers and he later said he had done so; but, he heard nothing from William until late last summer from Sweet Springs William informed him he never took any action in the matter "unless it was to speak to Mr. Ross' attorney to urge the suits. In a letter from Mr. Ross to Col. Thomas N. Burwell, and which was read to a Committee of the house of Delegates on friday last, Mr Ross states that he had long since assigned to me a debt in Kentucky to the amount of $5000 for which he ought to have credit, & that his Brother Randolph & myself had settled accounts in which I fell in debt to him $7000 & upwards both of which sums added amounted to & wiped off his debt of $12,000 which he had owed me & which had been transferred to my Trustees for the benefit of my securities. I never looked on these papers sent to you as a credit for their amount to Mr. Ross unless you received the money on them & applied it to your own use." Asks William to make a full statement immedi­ately of the matter and to put it before Maj. Peyton and other respectable persons "that it may clearly appear in case of your decease how the matter was." Says his health is not good and his spirits are worse. Wishes he had died five years ago to have avoided his present distress.

Informs Mrs. Preston of the death of her husband, Maj. William Preston, on Tuesday the 24th at 9:15 P.M. At his request his remains will be taken to Smithfield tomorrow and interred beside his father. "For the sake of his children he directed me to enclose to you a list of those Friends and neighbors that visited him constantly." His body will be buried on Sunday. Sister Madison sends her love.

1821 Jan. 27. George Hancock, Fotheringay, [Va.] to Mrs. Caroline H. Preston, Louisville, Kentucky.

Informs Mrs. Preston of her husband's death at Dr. Floyd's on January 24. Has asked Maj. [William] Croghan to see Mrs. Preston and to help her in any way. Hopes as her only brother, she will write him and let him help her. Their mother may accompany Eliza to Kentucky to see Mrs. Preston "as soon as the weather is fit for traveling."

ALS, 2 pp.

Informs Mrs. Preston of the death of Maj. William Preston on the 25th at Dr. Floyd's. The cause of death was dropsy combined with jaundice. He was buried in the family burying ground at Smithfield. His constant concern was for his family. He died "earlier than the common lot of man."

ALS, 2 pp.

Since Sister Floyd wrote Mrs. Preston of her husband's death "the morning after it took place," Mrs. Madison has waited to write until Mrs. Preston's grief had somewhat abated. Maj. Preston was very concerned about his wife and the increased troubles and responsibilities his death would bring her. He hoped Mr. Pearce and Mr. Fitzhue would be helpful to Mrs. Preston. After her business in Kentucky is arranged, she hopes Mrs. Preston will come to Virginia where Mrs. Madison can give her more personal details of Maj. Preston's last words. Hopes to hear from Mrs. Preston and her daughters. In return for the attentions shown him during his illness, Maj. Preston emancipated Nassau after five years of service to Mrs. Preston; Preston also asked that Nassau be given a new suit of fine broadcloth upon his arrival home. Nassau will be accompanied by a son of Mr. William Mitchell, who has been a clerk for Mrs. Preston's brother a few months and who wants to go to Kentucky. Mrs. Madison's daughter Agatha joins in sending love to Mrs. Preston and family.

1821 April 9. Dennis Fitzhugh, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. Caroline Preston, Jefferson [Co., Ky.]

Mr. Pearce feels the executors should qualify at the present court. Asks Mrs. Preston to come to his home in the morning so that she may be at court by 12 or 1 o'clock; also asks that Mrs. Preston put in writing the probable value of the personal estate, number of negroes, horses, cows, etc. so their value may be determined and the court may fix the penalty in the bond and judge the security offered. Mrs. Preston will have to give security also if she qualifies as executrix. Feels it would be better if he did not become an executor, as the fewer executors, the greater ease they have in acting. Offers his help to Mrs. Preston and offers to be one of her securities.

1821 May 5. Francis Preston to Mrs. Caroline H. Preston, near Louisville, [Ky.]

Mrs. Preston's brother George, his Lady and Mrs. Griffin arrived in town last night and Francis and Mrs. Preston went to the tavern to pay their respects. Felt a coldness in Mr. Hancock's behavior toward him induced perhaps "in consequence of a Clause in my Brother's Will which has given your Mother great offence." Urged his brother to explain the clause more clearly in his will, but William refused. The clause stipulated that should Mrs. Hancock live with her daughter Preston's family, Maj. Preston's sons were to be removed. Francis is sorry that the fact that he wrote the will at his brother's direction has given offence to Mrs. Hancock, with whom he has been intimate for nearly half a century. Hopes Mrs. Preston does not share her brother's and mother's opinion of himself and that they will continue to be friends.

Over a year ago Isaac sent to Maj. Preston a check drawn by the Bank of New Orleans on the Bank of Kentucky at Frankfort for six hundred dollars in favor of Col. Anthony Gale. In August Maj. Preston collected it and wrote Isaac he would draw the money and deposit it in a Frankfort bank subject to Isaac's order. The cashier of the Bank of Kentucky at Frankfort says the money was collected. Isaac checked for it in favor of Mr. Charles Taylor of Jeffersonville, but the check was not honored since the money was deposited in Maj. Preston's name. As the agent for another to collect the money, Isaac has been sued for it and has had considerable expense in defending the suit. Asks Mrs. Preston to arrange for either Mr. Taylor or Messrs. Crane & Whittling of Louisville to receive the money. Sends his sympathy to his aunt, Mrs. William Preston.

Has been unable to leave Frankfort due to public duties and domestic troubles. His family is now in Fayette County because of sickness and he will join them there in a few days. Since it is impossible for him to accompany Col. McDowell to Jefferson County, he is writing Mrs. Preston instead. Writes of her husband in admiring words. On Maj. Preston's visit to Lexington before he returned to Virginia, he expressed concern about his family and particularly about his young son's education; "he wished his sons to be educated under the advice of a man who had himself been liberally educated and who would be careful to afford them every advantage for the cultivation of sound morals and solid learning." Maj. Preston asked Breckinridge, therefore, to help supervise the education of his sons and Breckinridge now reaffirms his promise to do so, so far as his time permits. He had to refuse participation in the management of Preston's estate.

Sends some of the latest newspapers with this letter. Had hoped to have heard from Henrietta and Maria; "these dreary times of disease & distress, is often more indicative of the welfare of our friends than otherwise." Sunday Mr. Lowndes was attacked with the fever, but is now better. He and Lowndes had hoped to call on Mrs. Preston towards the end of the week, but now feel it would not be wise for Lowndes to go so far. Encloses an extract from his wife's recent letter giving an account of their young son, Edmund. Gaines hopes to be able to present his wife and son to Mrs. Preston in the next month.

In trying to sell Walnut Hill, he has run into difficulty since Caroline and her mother never relinquished their rights of dower. When Caroline and her husband conveyed it to John Preston, and when
Mr. and Mrs. George Hancock, Sr. conveyed it to Caroline, dower rights were not specifically relinquished. Mrs. Preston's mother has now released her right of dower and John hopes Caroline will do the same. Gives instructions to her for doing so and describes Walnut Hill as three tracts of land amounting to 201 acres conveyed to John Preston on 4 October 1813 by Maj. and Mrs. William Preston, the deed being recorded in the General Court of Virginia. Suggests that Mr. Pierce and Judge [Fitzhugh] will draw up an instrument for her signature. Hopes to be in Kentucky in the fall and then to see Mrs. Preston and her family. Wishes he were able to assist Mrs. Preston, but his means are gone. Encloses a sample form of a release which Mrs. Preston might copy and sign before three witnesses. The instrument describes Walnut Hill as being in Botetourt County on Catawba Creek.

Was sorry Peyton was not at home when McDowell came from Kentucky. He brought a petition from Mrs. Preston to the Virginia legislature asking that all or part of Robinsons Tract might be sold to pay the debts of Maj. William Preston. He advised Mrs. Preston to sell some of the negroes in preference to petitioning the legislature. Mrs. Preston answered that there were only a few negroes and that they were necessary for the support of the family. The reason for selling the Tract is that "the Lots at Louisville will command little, or nothing: and that it would be a sacrifice of the estate compleatly, to pay the debts out of them at their present prices. This Idea is well supported by Mr. Pierce & the common experience of that Town. Lots commanding Situation, improvements &c. would not now bring one third part of the price, the naked lot sold for. This is a deplorable state of things..."

Hopes the legislature will allow the sale of the Tract and that Peyton will be the purchaser. Understands that the Chancery Courts have full power to authorize the sale, "if from a full hearing of the situation & circumstances of the Estate they judge it expedient."

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Hancock advise that the Chancery Court at Wythe be applied to for this purpose. Asks Peyton to consider purchasing the land, especially if the sale depends on his answer. Cyrus Robinson came to see McDowell at Dr. Floyd's to complain "of his situation by the sale of the property of our friends in his hands by the agreement made shortly before the Majrs. Death." McDowell was sworn to return an inventory of the estate and law requires the sale of the perishable estate. Discusses other details of the estate and sympathizes with Mr. Robinson's difficult situation, but can "see no other or better plan for him to pursue untill (if he chooses it) he is absolved by some legal means from the Contract. I also recommended it to him to make up his accts. that are past, and to come, at short periods and to put them into your hands for inspection, copies of which send to Mrs. Preston." Urges great care to show that they have tried to preserve the estate. Asks for a copy of the will so that he can see what lands are to be sold in Virginia. The "situation of the estate is desperate," so they cannot wait for very high prices. Urges Peyton to write soon and to write Mrs. Preston. "The golden oppy [opportunity] is gone by for paying Kenty. debts when their money was two for one was the time. The acts of the last Legislature requiring the Kenty Bank to wind up & the Act destroying the Notes of the commonwealths Bank to ye amt. of $750,000 will appreciate their paper." C[aroline] H. Preston has added a note to the letter at a later date relative to the affairs of the estate and Col. McDowell's actions.

1823 Oct. 27. James McDowell to Mrs. Caroline Preston, Fotheringay, [Va.].

Called upon Mr. Johnson who refuses to buy Robinsons Tract. Capt. Peyton has spoken to Gen. Cloyd who also refuses to buy the property. Capt. Peyton has suggested amendments to the petition to be offered to the Legislature, which McDowell will complete tonight with the amendments and will bring it to Mrs. Preston in the morning. Some business done for Mrs. Madison has tired him and he will not visit Mrs. Preston and her mother this evening.

Gen. Preston asked whether Hart knew anything of the agreement between Maj. William Preston and J[ames] P[atton] Preston. Believes he gave the agreement to Mrs. Preston. J. H. Overstreet "of your place" will want the agreement as evidence in a suit he has. There is a suit in the General Court in Frankfort in which Mrs. Preston is interested and in which the agreement must be forwarded to Solomon P. Sharp. If Mrs. Preston files the agreement in Worden Pope's office where it will be safe, he can give her a certified copy to be sent to Mr. Sharp. Gen. Preston also asked if Hart knew the amount received by Maj. William Preston from the claims he had of Gen. John Preston. Hart collected for $215 in the Green River country from a Mr. Alexander and believes William Preston "collected a considerable sum from the persons who purchased Barns Survey from Genl. Preston perhaps 1000 to 1500 dollars." He also had claims on John Smith for several hundred dollars, "the price of a negroe Girl & fine blooded mare & perhaps something else . . . ", there were also claims on Lynch & Blanton of Shelbyville which were in Gen. Robert Breckinridge's hands. Believes Breckinridge can give further information on these transactions. Seems to remember that Maj. Preston said he had collected about $3000 on the claims. Preston Thompson "is on the mend."

ALS, 3 pp.

Has examined the records in Lexington and found that Maj. William Preston, "as attorney in fact for John Preston & John Smith have made many deeds to the lands sold under Barns' claim (the pattent I expect issued to Smith and Preston. . . ." Lists the recipients of these deeds and the amounts paid—land sold to Joseph Huston, Joseph Bryan, John Muir, John Caha, Samuel Duncan, John Taylor, Robert Hill, John Coleman, and James Davis. Mentions other land transactions involving John Preston, John Smith and John Breckinridge. Believes that Mrs. Preston will find the agreement between Maj. William Preston and James P. Preston among her papers in Virginia.

Mr. Overstreet wrote about a deed from John to Francis Preston; asks Mrs. Preston to tell him that Hart does not have the deed and that if Francis Preston left it in Kentucky, it must be with his son-in-law, Robert J. Breckinridge. Gen. Floyd wrote that Mrs. Mary P. Lewis died on February 5.

[1824] Nov. 1. Henrietta Preston, near Middletown, [Ky.] to John Pope, Esq., New Orleans, [La.].

It has been a week since Pope left and no one has heard from him, but she felt he would enjoy hearing from home. Maria is now with us and hopefully will become resigned to her husband's absence. Expresses concern for his health. Pope's family is well, except for Godfrey, who has not yet entirely recovered. Shortly after he left, we heard of Gen. Clark's arrival at this place, but they were so eager to get to St. Louis that they had left before I could make the necessary arrangements for my going. They offered to wait a week, but Caroline told them of mother's reluctance to let me go and they left by boat the following day without visiting any of their relations here. Letitia Hart made a transient visit; she is improved in appearance and manners. They visited nicely and parted amicably. Mamma, Caroline and Josephine send love and Maria writes herself.

[1824 Nov. 3.] Maria [Preston] Pope, Middletown, [Ky.] to Mr. John Pope, Jr., New Orleans, [La.].

Waits with great anxiety to hear from her husband and urges him to write. Thinks his father has given up all idea of going to town. He has boarded Ann with parson Todd and she will begin school in a week. Ann is now with her grandmother and I am to stay with mamma until you return. Miss Lucy Fitzhugh married Dr. Hall Thursday evening; Mary Bullett and Nelly Garrard were bridesmaids. James Prather is to marry Miss Martin immediately, Mrs. Floyd says. Letitia Hart left here last Tuesday for Shelbyville, where she will spend some time. "We heard of General Clarks arrival about an hour after you left us they were particularly fortunate in meeting a boat that started the next morning to St. Louis." Dr. Johnston received a letter from some friend of his in New York stating that William Pope was on his way home.

ALS, 3 pp.

Urges her brother to write and feels he should have taken his wife with him to New Orleans. Maria is busy preparing Ann for school. John Pope's brother William has arrived in Louisville. The family plans to go down to the house in about a fortnight. John Reinhard and Miss Edwards were married last week. Mr. Steele gave a party for the newlyweds. Mrs. Wilson "has returned with Willie Ann alias Mary." Hopes he will attend some balls in New Orleans so that he can tell her how the people look and dress.

Met Taylor at Natchez and spent a week with him there until the fever in New Orleans subsided. Taylor met Dr. Randolph in Havana so if he is enduring anything at Louisville, it is probable that it may be collected. After we got to the mouth of Ohio, they took the commonwealth money and I sent it back to you by Chaddick the pilot. Would have sent the Price Current but all produce of the upper country is now extremely low. Mr. Taylor felt it would mislead Wallace. Gives current prices for various agricultural commodities. Plans to visit Matanzas as soon as he finds a boat going to Havana. "This is without exception the most rascally climate that I have ever been in and I would to Kentucky this winter sooner than remain here." The people are very civil and polite. Charles Savage, American Consul to Guatemala boards with us. Tom West appears to be doing nothing. Advises Wallace to visit New Orleans this winter as it certainly surpasses all places in the United States even now when everything is dull. Received a letter today from his wife who said that William was on his way home and he hopes is radically cured.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received her letter of the 3rd this morning. Should have written her when he arrived but he met Don Lucket who has been on the eve of going to Louisville by steam boat for the last eight days and planned to send a letter by him, instead of by mail. Wrote from Natchez where he remained several days waiting a boat. The climate in New Orleans is very changeable, more so than in Kentucky. Plans a trip to Matanzas in Cuba after which he will return home. His father's removal to town turned out as he thought; when it came to the pinch Pope believed his father could not leave the farm. Does not know whether to rejoice with Miss Lucy Fitzhugh's marriage or not. Thought Jim Prather would be married, so it is no surprise. Is boarding with Madam Herries. Has not been to see the balls and masked balls held at this time except the Congo dance of the Negroes last Sunday. Wants Caroline and Josephine Preston and Ann Pope to write him. If Gul is home "tell him that in Natches I met with our former classmate Van Tromp Crawford who is practicing as a lawyer in that place and last not least mention I cal[---]la Sparks who serves the same capacity on the other side of the Mississippi and his brother Albert Gallatin [Sparks] whom I never knew before." Charles Savage, Esq., formerly of our town, has procured Pope several letters of introduction should he go to Matanzas and others have been promised.

[1824 ca. Nov.] Maria [Preston] Pope, [Louisville, Ky.] to [John Pope, Jr.].

Received news that the boat in which John Pope left passed the falls in safety. She is still detained due to her mother's difficulty in getting workmen to finish her house. Has written to her mother and to Minor to let her know if they hear of Pope. Expects to go down in 2 or 3 days. Looks forward to his return, as four of the six weeks have already passed. "You have no doubt heard before this, that the Capitol is burnt, and that the good folks of Louisville are trying to rebuild it there. I hope they may succeed. One of the Croghan's has offered to present a beautiful five acre lot and application has been made by some, to uncle Frank [Francis Preston], to give them the Sand Hill for that purpose. The Hospital has also been offered for the present session, but I have not yet heard if they have accepted it." Fears he cannot be back in time to spend Christmas with us, but hopes he is recovered and will soon return. Has not yet seen William [Pope] though he called at Mother's for that purpose. Plans to stop at Major Field's to see Grandmother as I go down. Caroline wrote that the Popes were all well in town and that Ann [Pope] had not begun school. Henrietta wrote Pope 8 or 10 days ago and Maria has postponed writing since in hopes of hearing from him.

1824 Dec. 6. Henrietta Preston, [Louisville, Ky.] to John Pope, Esq., New Orleans, [La.].

Mr. Wallace heard from a New Orleans correspondent that Pope was in Natchez on the 11th. Pope's father thinks he is now on the way to the West Indies and Maria hopes you will return very soon. Mr. Wallace intends visiting New Orleans in January and she hopes that Pope will be well enough to come up with him.
"Have you not discovered by the public prints that the LaFayette fever has come 'all the way to Old Kaintuck'
He (the great man) is to be invited by the General Assembly to visit us, and a sum adequate to the expenses of his reception is allotted out of the public Treasury. I fear there will be very little left in it, if we attempt to vie with our Eastern neighbors in splendour and parade. Our gloves, Hats, work-bags and caps are all LaFayette. Fortunately for me the caps are 'all the go!' I have often laughed to think how his venerable face would look beneath one of them."

Believes Maria wrote of the pomp and circumstance of Jim Prather's arrival and reception; Miss Nelly Garrard's narrative of it surpasses anything you can imagine. '"Will you ever pretend to hold up for the politeness of the Louisville Gentlemen, after hearing that three hundred Cincinnati beaux, called on Miss Nelly and Miss Bullitt in one day, and that the banks of the river were illuminated for their reception." We have returned to town at last. Your father is not yet in town but intends to come shortly. Maria urges her to write John to return. Saw Miss Polly Speed last week. John Worthington is here attending to his Cousin Matilda. Emmeline Ward is in Bardstown, and will return after Christmas with Mrs. Quinton, Miss Duval and the two Miss Harrisons. The Miss Blakes are in town and Hebe Carter either has returned or soon will.

[Postscript: Maria (Preston) Pope to John Pope.] Wrote him a few days ago and still wishes for his return. Asks him to get her a long braid a shade darker than his hair as she is losing her hair. Urges him to return by Christmas.

Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Henrietta wrote that Maria has been busy preparing Ann for school. Scolds her for not writing whenever possible. His stay has been pleasant, but the weather has been so bad, he has been confined to the house. He sent a small box of presents for the girls and for Maria by Major Luckett who started for Louisville last week. Luckett promised to call on Maria and give her news of John. Hopes to return in such health that he will never be forced to go abroad for it again. "Col.
Croghan is here but the madam is still in New York she is however expected here this winter if you see any of the family tell them that he is in fine health." Plans to go to an exotic place and would send West India fruits if he thought they would arrive unspoiled. Asks Maria to write him all the local news. Asks to be remembered to the family.

John's letters to Maria and Henrietta were received as were the gifts he sent. Mr. Luckett brought John's letter to his father. Had planned to send a letter by Mr. Wallace, but due to his delay sends this by regular mail. Is sorry to hear that New Orleans society is disappointing and hopes Havana will be more to his taste. Capt. Payne is to be married to Emmeline Ward next month and Elizabeth Gray and Nor-borne Galt are engaged. John's father is comfortably fixed in Mrs. Holmes' former house. Mentions: Matilda Maupin, Miss Bullitt, Nelly Garrard, John Worthington, Mr. Hill, Robert Lytle and Walker Hawes.

Mr. Payne will marry Miss Ward next month and she has gone up to stay with Mrs. Quinton until the important period arrives. Mr. Hill is seeking his fortunes at Mrs. Bulletts. W. Hawes is in Lexington seeing Miss Edmonson. Gen. Atkinson is here and fatter than ever and has a very bad cough. Mr. Wallace is the only person she has seen who is contented with everything around him. Saw John's father. William is to take care of the children while the squire is in Alabama, Minor intends returning to school in Bowling Green in a week or two. Urges him to let them know when he will return.

[1824] Dec. [—]. Maria [Preston] Pope, Louisville, [Ky.] to John Pope, Esq., New Orleans, [La.]. Was pleased to receive his letter of the 26 November. Is eager to hear the state of his health and whether he plans to spend the winter in Cuba. His father says John will not return until spring, but she refuses to believe it until he writes her. Henrietta and Mr. Wallace showed her the letters he wrote them. John's father has boarded Ann in Dr. Wilson's family;
Mrs. Wilson is strict. William [Pope] is devoted to Miss Wilson, who is not pretty but very affable and polished; she performs elegantly on the piano and made her first appearance at Mrs. Prather's party. Matilda Maupin says she is just the same as when she went away.

"Miss Gray is the envy of all the bells in town she prominades the streets continually with numerous beaux, and dresses beyond description. . . . Mary Bullett is more of a dandy than ever. It would divert you to see her with a LaFayette cap and thousands of curls.

Mrs. James Prather is quite a dasher. Mrs. Grayson has not made her appearance yet. Miss Ward is in Bards-town." Mrs. Hughs had excited the whole town with the promise of one of her mighty parties, but was prevented by the fray her husband was in. The Misses Speed were in town several days. "Miss Eliza Ormsby is making grand preparations to commence keeping house for her uncle Robert. Mrs. Dennis Fitzhugh is now at Mrs. Croghans and not expected to live." Gen. Atkinson arrived here last week. Your father has rented Mrs. House's house. "Alfred Shelby has visited Virginia, and W. Prather says, he is engaged to be married to Margaret Preston before six months." Mr. Wallace plans to go to New Orleans in about ten days and says he will bring you back with him in the spring. Urges him to return as soon as possible.

Hoped to see John and Maria here this week and hopes nothing may occur to prevent their coming. Has examined her papers for the deed from James Preston, but it is misplaced if she did not give it to Mr. Pearce to be recorded. Asks Pope to look in the office for it. "Dr. Johnston can be furnished with what brick he wishes, if he will let me know when he wants them I will employ Keiger at the sand bank to deliver them to his carts. Mr. Geiger can have the timber but I can not yet answer Carter about letting the farm next year. I am very anxious for the commissioners [of Maj. William Preston's estate] to lay off[f] my thirds in the brick building. Perhaps you could speak to them. If I get it I will immediately commence some necessary preparations there for residing in it this winter. . . ."

Hopes John will soon return. Maria has confined herself and "has only been out to see your grandfather whose health is gradually declining. He cannot be persuaded to receive medical aid, and it is much feared that he will not recover. Mr. and Mrs. Hall and Mr. Nat Pope are now on a visit to him." Mr. Payne's marriage is much talked about and it is said that Mr. [James Douglas] Breckinridge and Mrs. [Mary Elizabeth (Grayson)] Quinton will soon marry. Robert Breckinridge says the Misses Hart and Louisa Brown will soon pay a visit here. W. Hawes may soon marry Miss Edmuston of Lexington. Col. McDowell wrote that
Dr. Floyd wants to exchange his property near Louisville for Robinson's Tract. Henrietta answered that she wanted to procure money but would be guided by John's opinion. Aunt Floyd wrote that Mr. Hancock and wife are in Washington City, that their embarrassments are great and increasing and that the mortgage on Fotheringay will be foreclosed March 1. Mother fears her brother will not now fulfill his agreements with her; she was to have first choice of Mrs. Hancock's Green River lands and Mr. Griffin has taken them in direct contradiction to their bargain. Mother awaits the advice of your uncle John Pope who is expected here soon.

Mr. Wallace and William intend to give a party tomorrow night at Trinity and Mrs. Croghan is to give another immediately. We will have a housewarming next week; "mamma delayed giving it for a month in the expectation that you would return by this time, but she as well as myself has become tired of looking for you. Miss Ward is to be married on Thursday without company. William is to officiate on the occasion and Mrs. Grayson and Mr. Shippin are each to give her a tearing party. Mrs. Sproul is to be married immediately to a Col. [1825] Feb. 28. Henrietta Preston, Louisville, [Ky.] to John Pope, care of Mr. Taylor, New Orleans, [La.].

We heard of you by a letter from Mr. Wallace to your brother. Would like to hear from her brother[-in-law], John Pope, herself. Maria is alarmed by your silence. Old Col. Pope continues very low. Uncle John has left due to Florida's extreme illness. Sees our next neighbor, Mr. W. Hawes, often "though he mingles but little in society, and is much engaged in his Buchanan Steamboat." Dr. Clark married Miss Francis Tompkins last week; Mrs. Pearce planned to give them a large party but the rain prevented many from attending. "I was malicious enough to rejoice at it, as we were not invited though we had of course calculated on such a slight." There was a cotillion party on the 22d and the LaFayette Guards were to have appeared in their uniform, but they did not appear. Recounts local news and gossip. Mentions: Uncle Nat, Capt. Young, the Speed family, Miss Blake, Squire Harsly, Mrs. William Croghan, Sam Fitzhugh, Mrs. Tubman, Letitia Hart, Eliza Ormsby, Letice Page, Mrs. Floyd, A. Pope, Mr. Terrell, Mary Prather, and Mrs. Quinton.

1826 Oct. 6. John Pope, Jr. to Mrs. Maria Pope, near Middletown, [Ky.].

When he arrived he found Godfrey so sick, he has been obliged to stay. Heard yesterday from William [Pope] in New York; he had an operation on his sore and will winter in New York. Was in town yesterday and met Mr. Neilson, a brother to his lordship, who is courting your cousin Letty. Describes Neilson. Lord Neilson has been turned off by Miss Mary. They started to Shelbyville and Mary rode with Chuckle and Neilson took Louisa; Chuckle was to go no further than Col. Anderson's, but Mary had him drive to Middletown and continued in the same arrangement to Shelbyville, where an argument took place and his lordship returned to Louisville.

ALS, 2 pp.

Had hoped to visit Louisville during his visit to Kentucky, but finds he will be unable to do so. His father has asked him to inform Mrs. Preston that he can no longer be connected with Maj. Preston's estate due to declining health. McDowell's father also wishes to know whether the order he gave Mrs. Preston on the present Mrs. Shannon was accepted and paid in part or in whole. Asks that Mrs. Preston answer him at Paris, which is near to him and says he expects to be in Ohio in a few days.

ALS, 2 pp.

Presents his compliments to Miss Pope and Miss Preston and wishes to be informed of their schedules for the next 3 or 4 weeks. Gives news of their family and friends in Louisville—Caroline Preston, Henrietta, Mary, Louisa and Orlando Brown.

AL, 1 p.
1826 July 7. James McDowell, Rockbridge, [Va.] to Miss Henrietta Preston, Montgomery County, [Va.].

Sends the papers he received from Henrietta's mother when he last saw her at her mother's home. Is determined to end his responsibility as an executor of Maj. William Preston's estate and has no account to render "having never transacted any business." Hopes Henrietta and Mrs. Pope will pay him a visit. Sends best wishes from himself and Mrs. McDowell to Henrietta and Mrs. Pope.

ALS, 1 p.

Mrs. Preston called upon Pope for advice about the lands of her children in the Illinois grant; since he does not have the statutes of the state, he asks permission to refer Mrs. Preston to Maj. Dewey. Maj. Preston paid the taxes on this land through 1819. Mrs. Preston wishes to know if the Revenue laws of Indiana "save the lands of infants from sale for taxes," and other legal points. The acting executors of Maj. Preston, Messrs. Fitzhugh and Pearce are now dead and Mrs. Preston must bear the burden of handling the estate.
1826 Nov. 27. [Mrs. Caroline Preston?, Louisville, Ky.]
to Mrs. Maria Pope, Fotheringay, Montgomery Co., Virginia.

Cautions Maria not to be drawn into difficulties during her stay in Virginia. Discusses various business transactions concerning land and accounts to be attended to and relays news of local people. "The Paper is going about town for the building of the State House;" lists subscribers and gives information on the land for the building. "William is going to school to thomson. Caroline and Josephine take french lesons at home and Susan Hickman from a Mr. Monroe."  Mentions:
Capt. Chambers, Maj. Peyton, William Croghan, Alex
Pope, Aunt Patsy, William Pope, Mrs. Pearce, Col. Russell, Gen. Frank Preston, Jake Kent, Gordon Cloyd, Allen Taylor, Mr. Crocket, Gen. Breckinridge,
Mr. Hogue, Boston Wigle?, Col. McDowell, Hite Ormsby, Mr. Colmanesnell, Mr. Herndon, Mr. Overstreet and others.

1826 Dec. 4. Francis Preston, Mr. Harts, [Ky.] to Mrs. Caroline H. Preston, Louisville, [Ky.].

Plans to leave for Maj. Thompson's and then back to Virginia very soon. Mr. Duncan will inform Mrs. Preston that her brick suit was continued; encloses Gen. Breckinridge's letter on this subject. Has taken Mr. Bibb's opinion on the manner in which deeds are to be made and will execute deeds shortly. This matter would have been cleared up sooner but for the misleading advice of Worden Pope. Refers to her dower lands in Botetourt Co., Virginia, which he hopes she will relinquish for various reasons. Wants to clear up his legal affairs before his death. Discusses other land and legal business. Mentions: Mr. Hart, Mr. Smith, John Preston, Maj. William Preston, Gov. [William] Clark, James [Breckin]ridge, and Mr. Campbell.

ALS, 3 pp.

Long letter discussing Mrs. Preston's Louisville property and early land lines there. Letter is in relation to a settlement with Gen. Francis Preston. Mentions: John Gwathmey, John Connolly, John Campbell, William Meriwether, David W. Meriwether, Gen. Clark, Mr. Hempenstall [Abraham Haptonstall], Mr. Dandridge,

ALS, 6 pp.

Received three letters from Caroline last night telling of the society and happiness with which she is surrounded, apologizing for her long silence and praising Josephine's Nutt. Wishes to hear about her old friends. Is sorry to hear of William Hurst's illness. Is glad that their aunt has spent a pleasant time with her Kentucky friends since she is separated from society during the winter at Fotheringay. Has spent her time in monotonous seclusion since her return from the springs. "Since I left our poor old infirm relatives at Roanoke, my time has been spent principally at Aunt Floyd's," who is not well. Uncle Floyd is expected home immediately and Sarah Lewis is still there. Maria has been here ever since they left Grandmama's. Has passed her time talking with William Floyd and reading. "I have read Marmontee's Memoirs, Sully's Memoirs, Hallam's Middle Ages and Hundreds of novels, not to speak of Byrons Poems which I have read a dozen times—or at least William has read them to me. I hope my learning will not turn me Blue before I go home." Both she and Maria have grown fatter. Wishes the Cole river land might be sold that they might have the means of getting home and taking care of mama's immediate necessities. Spent the $110 Uncle Floyd gave them at the springs and hopes to receive $20 of Elliott Cox for rent in five or six weeks. Has received invitations from Uncle McDowell and Col. Benton, but cannot find the means of accepting. Asks for news of her friends, Walker Hawes, Hill, Drain, and Matilda Maupin. Wishes to know who Caroline's Nashville beau is and wants to see her married as soon as you like, "as for me I expect to pass my days in single blessedness 'or wretchedness' so don't be so polite as to wait for me. As for the celebrated McDuffie I have no hope there. I believe he is lately courting or engaged to Miss S---- and Col. Williams is to be given per force to Sarah Lewis and there is no one here that will suit. Present me kindly to Mrs. Hancock, Miss S. and Mr. Ormsby, and the rest." Asks about Dabney. "Tell Josephine not to love her officer too well. They are as you say gay deceivers." Plans to write to Mr. Hurst. Maria and John Peyton are continually romping or quarreling.

1827 April 15. [Mrs. Caroline H. Preston, Louisville, Ky.] to Mrs. Maria Pope, Fotheringay P. O., Montgomery, Virginia.

Has received Maria's letter of March 29. Is very concerned about legal and financial problems and is disappointed by those friends who have failed to help her. Mentions "Billy Field who is now sherrif in the place of Poor old Mr. Buckner." Discusses the necessity of selling several tracts of land, but adds "we should then have 19 Negroes as valuable as any in Kentucky left and 500 acres of land on Baregrass and the farm by Middletown and our land by St. Louis left with that and the arrangements I can hereafter make If I live 10 years you will have a better property than you had at your fathers death at least a more productive one. . . . Eliza says it would give her and Mrs. Croghan grate pleasure if Mama would live with them. . . ." Mentions her mother, Mrs. George Hancock, Sr.'s affairs. Should the family have great difficulty in Louisville, then they will remove to St. Louis. Plans to do her best to keep things together and receive fair prices for her land. "Mrs. Jesup got to her mothers this Morning." Requests Maria to burn all her letters. Mentions: Gen. Francis Preston, W. Pope, Sanders Seaton, Mr. Jacops [Jacobs],

The power of attorney mamma gave me was only to attend to the land business and therefore I have no power to settle with Maj. Robinson; has written to her to correct this situation. The only prospect for a loan is from Frank Smith and he is either in Richmond or Abingdon; will you ask of it at Aunt Madison's or rather H. Peyton and let me know if he has passed on his way to Abingdon. Maj. P. seems unwilling to have anything to do with us except to buy 500 acres of the tract. "Maj. P. and uncle Floyd thinks it will be impossible to get money on our interest in the tract, as all the property is subject to the creditors extending it. Notwithstanding I am willing to try F. Smith." Discusses further business. If William Griffin cannot bring the papers, I had better go down for them. Urges Maria to write.

ALS, 1 p.

Discusses Henrietta Preston's interest in finding a suitable husband and asks Maria to "tell her not to let the scarcity of that article in the mountains drive her to a rash step. our town is teaming over with officers, travellers and young men of the Navy more than I have ever seen in Louisville." Hopes to send Henrietta on a trip to New York this winter. Plans to send Caroline to St. Louis in October. Discusses Gen. [Francis] Preston's dislike for Maria and his comments on the subject; Mrs. Preston explained to him that the trouble was created by Mrs. Floyd, who "has been famous in her family for creating disturbance." Discusses old Mr. Pope's character and mentions Constance Massey, Mrs. Gaines, William Preston III, Susan Preston, Mr. Smith, Mr. Crutchfield, James Brown, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Madison and Howard Peyton.

ALS, 4 pp.

Letter opens, Dear Maria. Received her letter of the 16th. Mother has written a long letter to Maria.
"I am though that she pesters you with the Pope's works for they aught never to be minded. God only knows what sort of people they are for I do believe they are so avaricious that they would tear their own eyes out for money, that is my private opinion of them and I would abuse them if it had not been for Garnet Duncan he was taling of Patrick and I said for goodness sake do not talk of the Pope's for I dislike some of them so much that I cannot bear to hear their name called. He said with a very grave face 'Josephine I advise you as a friend never to speak against them people for It only injures you and not them for every body knows what kind of people they are & how they have treated Maria.' I will take his advice although I know If I have arright to abuse any people in the world it is them. Do my dear Maria never abuse them or fret yourself about any thing they can say or do for they cannot hurt you if they take every thing that belonged to my dear brother for instead of doing for you as they should it would give them pleasure I believe to see you broken hearted. . . ." Worden Pope has been helpful to mother with her business. Miss Mary Ming married a rich widower named Foster from Natchez and has left town. Mrs. William P. Lee is to be our next door neighbor; she plans to keep a milliner's shop and will pay her rent quarterly. It is said that Miss Polly Elder and Mr. Elliott are to be married. Directed the letter to Henrietta, so that it might be for both Henrietta and Maria. Sends regards of various friends and relatives.

1827 Dec. 10. Henrietta Preston, St. Louis to Mrs. Maria Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Reports on her trip to St. Louis and the travellers on the boat. "But last, though not least—I must mention Josephine's favorite Capt. Clark whose society constituted one of the principal attractions for us all." Discusses her activities and people in St. Louis and describes the city. Mentions: Capt. and Mrs. Gantt, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mr. William Hurst, Miss L. Bullitt, Mr. Hill the steamboat captain, Augustin K., Aunt and Uncle Clark, Pat Maginis, Col. Wooley, Mrs. Mysner, Mrs. Nimrod Moore, Miss Edwards, Col. McGee, James Johnston and Mrs. Hughes.

ALS, 3 pp.

Discusses the family's financial and legal difficulties and proposes various courses of action to help remedy them and says "our distress is well known here and there is many willing to take advantage of it."
Gives local news and events. Mentions: Henrietta and Susan Preston, George Hancock, Jr., William Pope, Dr. Wilson, Allen Taylor, Mr. Peyton, Gen. Breckinridge, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Pope, Arthur Wallace, William Preston, III, Lucinda and Georgeann Floyd, the Misses Speed, Mr. Churchill, Mrs. Dupont, Norbern Beal, Mr. Russell, Mr. Turner, Susan Hobbs, Dr. Luckett of Maryland, Mrs. Hughes, Eliza Field, Mrs. Addison, Mrs. Anderson, and Mr. Neelston.

Was disappointed on his return home not to find a letter from Henrietta telling of her determination to accompany us to Kentucky. Wrote her that he would leave next Sunday. Mrs. Pope's mother's business is so pressing that he cannot wait longer than Wednesday and if she is not here by then will assume that she will wait and accompany Gen. Frank Preston to Kentucky. Has been unable to pay Maria's account at Patten's Store, but will settle with him. Urges her not to spend much on the repairs of her Dearborn. It is doubtful that her mother will get any part of her claim against Mr. Griffin for some time as there are many bonded debts, "all of which are of superior dignity to hers. . . . I fear my dear Maria that this circumstance, and my own difficulties may cause you some embarrassment in the means of spending your time more to your satisfaction, but as Genl Floyd owes your Estate largely, and as he has the Funds I know he would feel pleasure in honouring any draft you might give on him adequate to your wants." Asks that if Henrietta decides to spend the winter in Virginia and Maria wants to return to Kentucky, that she be here by Tuesday or Wednesday.

Sends this letter by Ned Freeman. Left Smithfield last Saturday "after an unsuccessful effort at the object of my journey." "When I arrived at Thorn Spring I was so bruised and cramped with the small saddle and hard days ride that I could scarcely get to the house or walk for three days after, but Dr. Watson happened to come down and after a copious bleeding &c, with good rest I got restored. I find that Dr. Nat Floyd of Lynchburgh has the money for the purchase of the whole tract but that he is unwilling to jeopardise his title as purchasee by getting it before a decree from the court of chancery will authorize its legal sale and I discover we can not in the present state of our affairs sell our own shares to anyone until that is effected. I have therefore written to Genl Smyth who is the best lawyer in this district to know what is his opinion with regard to our claims, and what steps are necessary for us to pursue to get the decree we wish in May. I also hear that Robinson Peyton and Adair are all willing to buy but that the land would be so hacked up by such a division that it would sell for very little. I suppose N. Floyd would purchase the whole or none. . . ." Dr. Floyd is in Rockbridge. Discusses methods of having some painting done. Plans to write to Col. McDowell and has written to Gen. Breckinridge "whose influence with the chancellor is uncounted." Should Uncle G[eorge Hancock] bring any papers for her during the week, please send them by W. Griffin, as they are much wanted.

Apologizes for not having answered Col. Woolley's letter about Mrs. Preston's business earlier, but the letter has been mislaid. Says he was employed by Gen. and Maj. Preston to prosecute two suits; one against Luckett and one against Campbell's heirs. The Luckett case was decided favorably in the Federal Court while the suit against Campbell is still unsettled and probably will be lost. Agrees to take Mrs. Preston's cases, except the one with Gen. Francis Preston. Hopes the case with Francis Preston can be settled without an appeal to law. Understands Col. Woolley's brother will return to Lexington in May to settle permanently. Both Mr. Woolley and Wickliffe's daughter were in poor health when they left Kentucky. Asks to be remembered to Mrs. Woolley.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received Mrs. Preston's letter of April 5 and will be unable to attend the meeting at Smithfield this spring; told this to Gen. Preston when he was in Kentucky. His daughter, Louisiana, will visit in May. His sons are "much engaged in farming, raising Hemp the principal object, which we intend to water rot for the eastern Market where it will command a good price." Recalls that Maj. Preston bought empty porter bottles very cheaply from the Steam Boats and hopes Mrs. Preston can buy a half gross of them for him to use to bottle cider. Had a gross of Pittsburg bottles but they have been used. Asks that the bottles be packed in a Salt barrel and he can get them by the wagon.

ALS, 3 pp.

Only a few days ago wrote a long letter to both Mrs. Pope and mother, but she did not expect the letter to arrive before Mrs. Preston's departure. Nassau's departure was an unexpected event and caused much inconvenience, but the Col. [Woolley] has hired a hostler for a month who also serves as coachman. The truck with Caroline's things and my linen arrived yesterday. Describes her wardrobe and need to add to it. Both she and Joe [Josephine Preston] are eager to get home. "No opportunity has offered of our going home or I should certainly have been with you ere this; as I think it is necessary for me to endeavor to make some arrangements, by which I can have a prospect of future comfort and if possible independence. At least I begin to feel as everyone else naturally does after they come to any reflection, that it is necessary I should at least know what I have to depend on, and what my prospects in life are most apt to be." Wants very much to spend the summer with Maria and her mother as it may be the last summer they can all be together. Discusses Joe's beaux and says Capt. Harney is in love with her, but has gone to Green Bay. Capt. Riley is still here and Major Fowle has arrived with the 5th Regiment. There have been several dancing parties; Capt. Riley gave two and Mr. Johnston and Perkins gave one, Mr. Hooe and Van Buren another and James Kennerly one. "I assure you the ladies from the outposts can keep me in countenance. But we have one or two Pennsylvania belles, and some Louisville gals and Missouri damsels to shame our lack of splendour." Is sorry that William Hurst is displeased that she has not written, but she and Joe have decided it is improper to write to any young man not a relative. Joe will not answer Mr. Bullen's letter. Asks to be remembered to Joe Bush. William Griffin wrote from Norfolk and expects to be at sea shortly. Has written asking Grandmama to come out with Mama; would be so glad to have her at Middletown this summer. Hopes her mother will write her business letters to Col. Woolley as he wants to read her letters to Henrietta and she does not like to show them to him. Urges Maria to sell Saladin as she needs money. Sends love to her mother and to Sue and William but hopes that one is in Virginia and the other at Augusta College by this time. "Are you as much of a Jacksonite as ever? I begin to waver in my politics."

1828 May [ --]. H[enrietta] Preston, Jefferson Barracks, [Mo.] to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, Ky.

Mr. DeFerier has informed her that her mother is ill and she asks for information. Introduces
Mr. Slaughter, a cousin of the Poet, to her sister.
Josephine received Maria's letter by Mr. B—-— and Henrietta agrees he is a worthy young man. Is glad Maria and Sue are living with Mrs. Matthews and asks when they can meet their mother and all go on to Middletown. She and Josephine are enjoying Jefferson Barracks and Caroline's house. Discusses personal and family matters; mentions: Dr. Sale, Dr. Harney, Mrs. Lee and Mr. Furman of South Carolina.

1828 June 2. [Caroline H. Preston], Wythe Court House, [Va.] to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Discusses local news and her Virginia land transactions. Describes her trip from Louisville to Virginia; took the packet to Cincinnati where the Attilanta and the packet raced all night; proceeded by land to Virginia. George Hancock has bought a fine carriage and will soon send it to Fredericksburg to pick up Mrs. Jesup. Describes Eliza [Hancock's] new wardrobe from New York. Discusses household problems and business affairs. Is upset over the business with the insurance company and feels afraid to trust anyone. Mentions: Mr. Taylor, Harol Smyth, Charles Johnston, Gen. Smith, Gen. Preston, Gen. Floyd, James Preston, Mrs. Floyd, Aunt Madison, Mrs. Peyton, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Gains Bakewell, Eliza Page, Bob Ormsby, Mr. Lanyon, Mr. Pott, Gen. Breckinridge, Sally Snelson, James Wilson, Uncle Kenerly, Gen. Jesup, Mr. Edminster, Henrietta Preston, Mrs. Woodville, Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Buckner, Mr. Bullin, Susan Preston, Mr. Guthrey, Mrs. Chambers, Maj. Estill, William Hurst, John Morton and Mrs. Misner.

1828 June 18. [Caroline H. Preston], Fotheringay, [Va.] to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Received Maria's letter of May 30. Discusses things that need attending to in Kentucky—planting and putting up of pickles; tells of her business activities in Virginia relating to the sale of land. Asks Maria to attend to various business matters and to turn to Gen. Breckinridge and Garnet Duncan for help should she need it. Refers to various financial transactions and notes to be paid or collected. Asked Simon Buckner to help collect one so that Maria might buy a barrell of brown sugar and pay for Susan's and William's schooling. Mentions other business to be attended to. Mentions: Mr. Smyth, Col. Woolley, Henrietta Preston, Mr. Tuler, Mr. Spicer and Mrs. Misner.

AL, 4 pp.

1828 June 27. [Caroline H. Preston], Fotheringay, [Va.] to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Urges Maria to write and to move to the Middletown farm for the sake of her health and to escape the approaching diseases. Promises to let Maria have Ned and the carriage for a trip to Bardstown if she will move to Middletown. Lists the household chores to be attended to and tells Maria to buy 10 or 15 lbs. of raw cotton for Sally to spin into a chain so that Mrs. Preston can weave a carpet since the tax on carpeting has greatly increased their cost. Discusses her brother, George Hancock's, problem with several slaves. Describes Eliza [Hancock's] new carriage. George Hancock sold his turnpike to Major Edmundston. Discusses land business, local news and hopes Henrietta will return to Louisville soon. Gives details of her impending sale of land and expects 7 or 8 thousand dollars for it or $15,000 if it is divided. Feels that if the land sale is not soon concluded, they will have to take her to the lunatic hospital in Williamsburg. Mentions: Susan, Josephine and William Preston, Dr. Galt, Andrew Lewis, Grandmother Lockhart, Mrs. Linkinorger (?), Mrs. Mays, Mary Brown, Mrs. Offut, William Griffin of Norfolk, Col. Woolley, Dr. Faould, Mrs. Floyd, Howard Preston and Mr. Smyth.

[1828] Sept. 18. [Mrs. Caroline Hancock Preston], Fotheringay, [Va.] to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Received her letter of August 9 and one from Mr. Duncan with the power of attorney; they arrived after the sale of the land on 12 August at Wythe Court-house to the highest bidder. David Cloyd and James Kent bought the land for $9000; they will give a draft from the United States Bank in Richmond on the United States Bank in Louisville. Will not be able to leave before October 20, "the deeds will then be made for the land and I expect there will be a division of old Col. Prestons estate, there will be 80 Negroes--which will have to be divided among the Legatees and $7000 that is in the hands of Frank Smith besides several tracts of undivided lands." Has made six trips to Wythe, but has been able to get only $90 "including the rents of 9 years and Bonds to the amount of $1100" from Robinson. Has passed receipts with him "after giving up all the rents due for the last 2 years to Howard Peyton he still had me in his debt $45 which I have given my Note for. Brother says he will take it up at the sale of his property and I will repay him in Kentucky." Is uneasy about her debt to the Insurance Company which is due the last of October. Wrote two letters to Garnet Duncan and two to Mr. Guthrie and directed Garnet Duncan to send the amount of the debt and she could let them draw the money out of the Bank at Richmond. Asks Mrs. Pope to help with this transaction. Feels she has nothing to fear from Mr. Guthrie but does not know whether Mr. Pope might not think fit again to push this business. Wonders what pickles and preserves Mrs. Pope has made during her absence and asks whether "you ever got the refuse wool for the matrasses from the machine." This could be mixed with the hair in the garret for fine matresses. Also wants to know whether any knitting has been done. Wants 5 or 6 lbs. of fine wool to be gotten for Sally to spin for stockings for Susan, William and myself; also wants shoes made. Asks about the wood hauling. Tell "Joe I rely on his giving a strate account of his work and making some arrangements with good customers while the weather is good this fall. . . . Mr. Hul, Mrs. Bradstreet, Mr. Chamberlain at the corner, Mr. Hall, Mr. Coy the Blacksmith and Mrs. Kenedy are to be supplyed." Wants Joe to find out what wood W. D. Payn will want this winter. Worries about Susan's progress. Has not heard from Caroline since July. Gives more instructions for business to be attended to. "I see in the Focus there is letters in the office for Mrs. M P Pope and for Miss H Preston--do have them taken out or they will go on to the general post office. Forward Henrietta's to St Louis to her."

AL, 4 pp.

Mother wrote Caroline on September 25 that she does not expect to leave Virginia until after the 20th of this month. Is glad to know that mother is closing her business in Virginia peaceably and "that with a little prudence we may so soon be rid of our difficulties. Henrietta is eager to get home. Doesn't wish to leave Caroline until she is able to go; Col. W[oolley] ascribes part of her wish to my influence, justly. Col. Woolley was upset by Josephine's arrangement and since Henrietta still owes him for her passage she cannot apply to him. He is much pushed for money by his Pittsburgh debts. "Besides that, I suppose you know Mr. [Albert S.] Johnston is nothing of a favorite with his intended Brother-in-law. Less so now than even when Joe was here. Col. W[oolley] very justly, though unintentionally said to me, that Mr. J[ohnston] could not do for a staff appointment, because, he had an independence and elevation of character and a pride of port, that was unsuited to his low rank in the army.
I told him he might not like what was unsuited to his feelings, but if Mr. Johnston were less so, he would not suit mine—for I believed as an officer of any grade in the service of his country, he was entitled to as much dignity of demeanor as he pleased to observe it, as a Field Marshall and that what was termed arrogance was quite fascinating to me. Did I not sauce him good. . . . I hope dear sister that you will like Johns[ton] he means to love you dearly he says & Mamma too. But I think Joe has fitted herself snugly in one of the warmest places in his heart. He is always sending you messages that I cant take time to write. John Louis Pope is a fine fellow. Carry thinks him like you but I do not. He looks Woolley." Hopes to go home on the next trip of the Galena Packet, if possible; Caroline will then be able to travel.

ALS, 3 pp.

Hopes Maria will write regularly to her. Tells of Maj. R[ogers] and his promotion. Discusses affairs at the post and tells of her husband, Albert Sidney Johnston's, activities. Describes her housekeeping plans. Mentions: Mrs. Caroline H. Preston, Josephine Preston, Caroline and William Preston, Mr. Baker, Miss Atkinson, Aunt Clark, Mary [Clark], Mrs. Cropman, Preacher Bascom, Mr. Buchanan and Mrs. Thompson.

ALS, 3 pp.

Expresses deep appreciation for Maria's expression of sympathy to him during his stay in Louisville. Plans to write to Mrs. Caroline Preston at Fotheringay upon his arrival in Washington proposing that he meet her and return with her to Louisville. If he is unable to return with Mrs. Preston, he will leave the steam boat at Maysville and take the stage to Lexington. Discusses his plans for Henry and Samuel and gives instructions for the care of his son John. Asks to be remembered to Col. and Mrs. Chambers and sends his kind remembrances to Locust Grove.

ALS, 3 pp.

Discusses financial business; plans to return to Kentucky day after tomorrow through Giles to try to dispose of her Cole River land. Hopes managing the family has not been too much trouble for Maria. Mentions: Gen. Breckinridge, Mr. Patton, Mr. Guthrey, Mr. Coleman and Josephine, Henrietta, William and Susan Preston.

Arrived in Washington on Saturday, May 30. Saw Gen. Jackson Sunday evening at Col. Bonferds. Believes there is a prospect that justice will be done, "so far as it is in the power at this late period to repair my wrongs." Hopes to hear from Mrs. Caroline Preston, whom he has written at Fotheringay and Fincastle. Mentions: Gen. and Mrs. Jesup, Col. and Mrs. Bomferd, Gen. Macomb, Mr. Ingham, Mr. Eaton, Henry and Samuel Woolley, Col. and Mrs. Chambers, and Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby.

ALS, 3 pp.

Thanks Henrietta for the present she sent and informs her of Judge and Mrs. Johnston's visit. Mr. Forest is in Louisville and the Theatre will be open for a fortnight; he played William Tell last night and Rolla tonight. Mrs. Crocker, a widow, hopes to get a school together in St. Louis to teach painting on velvet and Maria hopes Henrietta will help her get students; the lessons last 2 hours and consist of 20 lessons at 6 dollars a lesson. Mrs. Crocker is highly recommended and came from Boston. In Louisville, her students included the Prathers, Pearces, Mrs. E. Cosby, A. Croghan and Maria Pope. Everyone is busy preserving now. William Hurst will marry Susan Preston of Greenfield next fall. Mentions: William Preston, Mr. Lewis, Lt. Marras, Mr. Livingston of Louisiana, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Farrar and Josephine Preston.

1829 July 17. A. R. Woolley, St. Louis, [Mo.] to Mrs. Maria Pope.

Has not heard from Washington and has "almost concluded that I am to be denied Justice by the Executor." As a last resort, he will, if necessary, appeal to Congress. Wishes to bring action for damages against Atkinson, Cluick (?) and others. Plans to take Caroline to Illinois and Indiana on the way to Pittsburgh and stop off for a visit in Middletown for 10 or 15 days. They will spend the winter in Washington. Josephine will travel with them.

ALS, 3 pp.

Imagines Mrs. Pope's patience is exhausted. Has been trying to get her things sent to her. She took them to Mr. Reding's, but his house and shop burned down, but Mrs. Pope's things were saved. Another man did the work, but she is not pleased with it. Has sent two paint saucers, but could not find the figures Mrs. Pope wished. Has found a place to live and acquired some household goods, but has no work yet. Hopes to be married. Urges Mrs. Pope to write. Mr. Waldo, the Universalist preacher, boards with her. Her brother wants her to sell her house and come to Buffalo, but she has not decided. Thanks Mrs. Pope for her friendship.

ALS, 4 pp.
   Informs Mrs. Pope that Amelia's mother has married Mr. Martin of Cincinnati. Amelia still attends Mr. Picket's school.
   ALS, 1 p.

   Nathaniel, Jr. is coming to Louisville to sell some cattle. Brings to Mrs. Preston's attention an old debt of her husband's to be settled and is willing to take a lot in Louisville as payment, since he has an idea "of engaging in the business of Butchering in Louisville." Encloses a copy of Maj. William Preston's statement of indebtedness to Hart; this account runs from 1801-1818.
   ALS, 3 pp.

   Addresses his sons Samuel and Henry, whom he reproves for leaving their uncle's. He would have come to Louisville, but for his business, which requires that he stay until September 1. Mrs. Woolley finds Pittsburg unhealthy, so they will not live there; they plan to remove to St. Louis in October. The boys will have to remain in Middletown until then. Discusses the boys' education and says he will try to set Samuel up as a merchant and will educate Henry. Samuel refused to study and will be given no further education. Mentions Mr. Wurts and Mr. Forsyth.

ALS, 3 pp.

Was pleased to hear from Caroline and to know that little Will was improving so fast. Apologizes for her delay in answering, but her time is much occupied. "I wish exceedingly you wair all at Middletown it looks so comfortable and neat we have an excelent spring house and mamma is going on to make some repairs on the house. . . . Mr. Johnston is more than anxious to get his Wifes share [of the family property] and went to Gen. Breckinridge to see if he had any objection, as mamma feared the securities would not be willing, but the old Gentleman sayed he had not, and advised it should take place as soon as possible. As that was the only obstacle Mamma saw to impede it, of corse she consented and we have concluded that 3 commissioners would be better than 6 as it would save expence and answer every perpos. Henrietta and Josephine have decided to appoint one, Mamma another for William & Susana, & you & myself the third." Believes Garnet Duncan would be a good choice. Asks for Caroline's opinions on this arrangement. If Col. Woolley prefers the Middletown farm to that near St. Louis, Mr. Johnston has no objection to its going in as part of his share. Urges her to choose a trustee other than Mr. Forsythe. Has prevailed on her mother not to see Forsythe or Mr. Worts about Sam until we hear from his father. Discusses the deficiencies in Sam's education in relation to entering a counting house. Both Henry and Sam are doing well for the present. Col. Woolley was right in his judgment as to the boys letter to him about their uncle's conduct. Sophy Oldham died last Thursday of a bilious fever and left a 2 months old baby.

ALS, 3 pp.

[ca. 1830.] Henrietta Johnston, [Jefferson Barracks, Mo.] to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, [Ky.].

Has hoped to hear from Maria, but Mother's letter "mentioning the death of our dear little nephew explains your silence." Josephine and Mr. and Mrs. Johnston have spent several days with Aunt Clark. Hopes Maria will visit them. She is eager to have Josephine [Preston] stay with them, but feels the responsibility is too great and "cannot therefore ask her to remain after the urgency with which Mamma writes for her return. . . . Some persons are of opinion that the remainder of this regiment will be removed to the Little Platte this autumn." Mr. Johnston "says he is desirous of astonishing you with his improvement in drawing from nature. he sends you a sketch of the Illinois Orator and hopes you will shade it and finish it to your own taste." Mr. Johnston sends a pair of moccasins to Mrs. Pope. The Johnstons will miss Josephine's company. Asks to hear about the latest fashions. Mentions: various family members and Col. Morgan.

ALS, 3 pp.

Apologizes for not writing sooner. Supposes that his uncle, to whom he has written by every opportunity, has informed her of his travels and experiences. Compliments South American women profusely. Asks Mrs. Pope to exercise her "taste in selecting some pretty Kentuckian who would like a Sailor." Asks to be remembered to his cousins the Johnstons and Josephine Preston. Uncle writes that John is at Augusta College and supposes that William is with him. Sent Aunt E. drawings of the costumes of Peru. Sends regards to his friends at Louisville and Locust Grove and his little sister. Expresses great interest in his sister's welfare. Sails for Callao tomorrow. Asks to be excused for the haste in writing this letter and for his poor spelling, "you know I was not famous for it at Fotheringay."

ALS, 3 pp.

Received Mrs. Pope's letter of December 14. Discusses her visit to Louisville. Tells of social activities and an entertainment held for the poor. Mentions: Mr. Duke, Mr. Levy of New York, Mrs. Benham, Mr. Bateman, Miss M. Phillips, Mr. Lindley, Mr. Hill, the Bullitts, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Gray.

ALS, 3 pp.

1831 March 20. W. C. P. Griffin, U. S. Ship St. Louis, Callao, Roads to George Hancock, Louisville, Kentucky.

His ship arrived here from Valparaiso about three weeks ago and the Guerriere sailed for Valparaiso a few days ago. Talks of the band, balls and plays given by the Guerriere and its crew. Particularly mentions Capt. Smith's encouragement of the ship's theatre and the play "Tragedy of Arnolds Treason" by John Comstock.
All the elegant people of Lima are now in Callao for the bathing season. Describes in detail a bull fight he recently saw in Lima. States, "you have no idea of the depraved state of morals and ignorant situation of the lower class of beings in this country. . . ." Discusses the character of the people. Has just heard that the British Frigate Thetis was sunk 10 days out of Rio Janeiro with $1,500,000 on board. The first lieutenant of Griffin's ship, Mr. Fitzhugh of Virginia, has just been given the command of the schooner Dolphin and Griffin expects to join his crew. Secretary Branch has just given them a new uniform. Asks to be remembered to Grandma, Aunt E[liza], Mrs. Croghan and Charles, and Aunt Preston and the Louisville cousins. Hopes brother John is doing well at Augusta and that little sister is in a good school. If his ship returns by Cape Horn, he expects to be in the United States in 8 months, if by India it will take 12 or 14 months.

ALS, 5 pp.

Received Mrs. Woolley's letter yesterday. Hopes that Mr. Woolley has returned by this time. Has been quite indisposed until the last week. Discusses her health and housekeeping activities. Wishes to see Mrs. Woolley's children, William and Mary. Asks about Eliza Griffin. Describes the illnesses of various people. Mr. Drayton has been to Washington and expects to leave next Sunday; she will write to mama by him and would also then write her sister Caroline but her husband urged her to write by this mail. Tells Caroline not to worry about Col. Woolley's debt, as she is not concerned by it and can wait until Col. Woolley's return for it to be settled. Asks that her music book be sent to her. Asks how Maria likes New Orleans and is sure she will be pleased there by Cousin Catharine. Feels sure that Maria will see her friend Mr. Bush in New Orleans. States that although they have been married four months now, she and Mr. Rogers have not quarrelled yet. Wishes she could see William before he goes to college, but she and Capt. Rogers plan to visit in the north and may see him in New Haven. Rogers' family has been very kind and she is eager to meet them and know them better. Hopes to see Mary Kearny before she leaves here. Mrs. McKee is going to Prairie du Chien and her husband has been promoted to Captain. Mrs. Hutter will be in Louisville in May. Asks if Rachel Walker is with Maria and says she was not at all astonished to hear of Rachel's father killing himself.
1832 March 8. William Griffin, Brooklyn, [N. Y.] to Master John S. Griffin, care of George Hancock, Louisville, Ky.

Received the letter from John and Grandma. Urges John to apply himself to his studies, for the only hope of passing for a gentleman is to have the education of one, and never to swear. William has suggested to his uncle, that instead of putting John in a store, he obtain a Lt.'s commission in the Marine Corps for him when he is eighteen. William has received orders from the Secretary to hold himself in readiness for sea service. In the meantime he enjoys the company of ladies and goes occasionally to the theatre to hear Mrs. Austin; wishes John could go with him, but supposes there is a theatre in Louisville. Asks John to tell Mr. Preston to call on him at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn on his way to Yale. Urges John to write and asks to be remembered to Grandmother, uncle, aunt, all his friends at Locust Grove and to Aunt P. and his Louisville cousins.

ALS, 3 pp.

Received his cousin, Mrs. Preston's, letter of April 5 and promises to help Lt. Albert S. Johnston and his wife in every way possible. Comments on Johnston's moral character and how fortunate a husband he is for Henrietta Preston. Mrs. Gaines is in Nashville and will return in the fall. The Gaines look forward to Mrs. Preston's visit. Mentions Lt. Lowndes and Lt. Butler.

ALS, 3 pp.

1832 April 19. S. W. Kerrny, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. S. R. McKay, Montreal.

Introduces Mrs. Pope, a friend and relation of Kerrny's wife to Susan McKay.

ALS, 1 p.

Apologizes for not writing sooner. On her way to Jefferson Barracks, her boat caught fire. Shortly after her return home, her mother learned of Mrs. Johnston's illness and "determined to go on and remain in Missouri until the detachment of troops now against the Indians return as my brothers in law are both on that expedition." Urges her cousin to spend a few months visiting her this summer. Mentions recent visits to Louisville by Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Honnen and John Floyd. Mr. Morse says Louisa Bullit will announce her engagement. Miss Fanny and Mr. Liverich should now be married. Mentions: Mr. Kaufman, Miss Rowan, Mr. and Mrs. Layton and little Frank Preston.

ALS, 3 pp.

1832 May [--]. [William] Preston, Bardstown, [Ky.] to Mrs. Maria Pope.

Introduces Dr. Harrison of Bardstown and requests that "my cloths" be sent up by the next mail. Tell John Floyd that Edward Preston is well. Regards to Sue and Sister Carry.

ANS, 1 p.

Hopes to visit Louisville August 1. Provides chatty news of the activities of family and friends. Enquires whether Josephine feels uneasy about the Indians. Mentions: Josephine Preston, Mrs. Benton of Missouri, Mr. Dick, Cuthbert and Eliza Bullitt, Mr. Hope, Mr. Worthington and Mrs. Caroline H. Preston.

ALS, 3 pp.

Ann Hewes married Gov. Pointdexter, who is much older than she, but learned. Mrs. Nisbet has a son born June 1st. Mrs. Palfrey has gone North. Fanny is ill. Mentions: Josephine Preston, Mr. Worthington and Charles Leverich.

ALS, 2 pp.

1832 Oct. 27. William Preston, Bardstown, [Ky.] to Mrs. Maria Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Enjoyed his sister's letter and is happy to know she will help him with his difficulty. The amount he owes is $480. Asks that this letter be burnt after it is read.

ALS, 2 pp.

Mr. Drayton will call when he is in Louisville and "tell you all about my Billy Boy [William Preston Johnston]. Wrote Mrs. Pope a long letter before Gen. Atkinson went on. Hoped from what Maj. Phillips said that she would visit, "but when Josephine heard that it depended on her going with you to N. Orleans she said that she candidly answered you she would not, as Capt R[ogers] could not get a furlough." Sees much of Josephine. Was told the Count could not get farther from Maria than Cincinnati. Wants to hear what Maria did with her English beau, Mr. Ainslie. Has Louisa Bullitt any admirers? Wants a plain bonnet sent to her by Col. Taylor and send me a cake like you sent Joe.
Maj. Riley and Mr. Drayton took a late supper with her; asks to be remembered to Grandma [Hancock], Carry and Col. Woolley. Mrs. Benton asks kindly after Maria.
Expect Rachel will soon have a child "but am well supplied with hired servants at an enormous price though. I think Josephine's woman a fine bargain. I wish I could make such an one." Mentions Mary Kearney and Mrs. Mcfee.

ALS, 2 pp.

1832 Nov. 26. B. Riley, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. M[aria]
P[reston] Pope.

Sends best wishes to Mrs. Pope on her illness. Is getting ready to attend a party and would not go had the promise not been made to attend.

ALS, 1 p.
1832 Nov. 27. B. Riley, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. M[aria] P. Pope.

Orders compel him to leave town tomorrow, but wants to see Mrs. Pope before he leaves.

ALS, 1 p.

Wrote by the last mail requesting Maria to get her a bonnet and send it on by Mrs. A who arrived yesterday. Supposes she will order a bonnet by the time this letter arrives. Wants one like Josephine's. Little Henny [Henrietta Johnston] is teething rapidly. Plans to give the blue frock Maria sent William to Henny since Joe braided one for him. Hopes to bring her children to see Maria for a few weeks this spring. Thanks her for the trouble she has taken. Maj. Riley will mail this letter in town. Joe is recovering and will go home as soon as he feels well enough. Will send the money for the bonnet on by him. "Put it [the bonnet] in a small board box and address it 'to A S Johnston, To the care of Hill and McGonnigle St Louis, Mo' and it will come safe on any of the St Louis boats. Col. Woolley will tell you which Boat to send it on." Is glad Caroline is recovering from the shock of her dear babes death.

ALS, 2 pp.

Mrs. Drake consented to act four nights; "the theatre with the exception of a few ladies, has become very fashionable." A masquerade ball was given on the 22nd at the Vaux Hall Gardens. Local news and gossip. Mentions: Messrs. Hill, Moffitt, Bascom, Cooke, Cooper, Miss Talbott, Col. Woolley, Gen. and Mrs. Breckinridge, John Rowan and Peter Grayson.

ALS, 4 pp.

Introduces the bearer of her letter, Dr. Minis of the U. S. Army. Comments disparagingly of Maj. Phillips. Assumes Maria will have returned from Nashville by this time and understands that cholera is ravaging Nashville. Urges Maria to write as the only news she has of her Louisville friends comes from E. Hobbs. Col. Benton tells her their cousin Letty Wallace will be Mrs. Pope's neighbor. Col. Benton will go to Virginia in 2 or 3 weeks. Hopes Maria will visit after Henrietta's accouchement. Asks that the enclosed letter be given to William Preston. The cholera is in St. Louis now. Mentions: Mr. Ward, Maj. Kearney, MR. CROSSMAN, GEN. ATKINSON, COL. BAKER, JOSEPHINE PRESTON, HENRIETTA, WILLIAM AND HANCOCK JOHNSTON, WILLIAM GRIFFIN AND CAPT. HOLMES.

JOSEPHINE PRESTON ROGERS HAD A BABY GIRL JULY 29 WHOM SHE HAS NAMED CAROLINE PRESTON. DISCUSSES FAMILY NEWS. "COL. BENTON TELLS ME THAT ARTHUR WALLACE IS GOING TO BUY A SUMMER RESIDENCE NEAR LOUISVILLE. HE SPEAKS OF GETTING WARDS PLACE FOR WHICH HE CAN OFFER $30,000. PRETTY WELL I SAY FOR LETTY." MENTIONS: CAPT. ROGERS, WILLIAM AND HENRIETTA JOHNSTON, MRS. BULLITT, GEORGE HANCOCK, H. AND WILL GRIFFIN AND COUSIN HANCOCK.

ALS, 3 pp.

[1833?] AUG. 23. HENRIETTA [PRESTON] JOHNSTON, JEFFERSON BARRACKS, [MO.] TO MRS. MARIA PRESTON POPE, LOUISVILLE, KY.

MR. JOHNSTON RETURNED HOME THREE DAYS AGO AFTER ABOUT FOUR WEEKS. "HE HAD A TEDIOUS JOURNEY IN THE BOAT AND WAS ONLY ONE DAY AT CANTONMENT LEAVENWORTH. THEY BROUGHT BACK 11 INDIANS WHO CAME VOLUNTARILY ON A VISIT TO THE RED-HEAD. GENL. LEAVENWORTH GAVE THEM A pow-wow speech which was just in the papers. He held a council up the river and they are to have a talk with uncle. . . ." Meant to send Maria a pair of real Indian moccasins. Joe is well. Rachel has had a severe illness; she is in no danger but very weak. Is eager to hear from Caroline; Col. Woolley promised to write from Vincennes. Is going to Aunt Clark's to preserve some peaches. Thanks Maria for the preserves and yellow pickles she made. Hopes Maria will visit them.
Perhaps Col. Morgan may be here.

ALS, 2 pp.

1833 Sept. 26. Cuthbert Bullitt, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. Maria P. Pope, Louisville, [Ky.].

Regrets to tell Mrs. Pope that he has been the cause of much displeasure to his father-in-law by violating his instructions in disposing of the girl, Rose.
According to an understanding with Mr. Booth, Col.
White was to keep Rose, her mother and her two brothers. Asks Mrs. Pope, therefore, to please return Rose and cancel the bill of sale. If Mrs. Pope wishes the girl to have her husband, he asks her to name the price and Mr. Bullitt will buy him.

ALS, 1 p.
1833 Sept. 27. Cuthbert Bullitt, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. Maria P. Pope, Louisville.

Received Mrs. Pope's note yesterday and showed it to Col. White. They were disappointed at Mrs. Pope's refusal to deliver up the slave Rose. Mr. Bullitt hopes that Mrs. Pope will change her mind and turn Rose over to him. Promises to bind himself to take Rose in his own family so that her husband may have the opportunity of seeing her.

ALS, 1 p.

Received Mrs. Pope's letter of September 28 regarding the slave Rose and finds "that consistent with my obligations to Mr. Booth, I cannot consent to the sale made to you by Mr. Bullitt." Mr. Bullitt had no authority to sell her and told Mrs. Pope so, and White regrets that Mrs. Pope has sent Rose out of the state. Asks that the slave be delivered to him or else Mrs. Pope will be accountable "for the ultimate delivery of the said slave Rose and all losses & damages I may sustain in the pursuit of my legal rights as well as her Wages at the rate of Ten Dollars per month . . . while you illegally withhold her from my service."

ALS, 1 p.

Request the pleasure of Mrs. Pope's company at 5:00 Thursday evening.

Wonders whether Mrs. Pope received his letter of a month ago and hopes she will write. Leaves today for Vicksburg until April 1st and then will start up the river by way of Jefferson Barracks. Asks that Mrs. Pope tell Mr. Johnston not to bring his wife to Natchez as it has rained all but two days for the past 5 weeks.

ALS, 1 p.

1834 April 10. Albert S[idney] Johnston, Orleans to "dear mother."

Our sister Mrs. J[osiah] S[toddard] Johnston leaves the city for Philadelphia this morning and will give you this letter. Henrietta promises to stay with you should she be delayed at Louisville. Johnston and Henrietta left his brother's Saturday with Mrs. J. S. Johnston. They are now at Dr. Davidson's since Henrietta has been stricken with dysentery. Discusses his wife's health and her disappointment at not hearing a word from Kentucky since their departure. Asks to be remembered to Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Woolley and Susan H.

ALS, 1 p.

Saw Miss Kemble every night she played in New York and was "not at all disappointed indeed she far exceeded our expectations, after she left we had Mr. and Mrs. Wood and were delighted." Spent two days at West Point. Saw Susan in Philadelphia and Mrs. J. Johnston, whom they hope will in time be more reconciled to the place and the separation from M---. William Radford is stationed there. Cousin Sophy has invited them to spend a few days with her. Asks to be remembered to the Rowans and "to our dear friend Knox who I presume has left you before this. . . . " Mentions Lewis and Abby, and Mr. Bush.

ALS, 3 pp.

Pleased that Mrs. Johnston's health is improved after her visit to New Orleans. Sends news of the Johnston children. Describes her trip home and the health of her own children. If Mrs. Preston agrees, she would like to take Susan to New Haven at commencement time in August. Likes Philadelphia and wishes "destiny had placed me here and not on the Red River." Sends regards to Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Pope. Mentions: Mrs. Jesup, Mrs. Chroghan and Mr. Brown.

ALS, 3 pp.

Introduces Don Costello of the Havana and asks that Mrs. Pope extend every courtesy to him.

ALS, 1 p.

Writes her cousin that she has not been well since she left Louisville. Rachel Lewis was taken to Frankfort and Mira has taken her as a boarder. Miss and Mrs. Campbell promise to pay attention to her and she sleeps with Mrs. Marshall's daughter Agatha who will help her with her studies. Has heard there was a wedding in Louisville where eleven persons died from poison and that cholera has broken out in the city and many people have died, including Mr. Anderson, son-in-law of Mr. Martin. Does not believe these things but would like to hear from Mrs. Pope. Asks that her son Thomas write her. Asks about Henrietta Johnston and Mr. Johnson and Caroline. Dr. [Louis] Marshall will be home by July 4. Hopes that Henrietta can see him and that she will be able to travel to the mountains and the Virginia springs for her health. Sends regards to Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Woolley and the children; asks about William and Susan Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

Has not heard from the family during the ten weeks since she left Louisville. Heard from Mr. Williams, who saw Mr. Johnston in St. Louis, of Henrietta's return and of the improvement in her health. Is so far pleased with the North, but the climate is changeable and she would not wish to remain for the winter. The "country around Boston is more beautifully improved than any place I have ever seen." Tells of her daughter Caroline and Cary. Mentions William P. Johnston. Has heard from Susan Preston in Philadelphia and says of her, "I do not know that the school will do her much good but 'twill be an advantage certainly to get from Louisville the young ladies there are so forward and imprudent." Visited relatives in New York, who treated her well. William wrote that uncle was to marry Miss Davidson. Sent a coloured silk dress to Maria by Mr. Wheeler who promised to hand it to her or leave it at Mr. Forsyth's store. Mentions: Capt. Brown, Capt. Rogers, Haris Johnston and Caroline [Woolley].

ALS, 3 pp.

Sends a book on fashionable amusements by a distinguished divine. Mitchell signs as agent for Mckendrean College.

ALS, 1 p.

Asks Mrs. Pope to send her a winter bonnet as soon as possible by Maj. Riley or Mrs. Atkinson. Mrs. Johnston is now in second mourning and it is not necessary that the bonnet be a costly one. Asks that her dresses be sent on, too, and requests the bill for the purchase of the bonnet. Joe has arrived at Jefferson Barracks; he was badly scalded but is recovering rapidly and expects to go to Louisville in a few days. All are well and Josephine is "as fat as a butter ball."
1835 Jan. 26. [ — ], Louisville, [Ky.] to [William Preston], [New Haven, Conn.].

Feels well enough recovered to answer William's letter of December. Expects great things of William during his life. Urges William to guard his health. Thought William might have spent the rest of the winter at home, but Mrs. Preston was opposed. William's mother is distressed about his lack of money and will try to raise the amount he named.

ALS, 2 pp. [Retained draft copy.]

Apologizes and explains her delay in writing. Discusses her family. Dr. Marshall has given a vacation of some weeks in his school. Mentions: Jose­phine, Henrietta, Mrs. Preston, William and Susan Marshall Preston.

ALS, 1 p.

1835 June 5. E. E. S. to Mrs. [Maria] Pope, at Mrs. Rogers.

Expresses joy that her letters have prevented Maria marrying "that proud, haughty upstart Mr. Cuddy." Discusses the man's character.

ALS, 1 p.

Arrived from Paducah after an absence of ten days and found Mrs. Pope's letter. Would enjoy accompanying Mrs. Pope and their aunt to the East, but fears the attitude of society towards this. Believes that the lady Mrs. Pope refers to would feel he was trying to convince her he loved her sight unseen and that others would think he was fortune-hunting. His business in St. Louis also requires his presence. For these reasons he must decline the trip. Sends his regards to the family.

ALS, 2 pp.

Asks Mrs. Pope to accept his gift of two boxes of champaigne [sic].

ALS, 1 p.

[1835] June [--]. [Mrs.] C. E. Duncan, Louisville to Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Ingersoll, New Haven, [Conn.].

Letter of introduction for Mrs. Maria P. Pope. Mrs. Duncan is anxious that Mrs. Pope form a favorable opinion of Eastern hospitality during her stay in New Haven. Mrs. Pope is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Preston, Mr. [Joseph] Bush, a portrait painter from Natchez, and a son of Gov. [William] Clark of St. Louis. Mrs. Pope is George Hancock's niece.

ANS, 1 p.

Has heard that Mrs. Pope planned to marry Mr. Cuddy. Tells Mrs. Pope that Cuddy is a foreigner, has a bad temper and gambled away a fortune and "nearly destroyed his Family by Horse racing, cock Fighting and gambling of every description." Describes further character faults and past deeds of Mr. Cuddy. He "lead the rabble in the new court and Jackson times to which his fierce and wicked spirit gave effect and force." Says he is Irish and Roman Catholic and has illegitimate children by a mistress, according to the writer's husband. "My regard for you makes me give you this information in order to avoid a second unfortunate match in your family."

ALS, 3 pp.

Introduces Mrs. Preston and her daughter Mrs. Pope of Louisville, who intend a short visit to Boston while visiting Mrs. Preston's son in New Haven.

ALS, 1 p.
1835 July 6. James Freeman Clarke, Louisville, [Ky.] to Mrs. R. P. Clarke, Newton, Mass. at Rev. Dr. Freeman's. Introduces Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Pope of Louisville and asks that they be introduced at Uncle McLellan's and that brother William show them Boston and its vicinity. Hopes to see his mother, Mrs. Clarke, during the summer or fall and sends regards to his grandparents.

ALS, 1 p.

Calls Caroline her favorite sister and tells her she misses her. "Mama had a public sale on friday last from which we calculated to obtain funds sufficient to extricate the estate from its few remaining imbaresments, but we wais defeated in it in the outset." Mrs. Preston halted the sale after a few lots were bid in and sold a few lots to Mr. Gelts who intends to improve them immediately, which will improve the value of the adjoining property. Mrs. Preston is having the Middletown house refitted and an addition of two rooms and a folding door added. The family are still in town, but the mosquitoes are so bad they will probably move up next week. Henrietta and Mr. Johnston are still with them and will remain for two months.
Mary Radford is to marry Mat Corny in October, and Mr. Clements is to marry Caroline Hale. "Jo Bush has taken my portrait over it looks as rachel says charming." Henry sends his love to his father. Worden Churchwell died in Lexington; all the Prather family are there. Mentions: Messrs. Swan, Ranals [Reynolds?], Langhorn and Forsyth.

ALS, 4 pp.

[ca. 1835.] Mrs. O. E. Duncan, [Louisville, Ky.] to Mr. Dennis Kimberly, New Haven, Conn.

Introduces Mrs. Pope as a "belle of our city . . . a particular friend of mine, and old sweet heart of my husband; and the niece of George Hancock. . . ." Asks Mr. Kimberly to see that she enjoys her visit in New Haven.

ANS, 1 p.

Wrote her mother a short letter last week telling her that she was in St. Louis and "that my good husband had left." Since then her son Preston has been sick but is now well. Understood that some of the family might come over with Lewis and Abby [Clark] so she will not leave until she hears from Capt. Rogers. Mr. Hobbs came to the garrison to see her Saturday and said there were "various rumours about you & a Methodist preacher, but I expected that when I left Louisville." Supposes Mr. Johnston has returned and hopes he and his children are well. Mentions: Sue [Preston], William [Preston] and Cary [Rogers]. Cousin Alzire (?) wants a bonnet handsome and well trimmed sent by Lewis Clark. Hopes her husband will be back in five or six weeks. Mr. Radford says Maria must ask him to her wedding.

ALS, 2 pp.

Has just found the enclosed letter I wrote a week ago in William's coat pocket and due to its length and the business it contains I have decided to send it on. Will send your brown dress and a fashionable cape by the first opportunity. Lewis Clark arrived here two days ago and brought books and splendid drawings with him; he promised to paint me two large ones to frame. He and mother left for Middletown immediately after breakfast. I fear Henrietta and Josephine have persuaded Mama until she will send my poor dear little Rachel to her relatives in spite of all I can do for they are violently opposed to her staying in the house except she be on an equality with Lucy and that she never shall be.

ALS, 1 p. [Torn.]

Asks Mrs. Pope and Miss Preston to write. Is progressing in her studies. Her brothers George and Andrew are going to Missouri to live. Mentions her brother William. Expresses gratitude to Mrs. Pope for her kindness and sends regards to Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Woolley, Capt. and Mrs. Rogers, Henrietta and William Johns[t]on, Mrs. Hancock, Helen and Caroline Davidson, and Sue and William Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

ALS, 1 p.

Caroline [Preston] Woolley gave birth to a baby boy on October 7; she named him Lewellen Powell, after the doctor. She has hired a young, healthy, clean Dutch woman as a wet nurse. Susan has had scarlet fever and Maria and Mrs. Rogers both caught it. Discusses other members of the family who were ill. Mr. Hobbs was married three weeks ago and has left for St. Louis with his bride, Fanny Henning and Miss Williamson. Alexander Churchill and Miss McKinley are to be married on the 20th; Miss Nichols on the 15th and Martha Pope and Charley will be married next week. Margaret Wickliffe paid Susan a visit with Robert. Mr. Page and Mary are to be married. Asks about Rachel and the school Mrs. Pope placed her in. Has not yet attended to Maria's affairs. Mentions: Capt. Rogers, Eliza Hassan, Mr. Hennessy, Dr. McDowell, Mrs. McDowell, Sarah McDowell and Dr. Wantyn.

ALS, 4 pp.

Caroline feels that she will not live long and wants to see Maria again before her life is over. Caroline's son was three months old on January 7. He was born on the day Hancock Griffin died. The day after he was born, Mrs. Didrick, a Dutchwoman, went to the house to nurse him. Caroline and Susan had arranged to go to Cuba, but the closing up of the river prevented it and the doctors advise her to give up the trip due to her condition; "she is thinner than my Dear Mother was and looks as much reduced as Henrietta in the last stage of her complaint." Mr. [James Freeman] Clark this morning baptised the child in the Unitarian Church; Dr. Powell and Mary Hancock stood for the child, who is named for Dr. Powell. All of Josephine's family had severe cases of scarlet fever, but have recovered. Henrietta and William [Johnston] are well and William Woolley looks very well. Mary Johnston does not look well and her mother is in the last stages of consumption and cannot last long. Dr. McDowell's family are well. Edward Hobbs married a niece of Mr. Tarlton's; William Speed married Miss Phillips; Abby Clark has a fine son. Old Mr. Kenerly arrived the day after William Preston left with his family; the Kenerlys left after two days and Mrs. Kenerly died 30 hours after they reached George Kenerlies. James Kenerly wrote this news. Betty Cotton has been here since Susan returned from Lexington. Mrs. Taylor's family are in the south; Mrs. Johnson and Addison have been back some time. Tell William how much he is needed in Kentucky. "The distress for money is such that nothing can be got. Many families have left the city in hopes of bettering their situation and many have run off without giving any notice of their intentions (there is twenty thousand less than there was two years since in the city. lots cannot be sold at any price or can property be rented."

1840 Jan. 20. S. H. Chambers, Louisville to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Washington City, D. C.

Mrs. Pope is missed by all her friends. "Mr. Guthrie is ensconced in all his dignity at the Capital this winter,—his daughter has made her debut, and is spending the winter there also." Discusses a ball given at the Exchange. "The times are so alarming about money matters that there are fewer parties than have been given for many years." Mrs. Woolley is in poor health and Josephine fears it is consumption. Asks about their "Revered friend in Augusta" and discusses him and his wife. Mentions Edward Hobb's bride. Discusses other local people. Knows Mrs. Pope has changed Rachel's school from New Haven to Georgetown. Mrs. Chamber's children are all well and Maria often speaks of Mrs. Pope. Mr. Chamber's still suffers from dyspepsia and talks of moving to the country. "I was glad to hear you were in Washington where you ought to be, instead of sticking yourself down in that Yankee village. . . . you must read Nicholas Nickleby if you want to be interested and amused." Mentions: Alfred Thruston, Mr. Trotter, Susan Preston, Miss Cotton [Colton?], Caroline Davidson, John Griffin, Capt. Rogers, Sarah McDowell, Miss Luckett, Miss S. Beall, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Addison.

1840 Feb. 27. Martha [ -- ], Shelbyville, Ky. to Miss Rachel Walker, Georgetown, D. C.

Has a daughter nearly three months old. Mag Wickliffe was here this afternoon from Louisville; she said you were very serious about uniting with the Church "to which Mrs. Pope resolutely objected. Mentions the birthnight ball attended by Mrs. Pope, S[usan] Preston and Margaret Wickliffe. Points out that God provided Rachel with a protector when her mother died, placed her in a situation affording her every temporal comfort and gave her an opportunity of cultivating her mind and body. Asks her not to be despondent. Urges her to obey Mrs. Pope as it is not necessary to belong to one particular sect of Christianity to do good. Mentions: Mrs. Lewis' school, Mary Downing, and Sally Cooper. Urges Rachel to read Mrs. Parker's Domestic Duties and Mrs. Sigourney's letters to young ladies.

ALS, 4 pp.

Asks Mrs. Pope to deliver the enclosed pamphlet to Mrs. Thompson's friend Capt. Jason Rogers, late of the Army; the pamphlet is a sermon preached on her late husband, Capt. Rogers' former commander. Hopes Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will receive some satisfaction from the work. Recently left a lithographic representation of her husband's monument at Mrs. Pope's, also for Capt. Rogers.

ALS, 1 p.

Mrs. Marshall is very pleased to hear from her cousin that Maria Pope has found God and religion. Discusses Mrs. Pope's character. Dr. [Louis] Marshall was in Louisville and "thought of proposing to take Dear Carolines Son William but he could not bring him­self I suppose to name it." Mentions "our precious John," Francis, Agatha and Mrs. Lewis.

ALS, 2 pp.
1840 July 16. E. P. C. Benton, Washington City, D. C. to dear Cousin [Mrs. Maria P. Pope].

Judge Rowan said he saw Mrs. Pope in Louisville; it is only through such reports that the Benton's hear of her and they wish she would write. Rachel looks well. Washington has been very hot. Mr. Hodgson plans to visit the West this summer and plans to see Mrs. Pope when he is in Louisville. Congress adjourns next week and we can leave "this dusty city;" ma goes in the country not far from here, "I will go up into Virginia. Father goes home in September & will see you and return you your jewels with my best thanks and love, for your having trusted me with them. . . . To supply the want of gayety this warm weather, they are giving Musical soirees which are rather stupid as the performances are not very fine and I have escaped them--at last I have persuaded Ma it is not very wrong to see Fanny Ellseler."

ALS, 3 pp.

Has been "at Paroquet a little watering place in the neighbourhood 20 miles from the city" and found Eliza's letter when she returned. Rachel wrote on the 3rd that Eliza had accompanied her father to Virginia, so she will direct this letter to Rockbridge. Asks what Eliza means by teasing her about Mr. Hodgson. Says she is never going to "the metropolis until I can see your father in the presidential chair." The Wickliffes are expecting Mr. William C[ampbell] Preston and family to pay them a visit this summer. Leaves for the upper part of the state tomorrow to visit friends.

[Maria P. Pope] to [Mrs. Agatha Marshall].

Received Mrs. Marshall's letter last Saturday and hoped to leave Monday to visit Buckpond. Had arranged to go up with Mr. Breckinridge "when the baby became so ill from teething that it would have been impossible for him to have stood the journey." Hopes to be at Buckpond by Saturday. Mother is well. Ends with religious sentiments.

ALS, 2 pp.

[The above letter and that of 18 August 1840 are both in draft on one sheet of paper.]

Has not heard from Maria for two weeks. Asks her to write when she expects to return. Discusses travel arrangements for a return trip. Margaret Donnally is rapidly dying of consumption. Mrs. Didrick took her child to the neighbourhood of Shepherdsville and has returned well. Col. Woolley and William went to Ohio to see Charles. "Col. Benton spent an evening with us a few days after you left and said if he had known you were at Doctor Marshall's nothing would have prevented his calling to see you. He looks unusually well."

Hopes Maria will return and will make up with her sister Josephine and her family, who feel very kindly towards her. Knows that the fault is all with Maria. Henrietta and William [Johnston] send their love, asks to be remembered to Agatha and Mrs. Marshall. Mentions: Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. Graves, Susan Preston, Rachel Walker, Dr. McDowell and Mrs. Powell.

ALS, 4 pp.

Describes her health. Understands Gwynn Page has married a Miss Barbour of Bullitt County. Has "just heard of my dear Maria Popes bereavement and feel inexpressibly anxious to see her." Goes on about Mrs. Pope's son and how dear he was to her. "There is now in Louisville a Lady from Philadelphia with whom I became slightly acquainted when I was there. Her name is InGraham, she is a fine sensible woman, in reduced circumstances. She is living in Louisville with her seven children, that she may be nearer to her husband, who is in some Lucrative business at the Grand Gulph, and who is not willing to risk the health of his family there. She lives out on Centre street near Broadway, a new street between 5th and 6th and comes out in front of the City Hall, which is now building. . . . I thought if you were riding out at any time I would like you and Mrs. Lewis to call and see her." Mentions: Agatha, William, Ann and Alexander Marshall, Dr. Smith, Hebe Smith, Sarah McDowell, Mrs. Lewis, Cousin Francis, Fanny, Robert Breckinridge, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Berryman and Mrs. Biddle.

ALS, 4 pp.

Thanks Mrs. Pope for the gifts sent by Capt. Rogers. "You have heard no doubt before this reaches you of Gen. Harrisons death, I have just returned from witnessing the funeral procession, it was a splendid, yet solemn spectacle, the streets hung with mourning, the muffled drum, and solemn funeral dirge seemed to fill every one with sadness. The dead received the highest military honors, which are to a distinguished Citizen and statesman. . . . The procession moved at twelve o'clock, minute guns were fired by detachments of artillery stationed at the city hall, at the same hour the bells of several churches in Alexandria, Georgetown and Washington were tolling. The military from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore headed the procession, then came the funeral car covered with rich black velvet, the coffin was placed on the car and by it lay his two swords, a green wreath, together with a few flowers strewed about them. It was drawn by six white horses dressed in black Crepe, on each side went the pall-bearers, next came the family of the late President then came the ex-presidents, senators and officers of the senate, foreign ministers, and others, that I cannot recollect of at present. I will endeavour to get a paper from Washington which contains a full description and if successful I will send it to you immediately." Understands Mrs. Pope will visit Virginia this summer and hopes it will be soon since she wants to see her very much. Had a letter earlier from Miss Susan Preston.

ALS, 3 pp.

Urges Mrs. Pope to write. William Woolley came by from Mrs. Taylors, but will not stay long. Lists various relatives and wishes they might visit more often than they do. Mentions John Breckinridge's serious illness and that Robert Breckinridge is bringing John's little girls to Mrs. Breckinridge's. Hopes Maria is not bitter over her bereavement. Mentions: Gen. Johnson, Dr. Marshall, Sarah McDowell and Mrs. Preston.

ALS, 2 pp.

Dined at Col. Benton's on Monday. Rachel had asked for news of Mrs. Pope two days before. Rode to George Town with Benton this morning to see Rachel and Benton's niece and delivered Mrs. Pope's package to Rachel and told her she would receive another by Mrs. Crittendon. Relates his conversation with Rachel Walker. Jesse and Sarah Benton went to Rockbridge for the wedding of James McDowell's eldest daughter to Francis Thomas, former Maryland congressman and older than her father. "Congress meets on Monday many of the members are here. It is understood abroad and to the furthermost parts of the land that there is to be a general removal after Congress meets, office seekers are congregating here in great numbers. . . ." Mentions: Miss Williams, Miss English Boarding School,
Mr. Fox, Mr. Ewing, President John Tyler, Daniel
Webster, Mr. Granger, Mr. and Mrs. John Tyler, Jr., Gen. and Mrs. Jesup, Mrs. Gaines, and Judge McKinley.

1841 June 23. A. R. Woolley, Washington to Mrs. Maria Preston Pope, Louisville, Kentucky.

Went to Georgetown to see Miss Walker, who is well, and assured her Mrs. Pope would visit Washington in August. Breakfasted with Mrs. Benton this morning.
Sally Campbell McDowell married Francis Thomas of Maryland, candidate for Governor and ex member of Congress. "Col. Benton is immersed head over feet in politics, he says that in two years, he will carry such a Resolution as Sir Robert Peel's, Congress Voting, that the administration of Tyler does not possess the confidence of the nation. Senator Buchanan said that, Benton always told him he had not enough of the D--1 in him. Buck said he was getting the D---1 in him he found quite fast. . . ." Relates news of various Pitcher, Judge Huntingdon, Mrs. Fitzhugh, Mrs. Florida White, --- Churchill, William Preston Woolley and Samuel Woolley.

ALS, 3 pp.

Is very disappointed not to receive a letter from Mrs. Pope. Rachel wrote that she was obliged to leave in August and wished to know whether she should spend her vacation with Mrs. Benton or Miss English. Miss English planned to go to Piney Point, but now plans to leave for Philadelphia day after tomorrow and will spend much of her time in travel. Mrs. Benton left for Piney Point yesterday morning. Rachel does not feel that Mrs. Pope would like her school if she were acquainted with it, but is now more contented with it. Hopes Mrs. Pope will write, since Rachel is lonely now that all the students have gone home for the vacation. Mrs. Benton sends best wishes and would like to hear from Mrs. Pope. The Bentons have been very kind since Mrs. Pope left "especially Jessie. I think she is one of the sweetest creatures I have ever met with."

ALS, 3 pp.

Asks his grandmother for fifteen dollars if not the $25 he wishes. Feels Mrs. Preston would have sent the money had she not been influenced by the stories spread about him. Plans to tell all the truth to Mrs. Preston when he is in Louisville. Refuses to borrow the $15 and feels he can only rely on Mrs. Preston for it.

ALS, 2 pp.

Apologizes for not writing sooner. Attended a large ball given by the Russian minister last night and saw Miss Mary Wickliffe and Mrs. Huntington there. "I suppose you have heard of Jesse's [Benton] marriage she did at last marry Mr. Fremont. although it was against her father's express command. She ran off with Mr. F. the day after Col. Benton left for Kentucky and got married, they then returned, each to their own houses and did not intend it to be made public for a year after, but they forgot that after the license had been drawn, it was obliged to be recorded. it was found out the very next day, and although every body knew it, they all positively denied it until Col. Benton arrived (I mean her own family) and then he sent word to Mr. Fremont to come and clain his bride. They started them to Baltimore where they remained a few days then returned and took rooms at Gadsbys Hotel where they are still living. I am told that Col. Benton is very angry with them both and that she does not visit her Fathers; but I think it must be a mistake for Col. Benton is more devoted to Jessie than any one of his other children." Charles Woolley has joined the navy. Mentions her brothers and her hope that Andrew will be placed in college until he is 21. Mentions: Col. Woolley, Mr. Boardman, Mr. Pittcher, Miss Susan Preston and Mr. Christy.

ALS, 3 pp.

Waits impatiently to hear when Mrs. Pope wants her to return to Kentucky. "It is now little more than two years since you left me here and I am now about to leave school." Mrs. Wickliffe and Margaret called two weeks ago and wanted her to come see them during her vacation. She did not accept since she has only been in Washington once this winter. At that time she called on Mrs. Pope's cousin, Miss Mary, who has since been in Georgetown several times but has not visited Rachel. Supposes Mrs. Pope has heard of Miss Croghan's elopement; she married a man older than her own father and has fled to England with him. "It is said that Miss Inglis made the match or rather helped, for the gentleman was her own Co[usin]; her school is broken up for it anyhow, a just reward." Miss McDowell quarreled with her husband old Mr. Thomas and is come down to Col. Benton's and vowed never to live with her husband. "I heard yesterday that they both had applied and succeeded in obtaining a divorce." Has heard that Susan [Preston] and Mr. Christy are courting and that he gave Susan his miniature. Mrs. Benton asks about Mrs. Pope and sends her regards.

Describes his boat trip from the Mouth of the Ohio River. Tells of his activities and how much he is enjoying seeing all his friends again. Asks his son to have Mr. Maury at the Post Office forward all his letters to him. Mentions: Mr. Mitchell, Howard Christy, Miss Fanny Wash, Aunt Pope and Col. Davenport.
ALS, 2 pp.

Adds remarks "to the constitutional aspect of my Railroad Views, contained in my Memorial to Congress, of the 31st December 1839." Argues for the application of steam power "to every Military Operation to which it is applicable by land and by water," and that Congress should allow the President "full and free use of every other invention or discovery . . . in anywise applicable to war, and tending to the good of the service. . . ." Argues that it is the duty of Congress to legislate favourably should it be found necessary "to extend to the Pacific Ocean, one or two of our Rail Roads from the Central States of Tennessee and Kentucky. . . . The present is of all others, the most fit and proper time for us to extend our Railroads, first, from Memphis Tennessee to the principal North Eastern Sea port of the Bay of California; secondly, from Louisville, Kentucky "via" Independence, Mo. to Santa fee, and thence to the Pacific.

"The existing War commenced against us by Mexico gives us a full and perfect right to construct Rail Roads, Canals and fortifications, throughout any part of the Mexican Nation, for the efficient movement, comfort and accommodation of our land and Naval forces; and for our commercial facilities and for all other purposes to which we choose to apply them during the War." Natural law or the law of self preservation is the basis for such actions. Before the United States can expand into Mexico, we must secure our sea ports and other "vital points of approach. . . . I am under the impression that the best possible measures we can now adopt for terminating this war would be, to call into service fifty thousand volunteers, principally Mechanics and Laborers, and construct a Rail Road, from Memphis, Tennessee, to Monteray; and moreover to construct at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Louisville and Memphis, twelve to fourteen War Steamers . . . . We may thus terminate the war at less than one half the expense of time and blood and treasure that there is reason to apprehend it may otherwise cost us." This will also greatly strengthen our borders and the laborers, after the war is won, should be sent to our seaports to strengthen them so that they are impregnable to steam powered fleets.

Asks for Preston's opinion of his proposals of the 15th and for him to examine his memorial to Congress, which can be found in the congressional documents for 1840 or spring of 1841 with one of Poinsett's last official communications while Secretary of War. [Lewis] Cass, "to thwart me & profit by my views . . . made out his report in favor of our relying mainly on a great naval force for the national defence rather than upon Forts. . . . Cass being a party man—and somewhat a favorite with the Van Buren administration (he being appointed U. S. minister to France soon after the date of his Report), Poinsett and his Board of Engineers resolved to spare Cass, as much as possible and direct their fire at me. But much as I have been directly or indirectly abused, it is now obvious that my system of national defence is sure to be sustained by the sound practical men of all Parties." Sent copies of his June 15th letter to several friends. Wishes to avoid party politics, as he feels all military men should.

1856 Nov. 8. William Preston Johnston, 9 Nassau St., New York City to [Susan Preston Christy].

Will be unable to pay his aunt's two drafts for $1000 and $1500. Fears he cannot borrow enough to cover them and "New York was never tighter for Money. 2 & 3 per cent per month are current rates... Congratulate Uncle William for me on B[uchanan] & B[reckinridge] Victory." Comments on the election and the Freesoilers carrying the state.

1856 Nov. 17. William Preston Johnston, 9 Nassau St., New York City to [Susan Preston Christy].

Expect to be in Louisville about Saturday night. Mentions Henny and Rosa Johnston, Mag Woolley, Mrs. Strong and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey.

ALS, 2 pp.

1856 Nov. 19. William Preston Johnston, 9 Nassau St., New York City to [Susan Preston Christy].

Received and accepted her draft of $2000 yesterday and received her letter today. Discusses personal financial business. Leaves for Louisville Monday and will probably be bringing his sister.

ALS, 1 p.

1857 March 10. William Preston Johnston, New York City to [Susan Preston Christy].

Concerns financial arrangements for a loan and instructions in how to arrange for it. Hopes to leave soon. Asks whether Ormsby Hite will pay the $150 he owes.

ALS, 2 pp.

Today Mrs. Christy's bill of exchange from Lexington for $2000 with R. W. Woolley and others falls due and Johnston must allow it due to lack of money. We are packing and my books are to be finished today. Monday we will take up the carpets. Tuesday we will start on the furniture. Asks why he has not heard from his aunt since we left and what of our two houses? Post script of 17 March: Johnston has discovered that Mrs. Christy is in St. Louis and, therefore, could not put $1000 in the Bank in Louisville to cover the protested note.

1857 April 20. William Preston Johnston, 12 Livingston Place, New York to [Susan Preston Christy].

Discusses financial arrangements. The weather has delayed the shipping of their things. We go tomorrow to the Hotel and the next night leave for Philadelphia where he has important business. "I have not been able to sell any furniture, and I return with the paraphernalia of the Sultan of Siam. . . . I am in good spirits, as I have made arrangements here which will ensure me a good practice, with a [ -- ] like Bullitt & Fairtherne of Phil. & go to Philadelphia, where I have a similar arrangement to complete my plans with Davis & Birney of that place." Believes they will take Uncle William's Ormsby Row House after all. Mentions the children, Dr. Caldwell, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Duncan.

Business letter in French.

1857 Oct. 12. Preston [ -- ], Columbus, Hickman County, Kentucky to Dear Mother.

He and his fellow doctors are now beginning to have some leisure. He has been caring for a young lady who suffers with congestive fever, "our most malignant disease." Wishes to visit Louisville, but cannot now do so. Describes a recent riding accident he had. Has not heard from Louisville in two months. "I am anxious to hear how you all stand the hard times. How does Father make his way. I trust comfortably,--But I will know soon." Mentions: Col. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor, Miss Edmonia, Will Fall and Will Church.

[On p. 4 is a note dated 22 Oct. 1856, forwarding the letter from R. W. S. to Cousin Sunie.]

ALS, 3 pp.

Explains why he has not sent a specimen of the Espirita Santo flower; it will not bloom in the United States. We went to sea on January 17, a few days after Mrs. Preston did. Describes the voyage in detail including the effects of a strong gale. Tells of the death of Mr. Crocker, an officer aboard the boat and his burial at sea. After sixteen days the boat arrived at Greytown. The sailors have been there a month. Describes Greytown as presenting "to an observant eye a low sand beach and nothing else, since shanties in the distance give a pleasing background. The principle productions appear to be Jews and Jamaica negroes. The principle occupation of the inhabitants drinking new rum, sleeping in the sand and cursing the United States (we burnt the place up once). As for manners they have none, and the town is not old enough to possess Customs. The principle object of strangers visiting the place, is to get away so soon as possible." Asks to be remembered to Miss Henny Johnston and your several nephews and Miss Mary Johnston. Expects that Mrs. Christy has heard from Mrs. Preston and that they get along without trouble.

ALS, 8 pp.

Expects that Sister and Sid have arrived by now. Hopes she will be able to visit the Virginia springs this summer; "The people are so much more decent there than at Newport." Rosa and the children are well and the crops are doing well. "The Election was conducted as usual in the city. Fraud and force both used by the Plugs. Not so much fighting needed as usual, but a great deal of intimidation. Holt beaten about 750 votes in district. Magoffin has 12 or 15,000 majority. Democrats elected in the County & in the 1st & 2nd ward—a gain of 3 in all here. Only two Know Nothing Congressmen elected. No excitement among the City Democrats. A good many Dutch & Irish & nearly all the Jews with the opposition. Our gain is in the Country.

. . . I was one of the judges of the election at the two mile House. Everything was fairly done there. I see no money floating around & if you see $20,000, you had better get it & bring it home." Poindexter has another daughter and Pres' house is nearly done.

Has postponed writing in the belief that Mrs. Hepburn would be back in Louisville soon. "Since my last letter there has been some change in political affairs. The war has broke out in Kentucky, probably you have seen that in the papers. There was no battle fought yet but they look for one every day now. . . . I think it is necessary that we should arrange our things. . . .
I don't collect we borrow any thing here at any price. I have kept up our credit so far & have kept things together. . . . money matters are a great deal worse here than I can write to you. . . . I was in hopes when your brother Col Preston returned, he would help me fix up things. he was in Lexington & sent me word once or twice that he would come down. But I never saw him . . . he is gone away. . . . There are a good many notes that he agreed to pay for you & still in your name & the people still come to me and want their interest." Believes it would be good if Col. Preston had taken up Mrs. Hepburn's notes and given his instead. "Mr. W[illiam Preston] Johnston and family have gone south also Miss Henny. . . . I got a letter from Mrs. Preston last week requesting me to see Dr Bush if they could give up the house that she wanted to live there this winter. Also Col. John Preston was here a few days ago from the farm he gave up your house on the 15th day of August & rented it to Charles Reicke. . . . Mr. Johnston rented his whole place house, furniture, and everything for $200 a year." Sends regards to Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn and hopes to see her in Louisville.

Retain it in some safe place till the troubles are over.

"I will write to you about my private affairs fully and send the letter for you to Mr. Norton of the firm of James Hewitt & Co., Liverpool, from whom you will get a letter and enclosure, in explanation of my views.

"See that my dear boy is properly educated. Do not let him grow up ignorant & uncultivated. This I mention in case of accident to his mother or myself."

1865 July 28. Caroline H. Preston, Quebec to [Mrs. Susan Preston Hepburn, New York].

Was glad to hear that her aunt is safely in New York. "We have not heard a word from papa since the second of June, when he was at Shreveport, George Magruder left him there, but I have no hope of seeing him in Quebec until the last of August, sometimes I think he must have gone to England, however I will write you as soon as I learn anything definite. Mamma received a dispatch yesterday from Cousin Will Johnston he had reached the Clifton house and was expecting Cousin Rosa." Likes Quebec better than Montreal, although it is more expensive. Margaret made her debut at a ball given by the Rifle Brigade. Gives more family news and believes "we will go home." Sends greetings to Cousin Henny.

"I am here at home once more working away with some prodigal negroes who have left the sty, and trying to fix up this shattered place. The house is comfortable, the outbuildings dilapidated, the grounds unenclosed and neglected. Sam Giles is back with me refusing to quit me. The children are all well & the people very courteous." The Browns are with Preston's girls and parties keep them cheerful. Asks about his sister's St. Louis property and whether he can help. "Susan Clay looks shrunken and old. She is offered ($90,000) ninety thousand dollars for Ashland & has refused it, but I think she will sell it as she is anxious to do so."

"Yesterday the drums & fifes were beaten, the Conservatives having carried the City Election against the Radicals. The drum & fife! They should have been heard in front of our bayonets at Shiloh & Chicamauga. . . . Margaret needs a pair of carriage horses. I heard Mrs. Curran Pope wished to sell hers, which were bought by her from Margaret. My wife says they are gentle & would suit her." Asks his sister to find out if the horses are for sale. Also asks whether Uncle and Stoddard have gone South and whether Will Johnston is in Louisville yet. Has a satisfactory note from Duncan Shannon & Co. about the Halifax money.

1941 April 23. Janie Preston Boulware Lamb, Richmond, Virginia to Mr. J. Adger Stewart, Louisville, Kentucky.

Discusses various articles about the Preston family and copies of Preston manuscripts. Mentions the restoration of the Floyd-Breckinridge burial ground in Jefferson Co., Ky. Describes the present condition of "Smithfield," which she owns jointly with her brother, William Ballard Preston Boulware. Many people visit the house and the graveyard, where Col. William Preston, his wife and his sons Gen. John and Maj. William Preston are buried. Hopes some day to restore "Smithfield" and the graveyard as a shrine. "Solitude," the home of Col. Robert Preston, is now owned by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. "Whitehorn," another Preston house, is now owned by the Heath family.

n.d. Susan [Preston Christy Hepburn], Rue Fronchet, Paris, France to [Susan Preston Rogers (Mrs. John Watson Barr), Louisville, Ky.].

Wrote to Mr. Barr before she left New York but scarcely knows what she wrote "for the riot was all around us outside, and my packing and trunks inside and I wrote a line—packed a trunk and ran to the window to see the fires & fights alternately as I wrote you." Told Mr. Barr she had drawn on him for the $500 he had for her and for $200 more that she wanted him to collect and pay to Rich and that when he had any of her money to send $200 more to Mrs. Kyle to pay her bills. Also said if he could raise $300 or $500 on sales to send it to her in Paris since it will be 2-1/2 months before Mr. Hepburn can get any more from San Francisco. Sends her Paris address. Plans to remain at least three months since they have comfortable, cheap apartments centrally located. "Henry our former courier is our only servant and is invaluable, he cleans the boots, cleans the dining room & parlour, cooks our breakfast superbly, waits on the table & answers the bell, goes to market & goes our messages & on grande occasions when we can afford a grand equipage goes as footman." Describes other domestic arrangements and the cost of the rooms and servants. Feels that Mr. Hepburn will recover sooner in Paris than in California; he is trying the Vichy waters and if they work, he will go to Vichy and leave the rest in Paris with Sidney. The Emperor's physician thinks the Vichy waters are better than any other remedy for the liver. Sid and Henny are both well. Gives further financial instructions for Mr. Barr. They have met some friends and are not lonely. "Paris is much improved & beautified since I last saw it." Henny enjoyed England where they saw the Tower, Greenwich Hospital, the principal streets, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's, etc. "I am going to have my dear mothers portrait copied & made a likeness if possible. I am so much obliged to sister for it & to you for sending it."

Upon arriving in Frankfort found the Louisville incorporation bill was in progress before the house. The committee had excluded from the proposed town limits all our land except the lots of the enlargement. Felt that a slight opposition would defeat the bill from the reluctance of the Legislature to erect corporations & sought the aid of several influential legislators & presented a counter petition to which he added Mrs. Preston's name. Neither of the town members seemed concerned for the bill & Mr. White is opposed

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

WILLIAM PRESTON ANDERSON, was the son of William Anderson and Margaret (Patton) Buchanan, daughter of Col. James Patton of Augusta County, Virginia. Anderson's mother was first married in 1749 to Col. John Buchanan, who died in 1769. Sometime after March 1773, the widow Buchanan married William Anderson and they were living in Botetourt County in 1777. The Anderson's moved to Kentucky around 1796. The two sons of this marriage (both mentioned in the Preston papers) were Patton Anderson and William Preston Anderson. William P. Anderson married in 1814 Margaret Adair (1794- ), a daughter of Governor John Adair of Kentucky. Later Anderson settled in Tennessee and was living near Nashville in 1824.

THOMAS HART BENTON (1782-1858), born at Harts Mill, North Carolina on 14 March 1782, attended Chapel Hill College (now the University of North Carolina) and the law school at the College of William and Mary. Admitted to the bar in Nashville, Tennessee in 1806, he began practice in Franklin, Tennessee and served in the senate of that state (1809-1811) and saw military service in the War of 1812 as lieutenant colonel of the 39th United States Infantry from 1813 to 1815. He moved to St. Louis, where he edited the Missouri Enquirer and was elected to the U. S. Senate, serving from 10 August 1821 until 3 March 1851. He was elected to the United States House of Representatives in March 1853, where he served until March 1855. Benton married Eliza McDowell, daughter of Col. James McDowell and Sarah Preston, and granddaughter of Col. William Preston of Virginia. Senator Benton died in Washington on 10 April 1858.

HUGH BRADY (1768-1851) was born in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania on 27 July 1768. He served in the Army of the United States, beginning as an ensign in March 1792 and was attached to the Fourth Sublegion in September of that year. Brady served in Wayne's army in the northwest after the defeat of General St. Clair. He resigned 20 October 1795, but returned as a captain of the 10th Infantry on 8 January 1799 and was honorably discharged 15 June 1800. Returning to service again as a colonel of the 22nd Infantry in July 1812, he transferred to the 2nd Infantry in May 1815 and became a brevet brigadier general in 1822 and a major general in 1848. Brady died 15 April 1851 in Detroit, Michigan.

JAMES BRECKINRIDGE (1763-1833), son of Robert Breckinridge and Letitia Preston, who was a sister of Col. William Preston, was born near Fincastle, Botetourt County, Virginia, 7 March 1763. He served in Col. Preston's rifle regiment under Gen. Nathaniel Greene in the Revolution. He attended Washington College and graduated from the College of William and Mary in 1785. He became a lawyer and practiced in Fincastle. James Breckinridge served in the Virginia House of Delegates several times between 1789 and 1824. He was interested in the construction of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal and assisted Thomas Jefferson in the founding of the University of Virginia. He was a brigadier general in the War of 1812. From March 1809 until March 1817, James Breckinridge was a Federalist Congressman in the United States House of Representatives. He married on 1 January 1791, Ann Selden, daughter of Col. Cary Selden (1723-ca. 1792) and his wife Elizabeth Jennings (-1807) of near Hampton, Virginia. He died at his home "Grove Hill," in Botetourt County, Virginia, 13 May 1833.

[Biographical Directory of the American Congress (Washington, 1928), p. 732; Orlando Brown, Memoranda of the Preston Family (Frankfort, Ky., 1842), p. 4; Mary Selden Kennedy, Seldens of Virginia and Allied Families (New York, 1911), I, pp. 94-96.]

JOHN BRECKINRIDGE (1760-1806), was born 2 December 1760 near Staunton, Virginia, the son of Robert Breckinridge and his second wife Letitia Preston, a sister of Col. William Preston. Breckinridge received his education at Augusta Academy and the College of William and Mary. He served in the House of Burgesses and as a subaltern in the Virginia militia during the Revolution. After the war, he studied law and began practice in Charlottesville. Breckinridge moved to Kentucky in 1793, settling near Lexington, where he practiced law. He became attorney general of Kentucky in 1795 and continued in this post until November 1797. From 1798 until 1800 he served in the Kentucky House of Representatives and was instrumental in the adoption of the Kentucky Resolutions. He was in the United States Senate from March 1801 until August 7, 1805, when he was appointed Attorney General of the United States by Thomas Jefferson. He held this office until his death at "Cabell's Dale," his Kentucky home, 14 December 1806.

JOSEPH CABELL BRECKINRIDGE (1788-1823) was born in Albemarle County, Virginia, 24 July 1788, the son of John Breckinridge (1760-1806) and his wife Mary Hopkins Cabell. He attended the College of William and Mary and graduated from Princeton in 1810. During the War of 1812, Breckinridge was a major. He later served in the Kentucky House of Representatives and as Speaker of that body, and was Secretary of State for Kentucky at the time of his death in MARY HOPKINS CABELL BRECKINRIDGE (1769-1858), born 22 February 1769 in Buckingham County, Virginia, was the daughter of Col. Joseph Cabell and his wife Mary Hopkins. She married 28 June 1785 at her parents' home, John Breckinridge (1760-1806) and together they lived at "The Glebe" in Albemarle County, Virginia. The Breckinridges moved to Fayette County, Kentucky in 1793, where they lived at "Cabell's Dale." Mary H. Breckinridge died at the home of her son Rev. William Lewis Breckinridge in Louisville, Kentucky, 26 March 1858.

ROBERT BRECKINRIDGE (1754-1833) was the son of Robert Breckinridge and his first wife, Sarah Poage, of Augusta County, Virginia. He served as an officer in the Revolution and was captured at Charleston, South Carolina. He settled in Kentucky in 1785 near Louisville where both he and his brother Alexander were commissioners for the allotment of bounty lands to the soldiers in the expedition under George Rogers Clark against Vincennes and Kaskaskia. Robert Breckinridge was active in public affairs in Kentucky and accumulated a sizable estate. He was connected to the Preston family through his father's second wife, Letitia Preston, sister of Col. William Preston. He died a bachelor on 11 September 1833 in Jefferson County, Kentucky.

JOHN BROWN (1757-1837), son of Rev. John Brown and Margaret Preston, was born in Staunton, Virginia on 12 September 1757. He attended Washington College and Princeton, and graduated from the College of William and Mary. In 1782, Brown was admitted to the bar and began his practice in Frankfort, Kentucky. He served in the Virginia Senate from Kentucky from 1784 until 1788. In 1787 and 1788 he was a member of the Continental Congress from the district of Kentucky. He served in the United States House of Representatives from Virginia beginning in March 1789 until Kentucky became a state in June 1792, when he was elected to the United States Senate from Kentucky, where he served from 18 June 1792 until 3 March 1805. He was chosen President pro tempore of the Senate on 17 October 1803 and 23 January 1804. After his Senate service he reopened his law practice in Frankfort, where he died on 29 August 1837.
SAMUEL BROWN (1769-1830), son of Rev. John Brown and Margaret Preston, was born in Rockbridge County, Virginia on 30 January 1769. He graduated from Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania in 1789 and studied medicine with his brother-in-law Dr. Alexander Humphreys, at Staunton and was later a private pupil of Dr. Benjamin Rush. He spent two years at the University of Edinburgh and a short time at the University of Aberdeen, where he took his M.D. degree. Brown moved to Lexington, Kentucky in 1797 and to New Orleans in 1806. From 1819 to 1825, he served on the faculty of the Transylvania University Medical School, later moving to Alabama. He died near Huntsville on 12 January 1830.

SAMUEL H. BULLEN is first recorded as a co-proprietor of the Western Courier, a Louisville newspaper, which became the Emporium and Commercial Advertiser in 1821. He established the Morning Post, a semi-weekly newspaper, which Bullen sold in 1824. Bullen married Martha Field, daughter of Reubin Field, on 18 October 1825 in Louisville. He was a member of the Unitarian Church in Louisville during James Freeman Clarke's ministry there. In 1832 Bullen was a turner and lived on Market Street. By 1843 he was teller of the Bank of Kentucky, becoming cashier by 1850, when he lived over the bank on Main Street between Second and Third Streets. He had apparently retired from the bank by 1865 and was rooming on west Jefferson Street. In 1870 Bullen is listed as janitor of the City Building and was boarding at the Spurrier House. He must have died around 1871, as his name disappears from the city directory after 1870.

Marshall studied medicine at Edinburgh, Scotland and Paris, France. He lived at "Buckpond," Woodford County, Kentucky, which was given to him by his father in 1800. Here he practiced medicine and created a famous and successful school for young men. Dr. Marshall served as President of Washington College in Lexington, Virginia from 1830 through 1834 and was later associated with Transylvania University in Lexington, Kentucky. He married in 1800 at Frankfort, Kentucky, Agatha Smith (1782-1844), daughter of Francis Smith and Ann Preston, sister of Col. William Preston. Dr. Louis Marshall died at "Buckpond" in 1866.

WILLIAM NELSON (1824-1862) was born near Maysville, Kentucky, 27 September 1824. He was appointed midshipman in 1840 and served in the fleet supporting the landing at Vera Cruz in 1847. Nelson had become a lieutenant in the navy by 1855. Early in 1861 he surveyed Kentucky political feeling for President Lincoln, who named Nelson's brother Thomas, Minister to Chile. Lincoln sent William Nelson to Kentucky in April 1861 to recruit soldiers for the Union, and Nelson made his base at Camp Dick Robinson in Garrard County. On 16 September 1861, he became brigadier general of volunteers and served at Shiloh in 1862. Nelson became a major general in July 1862 and fought against General Bragg during the invasion of Kentucky. Nelson was defeated by General Kirby-Smith at the Battle of Richmond, Kentucky on 30 August 1862. In September 1862, William "Bull" Nelson was shot to death at the Galt House in Louisville after a disagreement by a fellow Union officer, Jefferson C. Davis.

GARNETT PEYTON (-1827), born in Stafford County, Virginia, was the son of John Rowzee Peyton and his wife Ann Hooe of "Stoney Hill," Stafford County. Peyton was captain in the 8th infantry on 10 January 1799 and was honorably discharged on 15 June 1800. He served in the War of 1812. On 2 February 1801, he married Agatha Strother Madison (1782- ), second child of Elizabeth Preston (1762-1837) and her husband, William Strother Madison. Garnett Peyton died at "Madisonville," Montgomery County, Virginia on 22 September 1827.

JOHN HOWE PEYTON (1778-1847) was born in Stafford County, Virginia on 3 April 1778. Peyton graduated from Princeton in 1797 and established himself in legal practice. He served in the Virginia legislature for many years and as prosecuting attorney for the Augusta district in 1808-09. Peyton was a major of militia in the War of 1812, and was deputy U. S. attorney for the western district of Virginia following the war. From 1836 to 1844, he was a member of the Virginia senate. Peyton was appointed a visitor to the United States Military Academy in 1840 and was president of the board of the Western Virginia Lunatic Asylum for ten years. He died in Staunton, Virginia on 3 April 1847. On 10 July 1802, Peyton married Susanna Smith Madison, daughter of Elizabeth Preston (1762-1837) and William Strother Madison, at "Madisonville." She was born at "Smithfield" on 13 October 1780 and died at Staunton on 15 July 1840.

JOHN POPE, JR. (1800–1825) was a son of William Pope and his wife Cynthia A'Sturgess of Jefferson County, Kentucky. He graduated from Harvard University in 1821 and entered the legal profession in Louisville. On 3 June 1824, he married Maria Preston, daughter of Major William Preston, by whom he had one son, who died young. John Pope, Jr., died at his father's home on 31 October 1825.

WORDEN POPE (1772–1838), born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, was the son of Benjamin Pope. Worden Pope became Clerk of the Circuit and County Courts of Jefferson County, Kentucky in 1796, and held these posts until 1834. At that time he became County Clerk of Jefferson County and served until his death 20 April 1838. He was a lawyer and carried on an extensive law practice while holding his clerkships. Worden Pope and his uncle William Pope, who settled in Louisville in 1779, established one of the most prominent and extensive families in Kentucky.
CAROLINE LETITIA PRESTON (1806-1840), third child of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock, was born at "Santillane," Virginia on 21 November 1806. On 17 September 1827, she married at Middletown, Kentucky, Col. Abram R. Woolley of the United States Army. Caroline Preston Woolley died at New Orleans, Louisiana on 8 March 1840.

FRANCIS PRESTON (1765-1847), the second son and third child of Col. William Preston and his wife Susanna Smith, was born at "Greenfield," Botetourt County, Virginia, 2 August 1765. He graduated from the College of William and Mary in 1783, and practiced law in Montgomery and Washington Counties, Virginia. Preston served in the House of Delegates in 1788 and 1789. From March 1793 until March 1797, he was a member of the United States House of Representatives. Settling in Abingdon, he returned to law practice and again entered the Virginia House of Delegates.
from 1812 until 1814. Francis Preston was commissioned Colonel of Volunteers in the Virginia militia in the War of 1812 and eventually became a major general of the Virginia militia. From 1816 until 1820 he was a member of the Virginia Senate. He died on 25 May 1835 in Columbia, South Carolina. On 10 January 1793, Preston married Sarah Buchanan Campbell, daughter of General William Campbell and his wife Elizabeth Henry (a sister of Patrick Henry).
Sarah B. Campbell was born at "Aspenvale," Smyth County, Virginia on 21 April 1778 and inherited the "Saltworks," in Washington County from her father. She died at Abingdon, Virginia on 23 July 1846.

ISAAC TRIMBLE PRESTON (1793-1852) was born in Rockbridge County, Virginia, the natural son of General Francis Preston. Isaac Preston graduated from Yale in 1812 and studied at the Litchfield Law School in Connecticut. From 31 March 1813 until 15 June 1815, he served as captain of the 35th United States Infantry. Preston then continued his legal studies under William Wirt in 1816 and after admission to the bar, settled in New Orleans. From 1824 to 1829 and again from 1843 to 1846 Preston was attorney general of Louisiana. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1844-45 and served in the Louisiana House of Representatives in 1845-46. Preston held several other political positions and was interested in the construction of a railroad from New Orleans to Jackson, Mississippi. In 1849 Isaac Preston was appointed to the Louisiana Supreme Court, retaining the post until his death. Isaac T. Preston was first married in November 1828 at New Orleans to Catherine Layton; he married second Margaret Layton. He died in the explosion of the steamboat St. James on Lake Ponchartrain 6 July 1852.

JAMES PATTON PRESTON (1774-1843), fourth son and eighth child of Col. William Preston, born 21 June 1774 at "Smithfield," Montgomery County, Virginia. Preston attended the College of William and Mary. He was elected to the Virginia State Senate from Montgomery County in 1802. During the War of 1812 Preston was commissioned lieutenant-colonel in the United States Army in March 1812 and was assigned to the 12th U. S. Infantry. In August 1813, he was promoted to colonel and given command of the 23rd U. S. Regiment of Infantry. At the Battle of Chrysler's Field in Canada on 16 November 1813, James P. Preston was crippled. He was honorably discharged in August 1815. In December 1816, Preston became Governor of Virginia and served until December 1819. Preston County, West Virginia was named in his honor. After his term as Governor, he was Postmaster of Richmond and eventually retired to his home, "Smithfield," where he died 4 May 1843.

JOHN PRESTON (1764-1827), eldest son of Col. William Preston, was born at "Greenfield," Botetourt County, Virginia, 2 May 1764. He inherited "Greenfield," from his JOSEPHINE PRESTON (1809-1842), fourth child of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock, was born at "Robinson's Tract," Wythe County, Virginia on 25 December 1809. She married Captain Jason Rogers of the United States Army on 15 October 1831 in Louisville. Josephine Preston Rogers died in Louisville, Kentucky, 6 November 1842.

JULIA CLARK PRESTON (1811- ), fifth daughter of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock, was born at "Robinson's Tract," Wythe County, Virginia on 18 February 1811. She died in childhood.

MARIA PRESTON (1805-1895), second child of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock, was born at "Santil­lane," near Fincastle, Botetourt County, Virginia, the home of her grandfather, Col. George Hancock, on 7 September 1805. She spent her childhood at "Robinson's Tract," her father's estate in Botetourt County, Virginia and from 1815 until her death, she lived regularly in or near Louisville, Kentucky. On 3 June 1824, Maria Preston married John Pope, Jr. (1800-1825) of Louisville, a lawyer, graduate of Harvard College and member of a prominent Kentucky family. Mrs. Pope was active in Louisville social life throughout her long life. Around 1860, she built a large home on Walnut Street between Second and Third Streets. Mrs. Pope died in Louisville on 15 April 1895.
SUSAN MARSHALL PRESTON (1819-1897), daughter of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock, was born in Middletown, Jefferson County, Kentucky on 21 July 1819. She married, first, in Louisville on 24 March 1842, Howard Farrar Christy, only son of Major William Christy of St. Louis, Missouri. Howard Christy was born in St. Louis on 8 September 1814 and died in Louisville on 20 October 1853. Susan Preston Christy married, second, Hyatt Park Hepburn of Northumberland, Pennsylvania on 18 August 1860. H. P. Hepburn was born 23 February 1815 and died 1 May 1864 in Louisville. Susan Preston was educated at Mme. de Segoigne's school in Philadelphia, to which many well-established Kentucky families sent their daughters. She died 5 October 1897.

THOMAS LEWIS PRESTON (1781-1812), fifth son of Col. William Preston, was born at "Smithfield," 19 August 1781. Preston was a student at Rockbridge Academy in 1799 and attended Washington College in 1800. From December 1801 until March 1803, he studied at the College of William and Mary. He practiced law in Montgomery County, Virginia briefly, but following his marriage to Edmonia Madison Randolph, daughter of Edmund Randolph, Governor of Virginia and U. S. Secretary of State, Preston settled in Lexington, Virginia, where he continued his law practice. In 1807 Preston was a captain of an artillery company in the militia. From 1806 to 1811 he was a member of the House of Delegates from Rockbridge County. Preston was agent for the Virginia Legislature to recover funds due Virginia in Kentucky in 1807 and 1808. Thomas Lewis Preston died at Lexington, Virginia on 11 August 1812.

COL. WILLIAM PRESTON (1729-1783), only son of John Preston and his wife, Elizabeth Patton, was born in Newton, Ireland and came to Virginia with his parents in 1735. Col. Preston was at various times a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses, Surveyor and County Lieutenant of Fin- castle or Montgomery County and was colonel of a regiment in the Revolution. He fought at the Battle of Guilford Court House, where he was injured. He accumulated an extensive estate in the western parts of Virginia and was a man of great influence and importance in the state. He married Susanna Smith, daughter of Francis Smith and Elizabeth Waddy of Hanover County, Virginia. He died at the age of 53 years in June 1783 at "Smithfield," Montgomery County, Virginia.

MAJOR WILLIAM PRESTON (1770-1821), third son of Col. William Preston and Susanna Smith, was born 3 September 1770 at "Greenfield," Botetourt County, Virginia. Major William Preston was educated at home by Aaron Palfreman and at Liberty Hall in Lexington, Virginia, which was incorporated into the present Washington and Lee University. Governor Edmund Randolph commissioned Preston an ensign in the Second Virginia Cavalry. He resigned this commission to become a U. S. Census enumerator in 1790 and upon completion of this task, Governor Henry Lee recommissioned him as an ensign in 1791. He was appointed captain in the United States Army early in 1792 and assigned to the Second Sublegion on 4 September 1792, serving under General Anthony Wayne. On 21 November 1792, he transferred to the Fourth Sublegion and on 1 November 1796 removed to the Fourth Infantry. He resigned from the Army on 31 July 1798. Following his resignation, he developed his estate, "Robinson's Tract," near Fincastle, Botetourt County, Virginia. Preston was appointed Brigade Inspector of the 19th Brigade, Third Division of Virginia Troops on 6 April 1803. He was a major in the War of 1812. In 1815, he left "Robinson's Tract," removing to his extensive inherited lands in Jefferson County, Kentucky, where he was a leading citizen. He died 28 January 1821 in Virginia and is buried at "Smithfield," Montgomery County, Virginia. William Preston married on 24 March 1802, Caroline Hancock, daughter of Col. George Hancock (1754-1820), at "Fotheringay," Botetourt County, Virginia. She was born 25 March 1785 and died 19 December 1847 in Louisville.

WILLIAM PRESTON, III (1816-1887), fifth child of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock, was born 16 October 1816 near Louisville, Kentucky. Preston graduated from St. Joseph's College in Nelson County, Kentucky and from Yale College. He received his law degree from Harvard University in 1838 and began practice in Louisville in 1839. During the Mexican War he was a lieutenant colonel of the Fourth Kentucky Volunteers from 1846 through 1848. In 1849 he was a delegate to the Kentucky Constitutional Convention and was elected to the Kentucky House of Representatives in 1850. From 1851 to 1853 he served in the Kentucky Senate. Preston was elected as a Whig to the United States House of Representatives to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Humphrey Marshall, serving from 1852 until March 1855. He was defeated for reelection by Marshall. President Buchanan named Preston as minister to Spain in 1858. In 1861 he resigned this post and entered the army of the Confederate States of America, reaching the rank of major-general. Preston served at Corinth, Vicksburg, Murfreesboro and Chickamauga. In 1864 he served as Confederate minister to Mexico. After a period of exile in Canada, Preston returned to Kentucky and in 1868 and 1869 was a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives. General William Preston died in Lexington on 21 September 1887. On 7 December 1840, he married Margaret Wickliffe, daughter of Robert Wickliffe of Lexington.

WILLIAM CAMPBELL PRESTON (1794-1860), son of Gen. Francis Preston and his wife Sarah Buchanan Campbell, was born in Philadelphia on 27 December 1794. He studied privately, attended Washington College and graduated from South Carolina College in 1812. He spent several years traveling in Europe, where he formed a friendship with Washington Irving, and studied law at the University of Edinburgh, where he roomed with Hugh S. Legare. Upon his return to the United States in 1819, Preston practiced law in Virginia, but moved to South Carolina in 1822. He was a member of the South Carolina House of Representatives from 1828 through 1834. He was elected to the U. S. Senate as a supporter of John C. Calhoun, serving from November 1833 until he resigned in December 1842. He then resumed law practice in Columbia, South Carolina. In 1845 he was named President of South Carolina College, but resigned in 1851 because of ill health. He was a trustee of the College from 1851 until 1857, and founded the Columbia Atheneum.
He died in Columbia on 22 May 1860.

EDMUND RANDOLPH (1753-1813), was born 10 August 1753 at "Tazewell Hall," Williamsburg, Virginia. Randolph attended the College of William and Mary and studied law with his father, John Randolph the loyalist. He was appointed as an aide-de-camp to Washington in 1775, and served in the convention which adopted the first constitution for Virginia. Randolph was elected to the Continental Congress in 1779, while still serving as attorney general of Virginia. In 1786 he was elected Governor of Virginia and the next year was a delegate to the Federal Convention, but refused to sign the completed Constitution. Washington appointed Randolph Attorney General of the United States in 1789, and from January 1794 until August 1795, he served as U. S. Secretary of State. During his term of service, both the Jay Treaty and the Treaty of San Lorenzo were negotiated. Randolph reopened law practice in Richmond after his retirement from government service and was senior counsel for Aaron Burr in his treason trial. Edmund Randolph died in Clarke County, Virginia on 12 September 1813. His daughter Edmonia Madison Randolph married Thomas Lewis Preston, a younger son of Col. William Preston.

BENNETT RILEY (1787-1853) was born in Alexandria, Virginia on 27 November 1787. He was appointed an ensign of rifles from Maryland on 19 January 1813 and became a lieutenant on 12 March 1813. Riley was promoted to captain in August 1818 and was transferred to the 5th Infantry in June 1821 and to the 6th Infantry in October of that year. By 1837 Riley was a major in the 4th Infantry and became a lieutenant-colonel of the 2nd Infantry in December 1839, rising to colonel of the 1st Infantry in January 1850. Riley served in the Indian Wars and in the Mexican War, and was brevetted brigadier-general for gallantry at Cerro Gordo and major-general for his service at Contreras. Following the Mexican War, Riley was given command of the Pacific department and stationed at Monterey. Later he was appointed military governor of California. He died on 9 June 1853 in Buffalo, New York. It is assumed that this is the B. Riley who wrote to Maria Preston Pope, since his letters seem to indicate military service and because of her family's close association with the military at the time Riley was a correspondent.

ALEXANDER SMYTH (1765-1830), born on the Island of Rathlin, Ireland, he came to America and settled in Botetourt County, Virginia in 1775. Here he studied law and was admitted to the bar, beginning his practice in Abingdon, Virginia, and later moving to Wythe County, Virginia. He served in the Virginia House of Delegates several times between 1792 and 1808 and was in the State Senate in 1808 and 1809. He was a colonel of a regiment of riflemen from 8 July 1808 to 6 July 1812 and became an Inspector General with the rank of brigadier general from 6 July 1812 to 3 March 1813, when he resumed his law practice. Between 1816 and 1827, he again served on several occasions in the House of Delegates. From March 1817 to March 1825, he was a member of the House of Representatives of the United States and was elected to that position again, serving from March 1827 until his death in Washington on 17 April 1830.
GEORGE STROTHA (1767-1816) was born 26 January 1767, the son of George Strother and his wife Mary Kennerly of Virginia. He served as an ensign in the Third Sublegion from 12 May 1794 and in the Third Infantry from November 1796, becoming a lieutenant 14 January 1799 and resigned 24 October 1799. Strother moved to Tennessee and died in Nashville on 19 February 1816, unmarried. Strother was the maternal uncle of Caroline Hancock Preston.

WILLIAM BERRY TAYLOR (1768-1826), son of Jonathan Taylor (1742-1803) and Ann Berry (1749-1809), was born in Orange County, Virginia, 26 February 1768. He bought 1,000 acres of land in Kentucky from his uncle Francis Taylor and settled on Floyd's Fork of the Salt River in 1796. He acquired large land holdings in the Kentucky counties of Shelby, Henry, and Oldham. He was a surveyor in Kentucky and land agent for several Virginia families.
William Taylor died 2 February 1826.

ABRAM TRIGG (1750-post 1809), born near Bedford, Virginia in 1750. Trigg practiced law in Montgomery County, Virginia and held local offices such as clerk and judge in that county. During the Revolution he was lieutenant-colonel of militia in 1782 and later was general of militia in Virginia. Trigg was a delegate to the Virginia Convention of 1788 that ratified the United States Constitution. From March 1797 to March 1809 he served in the United States House of Representatives.

ARTHUR HOOE WALLACE (1794-1878) was born 17 September 1794, the son of Thomas Wallace of Culpeper County, Virginia. Arthur H. Wallace, then of New Orleans, married at "Spring Hill," Woodford County, Kentucky, on 1 October 1832, Letitia Preston Hart (1802- ), daughter of Nathaniel Hart and Susanna Preston. They subsequently lived at "Ridgeway," Crittenden County, Kentucky.

ANTHONY WAYNE (1745-1796) was born in Waynesboro, Pennsylvania on 1 January 1745. He served in the Pennsylvania assembly in 1774-1775 and became active in the American cause at an early stage and was appointed colonel of a Pennsylvania regiment in January 1776. In February 1777 Wayne was promoted to brigadier-general and given command of the Pennsylvania line in April. Wayne served conspicuously at the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, Monmouth, Stony Point and Yorktown. Following the British surrender, Wayne was sent to Georgia to help settle the Indian disturbances there. In 1783, he retired with the rank of brevet major-general, and between 1783 and 1792, he devoted himself to managing his lands in Georgia and other civil activities, including service in the Pennsylvania General Assembly. Elected to Congress from Georgia in 1791, Wayne served until March 1792, when his seat was declared vacant due to problems of residence qualifications. In 1791 Washington named Wayne as major-general in charge of the American army and sent him to secure the northwest from the Indians. General Wayne defeated the Indians severely at the Battle of Fallen Timbers in August 1794. He died at Presque Isle, now Erie, Pennsylvania on 15 December 1796.

ROBERT WICKLIFFE (1775-1859), born 16 January 1775 in Washington, Pennsylvania while his parents were moving from Virginia to Kentucky, was the son of Charles Wickliffe and his wife, Lydia Hardin, who settled in Hardin County, Kentucky. Robert Wickliffe read law with George Nicholas, a leading lawyer and political figure in early Kentucky. In 1819, 1823, and 1825, Wickliffe was elected to the Kentucky House of Representatives from Fayette County and served in the state Senate from 1825 until 1833. He engaged in a very successful law practice. Wickliffe lived in Lexington, Kentucky and was one of the leading figures in the state, where he has been popularly styled the "Old Duke." Wickliffe died on 1 September 1859. He married first Margaret Howard of Lexington, a daughter of John Howard and Ann Preston (sister of Col. William Preston). Margaret Howard Wickliffe, daughter of Robert Wickliffe and his first wife, married General William Preston (1816-1887), her second cousin.

JAMES WILKINSON (1757-1825) was born in Calvert County, Maryland. Wilkinson served as an officer in the Revolution and was involved in the Conway Cabal. He retired to a farm in Bucks County, Pennsylvania following the Revolution and served in that state's Assembly. He removed to Kentucky in 1784 and became an influential leader there and was actively involved in the Spanish Conspiracy. He re-entered military service and led a force against the Indians in March 1791. He became a brigadier-general under Anthony Wayne in March 1792. He continued his intrigues centering his attentions on discrediting General Wayne, whom he succeeded at the latter's death and removed to Detroit in 1797. He transferred to the Southern frontier in 1798 and in 1803 he went to New York where he involved himself in the Burr Conspiracy. In 1805 Wilkinson became governor of Louisiana Territory. In 1806 he was ordered from St. Louis to the Southern frontier again. He continued his involvements in intrigue, losing the confidence and respect of his superiors. Wilkinson died in Mexico City in 1825.

ABRAM R. WOOLLEY was born in New Jersey. Woolley served as a captain in the United States Army in the War of 1812, becoming a major of ordnance on 9 February 1815. He transferred to the 7th Infantry on 1 June 1821 and to the 6th Infantry on 11 March 1823. Woolley was named lieutenant-colonel in December 1825. He was dismissed from service 1 May 1829. Woolley married Caroline Preston, daughter of Major William Preston and Caroline Hancock.

[Francis B. Heitman, Historical Register of the U. S. Army (Washington, 1903), I, p. 1060.]
WILLIAM PRESTON WOOLLEY (1830-1850), son of Caroline Preston and her husband, Col. Abram R. Woolley, was born 2 May 1830. While in his teens Woolley was editor of a Louisville daily newspaper and was active in the cultural life of the city, particularly in the fields of literature and music. He died in Buffalo, New York on 7 September 1850, while on his way to Europe.
